Intellectual Property and the New International Economic Order Sam F. Halabi, 2018-04-19 In economic sectors crucial to human welfare agriculture education and medicine a small number of firms control global markets primarily by enforcing intellectual property IP rights incorporated into trade agreements made in the 1980s onward Such rights include patents on seeds and medicines copyrights for educational texts and trademarks in consumer products According to conventional wisdom these agreements likewise ended hopes for a New International Economic Order under which wealth would be redistributed from rich countries to poor Sam F Halabi turns this conventional wisdom on its head by demonstrating that the New International Economic Order never faded but rather was redirected by other treaties formed outside the nominally economic sphere that protected poor countries interests in education health and nutrition and resulted in redistribution and regulation This illuminating work should be read by anyone seeking a nuanced view of how IP is shaping the global knowledge economy Macmillan Student Encyclopedia of

Sociology Michael Mann, 1983-11-01 The Macmillan Student Encyclopedia of Sociology is a major comprehensive encyclopedia aimed at all students of social science The book explains all the important sociological terms theories concepts and proper names whether they come from the classic nineteenth century traditions or from recent radical trends from the realms of abstract theory to issues of immediate social concern There are over 2000 entries arranged in alphabetical order All entries start with simple concise definitions but many go on to provide full length original essays UN Ideas That Changed the World Richard Jolly, Louis Emmerij, Thomas G. Weiss, 2009-09-01 Ideas and concepts have been a driving force in human progress and they may be the most important legacy of the United Nations UN ideas have set past present and future international agendas in many global economic and social arenas and have also led to initiatives and actions that have improved the quality of human life This capstone volume draws upon findings of the other 14 books in the acclaimed United Nations Intellectual History Project Series The authors not only assess the development and implementation of UN ideas regarding sustainable economic development and human security but also apply lessons learned to suggest ways in which the United Nations can play a fuller role in confronting the challenges of human survival with dignity in the 21st century

The City in the Developing World Robert B. Potter, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 2014-09-25 The City in the Developing World is a comprehensive and up to date introduction to urbanisation in developing countries The goal of this text is to place an understanding of the developing world city in its wider global context First this is done by developing the concept of social surplus product as a key to understanding the character of the contemporary Third World city Second throughout this text the city in developing areas is centrally placed in the context of global social economic political and cultural change Thus the important themes of globalisation modernity and postmodernity are examined both in relation to the structure of sets of towns and cities which make up the national or regional urban system and in respect of ideas and concepts dealing with the morphology structure and social patterning of individual urban areas The City in the Developing World is a core text for second and third year undergraduates in the fields of geography development studies planning economics and the social sciences taking options which deal with development issues development theory gender and development and Third World development
