Alvan Clark & Sons Deborah Jean Warner,1968 ALVAN CLARK AND SONS ARTISTS IN OPTICS DEBORAH JEAN. WARNER,2018 Alvan Clark and Sons, Artists in Optics Deborah Jean Warner,1968 Alvan Clark and Sons Artists in Optics \(Classic Reprint\) Deborah Jean Warner,2017-09-17 Excerpt from Alvan Clark and Sons Artists in Optics Clarks made the objectives for the largest refracting telescopes in the world and the fifth of their efforts their 40 inch lens at the Yerkes Observatory has never been surpassed Their optical work which was recognized as unexcelled anywhere in the world was the first significant American contribution to astronomical instrument making American telescopes had been made before but none compared to those of European manufacture by the end of the 19th century however partly because of the example set by Alvan Clark Sons several other Americans were making fine astronomical instruments About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Alvan Clark & Sons: Artists in Optics Deborah Jean Warner,1968 Three instrument makers Alvan Clark and his sons George Bassett and Alvan Graham figured importantly in the great expansion of astronomical facilities which occurred during the second half of the 19th century Almost every American observatory built during this period and some observatories abroad housed an equatorial refracting telescope and often auxiliary apparatus as well made by the Clarks Their optical work recognized as unexcelled anywhere in the world was the first significant American contribution to astronomical instrument making While American telescopes had been made before none compared with those of European manufacture by the end of the 19th century partly because of the example set by Alvan Clark Sons several other Americans were making fine astronomical instruments History of Astronomy John Lankford,2013-03-07 This Encyclopedia traces the history of the oldest science from the ancient world to the space age in over 300 entries by leading experts Eclipses, Transits, and Comets of the Nineteenth Century Stella Cottam,Wayne Orchiston,2014-09-16 Winner of the AAS 2019 Donald E Osterbrock Book Prize for Historical Astronomy Grabbing the attention of poets politicians and the general public alike a series of spectacular astronomical events in the late 1800s galvanized Americans to take a greater interest in astronomy than ever before At a time when the sciences were not yet as well established in the United States as they were in Europe this public interest and support provided the growing scientific community in the United States with the platform they needed to advance the field of astronomy in the United States Earlier in the 19th century comets meteors and the discovery of the planet Neptune were all sources of inspiration to the general public The specific events to be considered here are the total solar eclipses of 1868 1869 and 1878 and the transits of Venus of 1874 and 1882 The available media responded to public interest as well as generating more interest These events laid the groundwork that led to today's thriving network of American amateur astronomers and provide a fascinating look at earlier conceptions of the stars Classic Telescopes Neil English, 2012-08-30 Classic telescopes are of interest to amateur astronomers for a variety of reasons There are the dedicated collectors but there are also many amateurs who love the nostalgia they inspire These telescopes feel different from any contemporary telescope and perhaps have a unique ability to reconnect the owner to a bygone age of craftsmanship This book takes a look at traditional telescopes built by the great instrument makers of the 18th and 19th centuries particularly the dynastic telescope makers including Dollond Alvan Clark Thomas Cooke Sons and Carl Zeiss Also included are lesser luminaries such as John Brashear John Calver William Wray Henry Fitz and William Henry Mogyey Classic Telescopes covers the key features of the telescopes designed by these manufacturers and shows how a heady combination of market trends instrument condition and pedigree will dictate their prices at auction Classic Telescopes also shows the reader how to find real bargains Interviews with top classic telescope collectors and users provide the best tips of prospecting for a genuine acquisition Sky and Ocean Joined Steven J. Dick, 2003 As one of the oldest scientific institutions in the United States the US Naval Observatory has a rich and colourful history This volume is first and foremost a story of the relations between space time and navigation from the rise of the chronometer in the United States to the Global Positioning System of satellites for which the Naval Observatory provides the time to a billionth of a second per day It is a story of the history of technology in the form of telescopes lenses detectors calculators clocks and computers over 170 years It describes how one scientific institution under government and military patronage has contributed through all the vagaries of history to almost two centuries of unparalleled progress in astronomy Sky and Ocean Joined will appeal to historians of science technology scientific institutions and American science as well as astronomers meteorologists and physicists International Conference on Education in Optics, 1991 Victorian Telescope Makers Ian S. Glass, 1997 Victorian Telescope Makers is the story of a highly specialized unusual business enterprise that of telescope manufacture Makers of some of the largest best known telescopes of the Victorian era the Grubbs of Dublin placed themselves at the forefront of optical mechanical engineering in a world where continual innovation improvement were the keys to success For 95 years Thomas Howard Grubb father son supplied astronomical instruments to the world Through extensive use of their original letters documents Ian Glass has allowed the Grubbs to speak for themselves The story recounted is of the development of a small leading edge technology firm from its beginnings in 1830 as a billiard table manufactory to its eventual position as one of the major telescope makers of the Victorian era The founder of the firm Thomas Grubb was an innovator in the field of telescope making optical design One of his earliest instruments was for several years the largest telescope in the world Howard the son formalized the business built a new factory capitalized on the rapid growth of astrophysics He in turn obtained the contract for the world's largest refractor the 27 inch centrepiece of the Royal Imperial Observatory in Vienna Together the story of Thomas Howard Grubb provides an unique insight into a period of rapid growth innovation in Victorian science This book will prove fascinating to all those interested in the history of telescope manufacture of astronomy as well as to students of the Irish past The Sciences in the American Context American Association for the Advancement of Science,1979
