Contemporary Screens:

Contemporary Screens Virginia Fabbri Butera, 1986 Mobile Screens Nanna Verhoeff, 2012 Nanna Verhoeff's new book is a must for anybody interested in visual culture and media theory. It offers a rich and stimulating theoretical account of the central dimension of our contemporary existence: interfacing and navigating both data and physical world through a variety of screens: game consoles, mobile phones, car interfaces, GPS devices, etc. In the process of exploring these new screen practices, Verhoeff offers fresh perspectives on many of the key questions in media and new media studies, as well as a number of new, original theoretical concepts. As the first theoretical manual for the society of mobile screens, this book will become an essential reference for all future investigations of our mobile screen condition. Lev Manovich. Publisher's description

The Screen Media Reader Stephen Monteiro, 2017-01-12 Offers key historical and interpretative texts on the development and role of the screen in communications and the social sphere

Screen Genealogies Craig Buckley, Rüdiger Campe, Francesco Casetti, 2025-10-01 Against the grain of the growing literature on screens, Screen Genealogies argues that the present excess of screens cannot be understood as an expansion and multiplication of the movie screen nor of the video display. Rather, screens continually exceed the optical histories in which they are most commonly inscribed. As contemporary screens become increasingly decomposed into a distributed field of technologically interconnected surfaces and interfaces, we more readily recognize the deeper spatial and environmental interventions that have long been a property of screens. For most of its history, a screen was a filter, a divider, a shelter, or a camouflage. A genealogy stressing transformation and descent rather than origins and roots emphasizes a deeper set of intersecting and competing definitions of the screen, enabling new thinking about what the screen might yet become
