Getting Off the Planet Mary Jane Chambers, Randall M. Chambers, 2005 Today the training of American astronauts is almost taken for granted but prior to 1961 no one knew whether humans could function in space at all Space suits working in free fall and surviving the punishing accelerations of launch and re entry were all complete unknowns It was well recognised that if we were to send men into space they would first have to be extensively trained But what was that training to consist of And exactly who would provide the training As it turns out the training was at times as dangerous and demanding as the space flights that followed for the training experts as well as the astronauts At the forefront of the effort to train America s astronauts was Dr Randall Chambers Over the course of a long and distinguished career he turned his mind and body to a wide variety of disciplines in order to best prepare our astronauts for space flight It was not unusual for Dr Chambers to put himself in the astronaut s position literally before he would put the astronaut there Dr Chambers and his co workers not only had to be the very best in their profession they had to define and refine that profession as they went along pioneers in the truest sense of the word As the requirements and demands of human space activities increased the lives of the astronauts were completely dependent on their trainers always being one step ahead of them Career journalist Mary Jane Chambers has witnessed her husband s career first hand and has worked with him to present a story that non scientists will enjoy no equations no charts but rather a human tale of amazing people This book is the story of a dedicated man of science a friend of the astronauts and an unsung hero of the space age Behind every successful space program there are special people with the dedication of Dr Randall Chambers

The Dover Patrol 1915-1917 Sir Reginald Bacon, 1919

Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture Lance LaVine, 2001 In Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture Lance LaVine shows that in architecture as practiced and taught today the technological aspect of the profession how weight is distributed how heat flow is regulated and how light is permitted to enter has been ceded to engineers and other technical specialists And in doing so he argues architects have lost sight of one of architecture s most important purposes that of providing a literal and figurative window onto the world As a technology of habitation architecture should give people both a practical and a metaphorical understanding of their relationship with nature For LaVine this knowledge emanates from a sensual understanding of the natural world as a felt force At its most basic level architecture demands an understanding of and response to the natural forces of gravity climate and sunlight At the center of Mechanics and Meaning in Architecture are case studies of four very different houses a Finnish log farmhouse from the nineteenth century Charles Moore s house in Orinda California Tadao Ando s Wall House in Japan and Le Corbusier s Villa Savoye near Paris Through his imaginative readings of structures LaVine highlights how the architects involved have used the oldest and most fundamental architectural technologies walls floors ceilings columns beams and windows in ways that offer creative responses to the natural world and humanity s place in it Clearly architects are comfortable with the practical and aesthetic components of their profession With this book Lance LaVine encourages them also to understand what makes their use of technology unique and essential and to reclaim the natural world for meaningful interpretation in their design of buildings
