Victor M. Corman

A Poets View:

How Poets See the World Willard Spiegelman, 2005-06-23 Although readers of prose fiction sometimes find descriptive passages superfluous or boring description itself is often the most important aspect of a poem This book examines how a variety of contemporary poets use description in their work Description has been the great burden of poetry How do poets see the world How do they look at it What do they look for Is description an end in itself or a means of expressing desire Ezra Pound demanded that a poem should represent the external world as objectively and directly as possible and William Butler Yeats in his introduction to The Oxford Book of Modern Verse 1936 said that he and his generation were rebelling against inter alia irrelevant descriptions of nature in the work of their predecessors The poets in this book however who are distinct in many ways from one another all observe the external world of nature or the reflected world of art and make relevant poems out of their observations This study deals with the crisp elegant work of Charles Tomlinson the swirling baroque poetry of Amy Clampitt the metaphysical meditations of Charles Wright from a position in his backyard the weather reports and landscapes of John Ashbery and the new way of looking that Jorie Graham proposes to explore in her increasingly fragmented poems All of these poets plus others Gary Snyder Theodore Weiss Irving Feldman Richard Howard who are dealt with more briefly attend to what Wallace Stevens in a memorable phrase calls the way things look each day The ordinariness of daily reality is the beginning of the poets own idiosyncratic indeed unique visions and styles

Conversations with Denise Levertov Denise Levertov, 1998 Denise Levertov American poet and activist died in December 1997 at the age of 74 This book contains some twenty previously uncollected interviews conducted between the early 1960s and the middle of the 1990s They are focused primarily on her work as a poet but also on her social and political concerns The interviews in which Levertov discusses her craft constitute an important document on American poetry in the second half of the twentieth century She talks of her legendary friendship with her mentor William Carlos Williams and her association with the Black Mountain Poets As she discusses her craft in great detail she gives special attention to diction line lengths versification and choice of subject matter Students of American culture and readers of American poetry will be delighted by this collection of the personal views of one of the century's best poets

Transition, Reception and Modernism R. Greaves, 2001-12-17 In this study of Yeats poetry between 1902 and 1916 Greaves strongly reacts to the tendency in literary criticism to categorize Yeats work as modernist Instead Greaves offer a different way of looking at the transition in Yeats

work in this period by examining the poems in the context of Yeats life As a result the figure of Yeats the poet is resurrected from the exhaustive category of modernism and the complex connections between the figure of Yeats within the poems and its relationship with the Yeats who exists outside them is revealed Century Illustrated Monthly Magazine ... ,1892
