Analyzing Deviance James D. Orcutt, 1983 Analyzing Deviance James D. Orcutt, 1983 First Episodes Stephen R. Waterhouse, 2022-11-21 Originally published in 1991 First Episodes Pupil Careers in the Early Years of School is based on a four year longitudinal study of pupils from two different catchment areas from the first days of their entry to primary school Using qualitative methodologies of depth interviewing and naturalistic observation it attempts to examine the social construction of pupil careers in the dynamics of classroom life Particular attention has been given to the longitudinal and continuing process in the formation of pupils over the first four years of schooling especially in looking at the moment by moment processes of formulation as episode follows episode in the rapid flow of classroom life It is suggested that teachers operate fundamental distinctions between normal and abnormal pupils and in the ongoing processes of classroom life a distinction between the episodic and the trans episodic in their constructions of reality Central to the analysis has been the notions of relativity in the placement of boundaries in interpersonal relations It is suggested that the casting of pupils within the framework of role is a central process at both episodic and trans episodic levels The book recommends a move away from the more usual notion of rule transgression and its related societal reactions so prominent in the literature on deviance It is suggested that it is the role rather than the rule which is critical to the perception of deviation and the formulation of pupils in early schooling In looking for temporal processes of emergence it is suggested that there is continuing tension between the episodic and the trans episodic in teachers formulation of children It seems the construction of present reality as having continuity or discontinuity with previous realities is critical

Why We Love Serial Killers Scott Bonn, 2014-10-28 For decades now serial killers have taken center stage in the news and entertainment media The coverage of real life murderers such as Ted Bundy and Jeffrey Dahmer has transformed them into ghoulish celebrities Similarly the popularity of fictional characters such as Hannibal The Cannibal Lecter or Dexter demonstrates just how eager the public is to be frightened by these human predators But why is this so Could it be that some of us have a gruesome fascination with serial killers for the same reasons we might morbidly stare at a catastrophic automobile accident Or it is something more In Why We Love Serial Killers criminology professor Dr Scott Bonn explores our powerful appetite for the macabre while also providing new and unique insights into the world of the serial killer including those he has gained from his correspondence with two of the world's most notorious examples David Berkowitz Son of Sam and Dennis Rader Bind Torture Kill In addition Bonn examines the criminal profiling techniques used by law enforcement professionals to identify and apprehend serial predators he discusses the various behaviors such as the charisma of the sociopath that manifest themselves in serial killers and he explains how and why these killers often become popular cultural figures Groundbreaking in its approach Why We Love Serial Killers is a compelling look at how the media law enforcement agencies and public perception itself shapes and feeds the monsters in our midst

Regression Models for Time Series Analysis Benjamin Kedem, Konstantinos Fokianos, 2005-02-25 A thorough review of the most current regression methods in time series analysis Regression methods have been an integral part of time series analysis for over a century Recently new developments have made major strides in such areas as non continuous data where a linear model is not appropriate This book introduces the reader to newer developments and more diverse regression models and methods for time series analysis Accessible to anyone who is familiar with the basic modern concepts of statistical inference Regression Models for Time Series Analysis provides a much needed examination of recent statistical developments Primary among them is the important class of models known as generalized linear models GLM which provides under some conditions a unified regression theory suitable for continuous categorical and count data The authors extend GLM methodology systematically to time series where the primary and covariate data are both random and stochastically dependent They introduce readers to various regression models developed during the last thirty years or so and summarize classical and more recent results concerning state space models To conclude they present a Bayesian approach to prediction and interpolation in spatial data adapted to time series that may be short and or observed irregularly Real data applications and further results are presented throughout by means of chapter problems and complements Notably the book covers Important recent developments in Kalman filtering dynamic GLMs and state space modeling Associated computational issues such as Markov chain Monte Carlo and the EM algorithm Prediction and interpolation Stationary processes
