TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language. The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages. It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints. High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing.

New Horizons in Chinese Linguistics C-T James Huang, Audrey Li Yen Hui,2012-12-06

The past decade and a half has witnessed a great deal of renewed interest in the study of Chinese linguistics not only in the traditional areas of philological studies and in theoretically oriented areas of syn chronic grammar and language change but also in the cultivation of new frontiers in related areas of the cognitive sciences. There is a significant increase in the number of students studying one area or another of the linguistic structure of Chinese in various linguistic programs in the United States, Europe, Australia and in China, Hong Kong, Singapore, Taiwan and other parts of Asia. Several new academic departments devoted to the study of linguistics have been established in Taiwan and Hong Kong in the past few years. The increasing research and study activities have also resulted in a number of national and international conferences including the North American Conference on Chinese Linguistics (NACCL) which has been held annually in the United States, the International Symposium on Chinese Languages and Linguistics (ISCLL) which has had its fourth meeting since it was launched by Academia Sinica in Taiwan in 1990, the International Association of Chinese Linguistics (IACL) created in Singapore in 1992 and now incorporated in Irvine, California which has held its annual meetings at major institutions in Asia, Europe and the US.

New Terms for New Ideas Michael Lackner, Iwo Amelung, Joachim Kurtz,2021-11-15

This volume is about the lasting impact of new Western notions on the 19th and early 20th century Chinese language, their invention, spread and standardization. Reaching beyond the mere cataloguing of the thousands of lexical innovations in this period of change, the essays explore the multiple ways in which initially alien notions were naturalized in Chinese scientific and political discourse. Topics examined range from preconceptions about the capacity of the Chinese language to accommodate foreign ideas, the formation of specific nomenclatures and the roles of individual translators to Chinese and European attempts at coming to terms with each other's grammar. By systematically analysing and assessing the lexical adaptation of Western notions in Chinese contexts the book will serve as a valuable reference work for all those interested in the historical semantics of modern China

The Sinitic Languages Mieczysław Jerzy K nstler,2019-02-04 The Sinitic Languages is the quintessence of Mieczys aw Jerzy K nstler s thirty years of research into the Chinese languages Originally published in Polish in 2000 as J zyki chi skie this work collected K nstler s various lectures on the fascinating world of this branch of the Sino-Tibetan language family It marked the apogee of linguistic research of Chinese languages in Poland With a keen intuitive understanding of the workings of these languages K nstler introduces his readership to the historical development of spoken Sinitic languages Besides analyzing the various stages of Standard Chinese he also makes a convincing case for classifying Cantonese Pekinese Nankinese Minnanese Wu and other so called dialects as distinct languages K nstler s work offers an insightful and detailed overview about synchronic and diachronic research on the major language groups of Chinese a fast growing academic field until today The present English version was begun by K nstler himself before his untimely demise in 2007 However it is not merely a translation of the Polish work but a revised edition that introduces a shift in Sinological linguistics from a genetic to an areal description of Modern Chinese languages A joint effort of the Polish linguist Alfred Franciszek Majewicz and the Sinologists Ewa Zajdler and Maria Kurpaska helped to bring the original manuscript to its completion Thus The Sinitic Languages is now finally accessible for a larger readership Both amateurs and experts interested in this topic are invited to follow K nstler on his intellectual journey into Sinological linguistics K nstler intentionally excluded Chinese characters from his work because he viewed the Sinitic languages primarily as spoken languages In order to provide readers with the opportunity to compare spoken and written language the editors added an index with glossary to the English version

Prosodic Morphology in Mandarin Chinese Shengli Feng,2017-12-14 It is not entirely clear if modern Chinese is a monosyllabic or disyllabic language Although a disyllabic prosodic unit of some sort has long been considered by many to be at play in Chinese grammar the intuition is not always rigidly fleshed out theoretically in the area of Chinese morphology In this book Shengli Feng applies the theoretical model of prosodic morphology to Chinese morphology to provide the theoretical clarity regarding how and why Mandarin Chinese words are structured in a particular way All of the facts generated by the system of prosodic morphology in Chinese provide new perspectives for linguistic theory as well as insights for teaching Chinese and studying of Chinese poetic prosody

□□□□□□□□□□ ,1989 Legal Translation and Bilingual Law Drafting in Hong Kong Clara Ho-yan Chan,2020-05-11 Legal Translation and Bilingual Law Drafting in Hong Kong presents a systematic account from a cross disciplinary perspective of the activities of legal translation and bilingual law drafting in the bilingual international city of Hong Kong and its interaction with Mainland China and Taiwan in the use of legal terminology The study mainly examines the challenges posed to English Chinese translation in the past three decades by elaborate drafting and terminological equivalence and offers educational and research solutions Its primary goals are to create legal Chinese that naturally accommodates common law concepts and statutes from the English legal system and to reconcile Chinese legal terms from the different legal systems adopted by Hong Kong Mainland China and Taiwan The new directions in legal translation and bilingual law drafting in Hong Kong will have implications for other Chinese regions and for the world The book is intended for scholars researchers teachers and students of legal translation and legal linguistics legal translators lawyers and legal practitioners who are engaged in translation as well as all persons who are interested in legal language and legal translation The Publishers Weekly ,1927 The Contest of Language W. Martin

Bloomer,Martin Bloomer,2005 Students and scholars interested in language as a cultural and political phenomenon will find this book invaluable Coming to Order Mary Susan Erbaugh,1988 Asia Major ,1968 A Bibliographical Guide to the Study of Chinese Language and Linguistics T. W. Kim,Aleksandra K. Wawrzyszko,1980 This annotated bibliography covers materials on Chinese language and linguistics published from 1940 through 1979 Approximately 150 entries are included covering textbooks dictionaries study and teaching materials on Mandarin Chinese general descriptions of Chinese linguistics writing system and bibliographies An author index is appended JB Language Planning and Language Use in Taiwan Marinus Elisa van den Berg,1985 Variation in Interlanguage Morphology Richard Young,1991 This major contribution to second language acquisition theory examines the question of the systematicity of learners language Richard Young proposes a new descriptive model for handling what other investigators have claimed to be random variations in performance and he tests the model on plural inflections in the English interlanguage of Chinese learners The study investigates how factors such as the social context of speech the linguistic environment of a variable and the tendency to omit redundant information affect the developing interlanguage system The representation of learners language which emerges from this study is richer more complex and more descriptively adequate than has previously been available

Books in Print ,1981 Code-mixing and Code Choice John Gibbons,1987 Code mixing is a fast developing area of interest for those concerned with bilingualism sociolinguistics and applied linguistics Just as the language phenomena produced initially by contact between groups who did not share a language pidginization and creolization have proved to be revealing in the study of second language development and language universals so also the examination of the mixing of two or more languages within bilingual communities is beginning to throw light on several important issues In this book John Gibbons uses a range of different approaches to code mixing and code choice evaluates them and attempts to integrate them in a composite mode of code choice The study is located in the fascinating bilingual community of Hong Kong Research on Tibeto-Burman Languages Austin Hale,1982 No detailed description available for Research on Tibeto Burman Languages
