Framing the Polish Home Bożena Shallcross,2002-12-31 As the subject of ideological aesthetic and existential manipulations the Polish home and its representation is an ever changing phenomenon that absorbs new tendencies and at the same time retains its centrality to Polish literature whether written in Poland or abroad Framing the Polish Home is a pioneering work that explores the idea of home as fundamental to the question of cultural and national identity within Poland s recent history and its tradition In this inaugural volume of the Polish and Polish American Studies Series the Polish home emerges in its rich verbal and visual representations and multiple material embodiments as the discussion moves from the loss of the home during wartime to the Sovietized politics of housing and from the exilic strategies of having a home to the the idyllic evocation of the abodes of the past Although as Bo ena Shallcross notes in her introduction few concepts seem to have such universal appeal as the notion of the home this area of study is still seriously underdeveloped In essays from sixteen scholars Framing the Polish Home takes a significant step to correct that oversight covering a broad range of issues pertinent to the discourse on the home and demonstrating the complexity of the home in Polish literature and culture

Worshippers Henry Berman,1906 When the World Turned Upside-Down Kathleen Starck,2009-10-02 This collection of essays explores post 1989 Western perceptions of Eastern Europe and how these manifest themselves in cultural representations It starts out from findings in the academic field of post socialism claiming that Easterners and Westerners are still very much under the influence of the socialisation they underwent during the Cold War and its aftermath As a consequence the revolutions of 1989 and 1990 and the subsequent opportunities for exchange did not necessarily bring about a reconciliation of the different worldviews It seems the East West divide has not simply vanished with the collapse of socialism The essays included in this book examine in how far the divide is mirrored in the cultural arena They focus on portrayals of post 1989 Eastern European political and social transformations in Western poetry fiction travel writing autobiography theatre and documentaries and investigate the West s fascination with the Wild East and how outsiders view or have experienced Eastern life after the iron curtain was lifted Catalogue Tufts University,1913

Russian Life ,1997 The God Project John Saul,1983 Something is happening to the children of Eastbury Massachusetts Something that causes healthy babies to turn cold in their cribs Something that strikes at the heart of every parent s darkest fears Something is taking the children one by one Now an entire town waits on the edge of panic for the next nightmare there must be a reason for the terror they all know it But no one ever suspected House documents ,1895 The Chains of Heaven Philip Marsden,2005 Philip Marsden returns to the remote fiercely beautiful land whose powerful mythic appeal has fascinated him all his life to explore its legacy of independence civil war and brutal repression Twenty years after he first fell in love with Ethiopia Philip Marsden returns to its stunning landscapes and violent contradictions to trace the stories of the individuals he first met there as a young man Through interviews with figures closely tied to Mengitsu s Stalinist regime as well as the everyday people bound up in the country s civil war its famines and its long tradition of proud independence the author pieces together a portrait of a nation marked by both terror and beauty torn between innocence and experience Part travelogue part autobiography The Chains of Heaven will rediscover an Ethiopia that has changed dramatically over the past two decades The Barefoot Emperor Philip Marsden,2007 A fascinating narrative excursion into a bizarre episode in 19th century Ethiopian and British imperial history featuring a remote African despot and his monstrous European built gun Towards the end of 1867 Emperor Tewodros II of Ethiopia burnt his own capital took his vast mortar a named Sevastopol and began a retreat to the mountain stronghold of Mekdala For months thousands of his followers struggled to build a road for the great gun levelling the soil of the high plains hacking out a way down into mile deep gorges At the same time a hostile British force under General Napier was advancing from the coast It was the climax to the reign of one of the most colourful and extraordinary rulers in African history Discovering traces of the road in the highlands and drawing on years of involvement with Ethiopia Philip Marsden recounts the story of Tewodros From his spectacular rise from camel raider to King of Kings Twewodros was a man who combined a sense of Biblical destiny with personal charisma and military genius He restored the fortunes of the ancient Christian kingdom introduced reforms to his army and to the church and dreamed of an alliance with the great powers of Europe But as his reforms stalled and the British Foreign Office lost his letter to Queen Victoria Tewodros s behaviour became more and more violent and erratic When he imprisoned the British consul years of negotiation culminated in one of the most bizarre and expensive campaigns of the Victorian age The Barefoot Emperor is history at its most thrilling and dramatic Using narrative skills proven in such acclaimed books as The Bronski House and The Chains of Heaven Philip Marsden recreates scenes and characters of
