Contested Landscapes Movement Exile And Place:

Contested Landscapes Barbara Bender, Margot Winer, 2020-05-27 Landscapes are not just backdrops to human action people make them and are made by them How people understand and engage with their material world depends upon particularities of time and place These understandings are dynamic variable contradictory and open ended Landscapes are thus always evolving and are often volatile and contested They are also always on the move people may or may not be rooted but they have legs From prehistoric times onwards people have travelled but the process of people on the move as tourists or on global business as migrant workers or political or economic refugees has vastly accelerated How and why do people who share the same landscape have different and often violently opposed ways of understanding its significance How do people on the move make sense of the unfamiliar How do they create a sense of place How do they rework the memories of places left behind There is nothing easeful about the landscapes discussed in this book which are often harsh edged and troubled both socially and politically The contributors tackle contested notions of landscape to explain the key role it plays in creating identity and shaping human behaviour This landmark study offers an important contribution towards an understanding of the complexity of landscape

Landscape, Memory and History Pamela J. Stewart, Andrew Strathern, 2003-05-20 How do people perceive the land around them and how is that perception changed by history This book explores this question from an anthropological angle assessing the connections between place space identity nationalism history and memory in a variety of different settings around the world Taking historical change and memory as key themes it is a broad study that will appeal to a readership across the social sciences Contributors from North America Australia New Zealand Taiwan and Europe explore a wide variety of case studies that includes seascapes in Jamaica the Solomon Islands the forests of Madagascar Aboriginal and European notions of landscape in Australia place and identity in 19th century maps and the bogs of Ireland contemporary concerns over changing landscapes in Papua New Guinea and representations of landscape and history in the poetry of the Scottish Borders

The Material Culture Reader Victor Buchli, 2020-05-31 Material culture has finally earned a central place within anthropology Emerging from the pioneering work done at University College London this reader brings together for the first time seminal articles that have helped shape the anthropological study of material culture With topics ranging from the anthropology of art to architecture landscape studies archaeology consumption studies and heritage management this key text reflects the breadth of material culture studies today The authors who discuss field sites as distant as Vanuatu New Ireland Trinidad and Soviet Russia show how material culture provides a new lens for viewing the world around us and effectively bridges the gap between theory and data Providing the first ever synthesis of these ground breaking essays in an easily accessible volume this book will serve as a comprehensive introduction to the subject and a valuable reference guide for anyone interested in material culture anthropology art and museum studies

Cultural Practices of Place Sarah Earnshaw, 2025-11-08 The notion of sense of place developed across disciplines to study the range of experiential relational and emotive attachments between people and spatial constellations This collection proposes a sense of placing to render visible complex cultural practices of meaning making in around and through place while also encouraging reflection on the epistemes of position Whether as physical location social orientation or facet of differentiation relations of place are a central consideration of Cultural Studies yet this has not been afforded sustained engagement as a means to analyse dynamics of cultural power Unpicking the practices that determine while being determined by the heres theres and somewheres in between the contributions showcase engagement with diverse media through which senses are placed and places are sensed Gathering perspectives from sociology law philosophy human geography literature and cultural studies the volume is an interdisciplinary endeavour to practice a dialogic placing across often siloed academic work Handbook of Landscape Archaeology Bruno David, Julian Thomas, 2016-06-03 Over 80 archaeologists from four continents create a benchmark volume of the ideas and practices of landscape archaeology covering the theoretical and the practical the research and conservation and encasing the term in a global framework Handbook of Material Culture Chris Tilley, Webb Keane, Susanne Kuechler, Mike Rowlands, Patricia Spyer, 2006-01-05 The study of material culture is concerned with the relationship between persons and things in the past and in the present in urban and industrialized and in small scale societies across the globe The Handbook of Material Culture provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things It is cutting edge rather than simply reviewing the field as it currently exists It also attempts to chart the future the manner in which material culture studies may be extended and developed The Handbook of Material Culture is divided into five sections Section I maps material culture studies as a theoretical and conceptual field Section II examines the relationship between material forms the human body and the senses Section III focuses on subject object relations Section IV considers things in terms of processes and transformations in terms of production exchange and consumption performance and the significance of things over the long term Section V considers the contemporary politics and poetics of displaying representing and conserving material and the manner in which this impacts on notions of heritage tradition and identity The Handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes an unique and fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human It will be of interest to all who work in the social and historical sciences from anthropologists and archaeologists to human geographers to scholars working in heritage design and cultural studies Mining the Landscape Geraldine Mate, 2022-09-12 Mining was one of the primary elements of colonial enterprise in Australia and a factor in movement on colonial frontiers In the second half of the 19th and early 20th century mining particularly of gold saw transformations of the land itself as well as in the way that people working in mining engaged with the landscape around them Landscape archaeology provides a theoretical perspective that allows an articulation of how people created and understood the place in which they lived and worked The impact of and narrative surrounding gold mining has meant that it has long been a focus of study both historical and archaeological The archaeology of mining has traditionally fallen under the umbrella of industrial archaeology with analyses based on historical economic and technological evidence However this is changing From an industrial focus examining the remnants of mines and associated processing equipment archaeology has progressed towards understandings of the social aspects of mining recognising that people not just equipment occupied these landscapes Nevertheless there remains a separation between industrial technology based studies and purely social household based archaeological studies a division that overlooks the integration of home and livelihood This work addresses these very challenges using a landscape based approach that articulates a nuanced meaning laden and experienced mining landscape Integrating the social and the industrial the case study of Mount Shamrock a gold mining town in Queensland Australia demonstrates how this methodology can enhance our understanding of the past The work presents an integration of social and industrial perspectives in a mining settlement and provides an exemplar in the application of landscape theory to Australian historical archaeology These concepts and approaches developed in an Australian context are of universal interest

African Landscapes Michael Bollig,Olaf Bubenzer,2009-06-12 Landscape studies provide a crucial perspective into the interaction between humans and their environment shedding insight on social cultural and economic topics The research explores both the way that natural processes have affected the development of culture and society as well as the ways that natural landscapes themselves are the product of historical and cultural processes Most previous studies of the landscape selectively focused on either the natural sciences or the social sciences but the research presented in African Landscapes bridges that gap This work is unique in its interdisciplinary scope Over the past twelve years the contributors to this volume have participated in the collaborative research center ACACIA Arid Climate Adaptation and Cultural Innovation in Africa which deals with the relationship between cultural processes and ecological dynamics in Africa s arid areas The case studies presented here come from mainly Sahara Sahel and southwestern Africa and are all linked to broader discussions on the concept of landscape and themes of cultural anthropological geographical botanical sociological and archaeological interest The contributions in this work are enhanced by full color photographs that put the discussion in context visually
