is found floating in the river wearing an ankle bracelet very similar to Dain's. Almayer was distraught because Dain was his only chance at finding the secret mine. The corpse was actually of his slave who had died when a canoe overturned. Mrs Almayer suggested that Dain put his anklet and ring on the body. Mrs Almayer planned to smuggle Dain away from the Dutch so he would not be arrested. She snuck Nina away from her father who was drinking with the Dutch. When he awoke from his drunken stupor, a native slave girl told him where Nina had run away to, and Almayer tracked her to Dain's hiding place. Nina refused to go back to avoid the slurs of all the white society. During all this, the slave girl had informed the Dutch of Dain's whereabouts. Almayer said that he could never forgive Nina but would help them escape by taking them to the mouth of the river where a canoe would rescue them from the Dutch. After they had escaped, Almayer erased the lover's footprints and went back to his house. Mrs Almayer ran away to the rajah for protection, taking all Dain's dowry with her. All alone, Almayer broke all his furniture in his home office, piled it in the center of the room, and burned it along with his entire house to the ground. He spent the rest of his days in His Folly, where he began smoking opium to forget his daughter. He eventually died there.

Joseph Conrad, born Józef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski (3 December 1857 – 3 August 1924) was a Polish-British writer regarded as one of the greatest novelists to write in the English language. Though he did not speak English fluently until his twenties, he was a master prose stylist who brought a non-English sensibility into English literature. Note 1: Conrad wrote stories and novels, many with a nautical setting, that depict trials of the human spirit in the midst of what he saw as an impassive, inscrutable universe.

Almayer's Folly Joseph Conrad, Gabriela Henríquez, 2017-08-25 Almayer's Folly, Joseph Conrad's first novel, is a tale of personal tragedy as well as a broader meditation on the evils of colonialism. Set in the lush jungle of Borneo in the late 1800s, it tells of the Dutch merchant Kaspar Almayer whose dreams of riches for his beloved daughter Nina collapse under the weight of his own greed and prejudice. Nadine Gordimer writes in her Introduction: Conrad's writing is lifelong questioning. What was Almayer's Folly? The pretentious house never lived in. His obsession with gold. His obsessive love for his daughter whose progenitors the Malay race he despised. All three Conrad established in Almayer's Folly: the themes of betrayal, isolation, and colonialism that he would explore throughout the rest of his life and work.

She wanted them to marry so her daughter could stay native because she was highly distrustful of the white men and their ways. Dain left but vowed to return to help Almayer find the gold mine. Almayer's Folly Joseph Conrad, 2020-03-19. The well-known shrill voice startled Almayer from his dream of splendid future into the unpleasant realities of the present hour. An unpleasant voice, too, he had heard it for many years, and with every year he liked it less. No matter, there would be an end to all this soon. He shuffled uneasily but took no further notice of the call.

Leaning with both his elbows on the balustrade of the verandah he went on looking fixedly at the great river that flowed indifferent and hurried before his eyes He liked to look at it about the time of sunset perhaps because at that time the sinking sun would spread a glowing gold tinge on the waters of the Pantai and Almayer's thoughts were often busy with gold gold he had failed to secure gold the others had secured dishonestly of course or gold he meant to secure yet through his own honest exertions for himself and Nina He absorbed himself in his dream of wealth and power away from this coast where he had dwelt for so many years forgetting the bitterness of toil and strife in the vision of a great and splendid reward They would live in Europe he and his daughter They would be rich and respected Nobody would think of her mixed blood in the presence of her great beauty and of his immense wealth Witnessing her triumphs he would grow young again he would forget the twenty five years of heart breaking struggle on this coast where he felt like a prisoner All this was nearly within his reach from his dream of splendid future into the unpleasant realities of the present hour. An unpleasant voice too. He had heard it for many years and with every year he liked it less. No matter, there would be an end to all this soon. He shuffled uneasily but took no further notice of the call. Leaning with both his elbows on the balustrade of the verandah, he went on looking fixedly at the great river that flowed indifferent and hurried before his eyes. He liked to look at it about the time of sunset perhaps because at that time the sinking sun would spread a glowing gold tinge on the waters of the Pantai and Almayer's thoughts were often busy with gold. Gold he had failed to secure; the others had secured dishonestly, of course, or gold he meant to secure yet through his own honest exertions for himself and Nina. He absorbed himself in his dream of wealth and power away from this coast where he had dwelt for so many years, forgetting the bitterness of toil and strife in the vision of a great and splendid reward. They would live in Europe, he and his daughter. They would be rich and respected. Nobody would think of her mixed blood in the presence of her great beauty and of his immense wealth. Witnessing her triumphs, he would grow young again; he would forget the twenty-five years of heart-breaking struggle on this coast where he felt like a prisoner. All this was nearly within his reach. Let only Dain return. And return soon, he must, in his own interest, for his own share. He was now more than a week late. Perhaps he would return to night. Such were Almayer's thoughts as standing on the verandah of his new but already decaying house that last failure of his life. He looked on the broad river. There was no tinge of gold on it this evening for it had been swollen by the rains and rolled an angry and muddy flood under his inattentive eyes, carrying small drift wood and big dead logs and whole uprooted trees with branches and foliage amongst which the water swirled and roared angrily.
