Alptraum Auto Peter M. Bode, Sylvia Hamberger, Wolfgang Zängl, 1986 The End of Automobile Dependence Peter Newman, Jeffrey Kenworthy, 2015-08-11 Cities will continue to accommodate the automobile but when cities are built around them the quality of human and natural life declines Current trends show great promise for future urban mobility systems that enable freedom and connection but not dependence We are experiencing the phenomenon of peak car use in many global cities at the same time that urban rail is thriving central cities are revitalizing and suburban sprawl is reversing Walking and cycling are growing in many cities along with ubiquitous bike sharing schemes which have contributed to new investment and vitality in central cities including Melbourne Seattle Chicago and New York We are thus in a new era that has come much faster than global transportation experts Peter Newman and Jeffrey Kenworthy had predicted the end of automobile dependence In The End of Automobile Dependence Newman and Kenworthy look at how we can accelerate a planning approach to designing urban environments that can function reliably and conveniently on alternative modes with a refined and more civilized automobile playing a very much reduced and manageable role in urban transportation The authors examine the rise and fall of automobile dependence using updated data on 44 global cities to better understand how to facilitate and guide cities to the most productive and sustainable outcomes This is the final volume in a trilogy by Newman and Kenworthy on automobile dependence Cities and Automobile Dependence in 1989 and Sustainability and Cities Overcoming Automobile Dependence in 1999 Like all good trilogies this one shows the rise of an empire in this case that of the automobile the peak of its power and the decline of that empire Autophobia Brian Ladd, 2008-11-16 From the Model T to the SUV Autophobia reveals that our vexed relationship with the automobile is nothing new in fact debates over whether cars are forces of good or evil in our world have raged for over a century now ever since the automobile was invented Jacket partnership between unions and employers The West German economy of the 1950s to the 1980s is the prime example of that model of capitalism which contrasts with the liberal Anglo Saxon forms of capitalism In accordance with recent debates about Varieties of Capitalism the authors argue that research on capitalism should pay more attention to change over time The book also claims to put the firm into the centre of analysis The empirical contributions uncover the differences between French and German corporate governance practices comparing two European automobile producers VW and Renault analyse legal debates and practices of corporate control in post war Germany show the tension between national corporate governance and increasing internationalisation by reference to four major West German producers of chemicals pharmaceuticals and fibres and explore the opportunities encountered by German big banks vis vis their customers from big industry Furthermore they show that coordinating culture in the supply relationship of the German automobile industry came under pressure at the end of the boom and stress the importance of communication processes as a basis for interest coordination in Rhenish capitalism The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Business History
