Being Human Roger Smith, 2007-09-11 Challenging commonly held biological religious and ethical beliefs internationally well known historian of science Roger Smith boldly argues that human nature is not some thing awaiting discovery but is active in understanding itself According to Smith being human is a self creation made possible through a reflective circle of thought and action with a past and a future and studying this history from a range of perspectives is fundamental to human self understanding Smith s argument brings together historical and contemporary debates concerning materialism and human nature and the relations of the different fields of knowledge He draws on classic writings from across the human sciences touching on sociology anthropology brain sciences history philosophical hermeneutics and critical theory and demonstrates that there is no position outside history for an absolutely objective or eternally valid view of human nature The question what is human does not have and could not possible have one answer Instead there exists a variety of answers for different purposes and there are good reasons for the many conceptions of what it is to be human Smith does not treat human nature as only biological economic or moral but as a multidimensional subject that should be considered in its proper historical context By understanding this context Smith believes we can come to a truer understanding of ourselves Persuasively and elegantly written Being Human takes an important new turn in the philosophical study of being human

An Introduction to African Legal Philosophy John Murungi, 2013-04-11 A book on legal philosophy necessarily focuses attention on law In addition to this focus An Introduction to an African Legal Philosophy focuses attention on philosophy The link between law and philosophy is brought into relief which is done through an African context An attempt is made to spell out what is African about legal philosophy without being cut off of African legal philosophy from non African legal philosophy The book draws attention to the view that a basic component of African legal philosophy consists of an investigation of what it is to be an African and because an African is a human being among other human beings the investigation is about what it is to be a human being Ubuntuism is an African derived word that captures this mode of being human Moreover because human beings are cultural beings African cultural context guides the investigation Inescapably it is claimed that every legal philosophy is embedded in a culture African legal philosophy is not an exception It is deeply rooted in African culture a culture that is today shaped in part by a European colonialist culture One feature that will strike one as one reads the book is that the book approaches African legal philosophy as a means of decolonization of African culture African legal philosophy can accomplish this intelligently and effectively if it is itself decolonized In doing this it contrasts sharply with mainstream Western legal philosophy

Peramatzis, 2011-08-11 The idea that some parts of reality are fundamental and others derivative was an important one in Aristotle's philosophical system and is now again of great current interest in philosophy Michail Peramatzis presents a new account of priority relations in Aristotle's metaphysics and draws out their continuing philosophical significance

Centering Humanism in STEM Education Bryan Dewsbury, Susannah McGowan, Sheila S. Jaswal, Desiree Forsythe, 2024-09-24 Research demonstrates that STEM disciplines perpetuate a history of exclusion particularly for students with marginalized identities This poses problems particularly when science permeates every aspect of contemporary American life Institutions repeated failures to disrupt systemic oppression in STEM has led to a mostly white cisgender and male scientific workforce replete with implicit and or explicit biases Education holds one pathway to disrupt systemic linkages of STEM oppression from society to the classroom Maintaining views on science as inherently objective isolates it from the world in which it is performed STEM education must move beyond the transactional approaches to transformative environments manifesting respect for students social and educational capital We must create a STEM environment in which students with marginalized identities feel respected listened to and valued We must assist students in understanding how their positionality privilege and power both historically and currently impacts their meaning making and understanding of STEM

Confessions of a Heretic Eric Leland Saak, 2025-06-15 This book is the second of a planned three volume systematic theology under the title Confessions of a Heretic Volume One which has the subtitle Philosophical Considerations was published by Archway in 2024 The project now turns to Theological Considerations with the forthcoming Volume Three being Ecclesiological Consideration Organized into three Parts Volume Two focuses on the theological endeavor and the doctrines distinctive to Christianity namely the Trinity Jesus Christ sin and salvation Based on the foundational distinctions and definitions explicated in Volume One the current volume seeks to ask what the philosophical considerations imply for basic traditional understandings and terminology of Christian theology including that of Jesus of Nazareth his crucifixion and resurrection The project as a whole adopts a trinitarian structure with this second volume focused on God the Son or as here termed God the Perfector The argument is that Christian Theology needs to shift from an anthropocentric to a theocentric approach recognizing human beings simply as creatures and having the courage to face what that entails Yet doing so necessitates a radical reconceptualization of the very foundations of Christian Theology itself in the attempt to combat idolatry
