Antitrust Law Policy Procedure Case Materials Problems:

Antitrust Law, Policy, and Procedure, 2003 Antitrust Law Policy and Procedure Edward Thomas Sullivan, 1987

Antitrust Law E. Thomas Sullivan, Herbert Hovenkamp, 1984 Antitrust Law, Policy and Procedure E. Thomas Sullivan, Herbert Hovenkamp, Howard A. Shelanski, Christopher R. Leslie, 2023-11-30 This innovative and popular casebook focuses on teaching antitrust through the best legal precedents available. It emphasizes current judicial opinions and includes dissents where relevant to help students grasp the issues. The notes reflect a balanced approach to the competing ideologies of left, right, and center, confronting their defects and presenting their strengths. Professors who are strongly committed to a particular ideology should find plenty of material to criticize or alternatively to illustrate their view. The ninth edition of the casebook is being published on the 40th anniversary of the publication of the inaugural edition of this leading antitrust casebook. Specific updates for this edition include: Updates on the cyclical nature of antitrust endorsement theories and trends with a focus on the Biden administration including a return to a progressive neo Brandeis antimonopoly approach concerning increased economic power and its effect on concentration in the marketplace affecting consumers and workers and leading to inequality in society and ultimately democracy. Developments in the per se rule for price fixing including labor cartels, anti-poaching agreements, and the possibility of criminal prosecution. Treatment of the AMG Capital Management case narrowing the ability of the FTC to award monetary relief and Axon Enterprises which permitted courts to consider the status and protections of the FTC's administrative law judges. Discussing amendments to venue legislation that make it more difficult for actions brought by multiple state attorneys general to be transferred and consolidated. The Celestin and Blenheim decisions limiting the reach of the Act of State doctrine and expanding the scope of foreign sovereign immunity. Discussion of the Steve's case permitting a private plaintiff to obtain structural relief in a merger case. Discussion of the termination of the Paramount consent decree which had imposed restrictions on distribution in the motion picture industry. Excerpt and discussion of Supreme Court's National Collegiate Athletic Association v Alston opinion. Discussion of no-poach agreements as a form of market division. New note on antitrust and worker non-compete agreements as well as the FTC's assertion of rule-making authority to ban most such agreements. Discussion of the tying and exclusive dealing claims in the Epic Games v Apple case as well as other platform dominance cases. New note on the criminal prosecution of illegal monopolies.

Sullivan, 1999 Competition Law and Development D. Daniel Sokol, Thomas K. Cheng, Ioannis Lianos, 2013-09-11 The vast majority of the countries in the world are developing countries; there are only thirty-four OECD Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development countries, and yet there is a serious dearth of attention to developing countries in the international and comparative law scholarship which has been preoccupied with the United States and the European Union Competition Law and Development investigates whether or not the competition law and policy transplanted from Europe and the United States can be successfully implemented in the developing world or whether the developing world experience suggests a need for a different analytical framework The political and economic environment of developing countries often differs significantly from that of developed countries in ways that may have serious implications for competition law enforcement The need to devote greater attention to developing countries is also justified by the changing global economic reality in which developing countries especially China India and Brazil have emerged as economic powerhouses Together with Russia the so called BRIC countries have accounted for thirty percent of global economic growth since the term was coined in 2001 In this sense developing countries deserve more attention not because of any justifiable differences from developed countries in competition law enforcement either in theoretical or practical terms but because of their sheer economic heft This book the second in the Global Competition Law and Economics series provides a number of viewpoints of what competition law and policy mean both in theory and practice in a development context

European Yearbook of International Economic Law 2013 Christoph Herrmann, Markus Krajewski, Jörg Philipp Terhechte, 2013-04-02 Part one of Volume 4 2013 of the European Yearbook of International Economic Law offers a special focus on recent developments in international competition policy and law International competition law has only begun to emerge as a distinct subfield of international economic law in recent years even though international agreements on competition co operation date back to the 1970s Competition law became a prominent subject of political and academic debates in the late 1990s when competition and trade were discussed as one of the Singapore issues in the WTO Today international competition law is a complex and multi layered system of rules and principles encompassing not only the external application of domestic competition law and traditional bilateral co operation agreements but also competition provisions in regional trade agreements and non binding guidelines and standards Furthermore the relevance of competition law for developing countries and the relationship between competition law and public services are the subject of heated debates The contributions to this volume reflect the growing diversity of the issues and elements of international competition law Part two presents analytical reports on the developments of the regional integration processes in North America Central Africa and Southeast Asia as well as on the treaty practice of the European Union Part three covers the legal and political developments in major international organizations that deal with international economic law namely the IMF WCO WTO WIPO ICSID and UNCTAD Lastly part four offers book reviews of recent works in the field of international economic law

Competition Law Richard Whish, David Bailey, 2012-01-12 The authors describes the potential scope and application of the various legal provisions which regulate competition in the UK This book also examines the results of the convergence of UK and EC law with regard to competition in business Promoting Competition in Innovation Through Merger Control in the ICT Sector Kalpana Tyagi, 2019-06-21 This book addresses the question of how competition authorities assess mergers in the Information Communication Technology ICT sector so as to promote competition in innovation A closer look at the question reveals that it is far more complex and difficult to answer for the ICT telecommunications and multi sided platform MSP economy than for more traditional sectors of the economy This has led many scholars to re think and question whether the current merger control framework is suitable for the ICT sector which is often also referred to as the new economy The book pursues an interdisciplinary approach combining insights from law economics and corporate strategy Further it has a comparative dimension as it discusses the practices of the US the EU and wherever relevant of other competition authorities from around the globe Considering that the research was conducted in the EU the practices of the European Commission remain a key aspect of the content Considering its normative dimension the book concentrates on the substantive aspects of merger control To facilitate a better understanding of the most important points the book also offers a brief overview of the procedural aspects of merger control in the EU the US and the UK and discusses recent amendments to Austrian and German law regarding the notification threshold Given its scope the book offers an invaluable guide for competition law scholars practitioners in the field and competition authorities worldwide

Media Ownership and Concentration in America Eli M. Noam, 2009-10-19 People have worried for many years about the concentration of private power over the media as evidenced by controversy over Federal Communication Commission rulings on broadcast ownership limits The fear it seems is of a media mogul with a political agenda a new William Randolph Hearst who could help start wars or run for political office using the power of the media In the light of these concerns about freedom of speech Eli Noam provides a comprehensive survey of media concentration in America covering everything from the early media empire of Benjamin Franklin to the modern day cellular phone industry
