Case For Romance:

A Case For Romance Melanie Schuster, 2013-09-01 Ayanna Walker's life was her job and raising her two nephews. She barely had time to remember she even had a passionate side and didn't expect that workaholic attorney Johnny Phillips would unleash it. But when Johnny's kiss curled her toes, she knew they would enjoy a summer fling; neither would forget. As soon as he met sweet, shapely Ayanna at his sister's wedding, Johnny knew she was the one. His game plan was honest: shower her with his desires, his devotion, his dreams. But could a man planning forever and a woman still planning the moment find the right time for love?

Why Agree? Why Move? Shigeru Miyagawa, 2009-10-30 An argument that not only do movement and agreement occur in every language, they also work in tandem to imbue natural language with enormous expressive power. An unusual property of human language is the existence of movement operations. Modern syntactic theory, from its inception, has dealt with the puzzle of why movement should occur. In this monograph, Shigeru Miyagawa combines this question with another: that of the occurrence of agreement systems. Using data from a wide range of languages, he argues that movement and agreement work in tandem to achieve a specific goal: to imbue natural language with enormous expressive power. Without movement and agreement, he contends, human language would be merely a shadow of itself, with severe limitations on what can be expressed. Miyagawa investigates a variety of languages, including English, Japanese, Bantu languages, Romance languages, Finnish, and Chinese. He finds that every language manifests some kind of agreement, some in the form of the familiar person-number-gender system and others in the form of what Katalin Kiss calls discourse configurational features, such as topic and focus. A key proposal of his argument is that the computational system in syntax deals with the wide range of agreement types uniformly, as if there were just one system, and an integral part of this computation turns out to be movement. Why Agree? Why Move? is unique in proposing a unified system for movement and agreement across language groups that are vastly diverse: Bantu languages, East Asian languages, Indo-European languages, and others.

Argument Structure and Grammatical Relations Pirkko Suihkonen, Bernard Comrie, Valery Solovyev, 2012 This book is a collection of articles dealing with various aspects of grammatical relations and argument structure in the languages of Europe and North and Central Asia. LENA Topics covered with respect to individual languages are split intransitivity, Basque causativization, Agul transitives and causatives, Korean and Japanese aspectual domain and quantification, Finnish and Udmurt head marking principles, Athabaskan languages and pragmatics, Eastern Khanty and Xibe. Typology of argument structure, properties of give, LENA typology of agreement systems, asymmetry in argument structure, typology of the Amdo Sprachbund, spatial realtors, Northeastern Turkic core argument patterns, languages of Northern California, and typology of grammatical relations. LENA are the topics of articles based on cross-linguistic data. The broad empirical sweep and the fine-tuned theoretical analysis highlight the central role of argument structure and grammatical relations with respect to a plethora of linguistic phenomena.

Performing "Nation", 2008-10-31 Uniquely covering literary, visual, and performative expressions of culture, this volume aims to correlate the conjunctions of nation building gender and representation in late 19th and early 20th century China and Japan Focusing on gender formation the chapters explore the changing constructs of masculinities and femininities in China and Japan from the early modern up to the 1930s Chapters focus on the dynamism that links the remodeling of traditional arts and media to the political and cultural power relations between China Japan and the Western world A true tribute to multidisciplinary studies

Reciprocals and Reflexives Ekkehard König,Volker Gast,2008-11-06 This collection of original papers is a representative survey of recent theoretical and cross linguistic work on reciprocity and reflexivity Its most remarkable feature is its combination of formal approaches case studies on individual languages and broad typological surveys in one volume showing that the interaction of formal approaches to grammar and typology may lead to new insights and results for both fields Among the major issues addressed in this volume are the following How can our current knowledge about the space and limits of variation in the relevant domain be captured in a structural typology of reciprocity What light can such a typology shed on the facts of particular languages or groups of languages e g Austronesian How can recent descriptive and typological insights be incorporated into a revised and more adequate version of the Binding Theory How do verbal semantics argument structure and reciprocal markers interact How can we explain the pervasive patterns of ambiguity observable in these two domains especially the use of the same forms both as reflexive and reciprocal markers What are the major sources in the historical development of reciprocal markers This combination of large scale typological surveys with in depth studies of particular languages provides new answers to old questions and raises important new questions for future research
