Infected Christianity Alan T. Davies,1988-06-01 Focusing on five modern Christs Alan Davies examines how the Christian church has succumbed to the infection of racist ideas Using an analysis of the writings of representative philosophic and religious figures Davies shows that the myths of race and nation innocent in themselves have evolved into sacred myths and histories which not only infected Christianity but in the case of Germany and South Africa served to legitimize ruling racist elites He traces the course of racism to its roots in the religious cultural and intellectual history of western civilization and to its culmination in the formation of the Aryan myth the great race myth of white Europeans in the nineteenth century As Germany played a pivotal role in recent developments of racism Davies discusses the Germanic Christ first and most extensively He analyzes French Roman Catholic racism particularly its role in the Third Republic through discussion of the Latin Christ His study of the Anglo Saxon Christ covers both English and American expressions of racism and their links to imperialism This is followed by a discussion of Afrikaner racism and an exploration of black nationalism in the United States and its advocacy of a black Christ Davies concludes with a discussion of the theological problems arising from the five racial Christs surveyed and the dilemmas posed by the attempt to cast a universal religion in a particular cultural mould

Religion and Racism Theron N. Ford,Blanche Jackson Glimps,2020 Religion and Racism provides an extensive examination of the paradox that arises from the intersection of being a Christian and a racist A racist believes that one racial group is superior to another Yet since the nation s revolutionary birth the United States claims a pious devout mantle of Christianity that served as the nation s moral compass while engaging in horrendous acts of racial violence How can a white Christian male sit in a church engage in Christian prayers and then in cold blooded fashion murder nine African American Christians in their own church Christians traditionally have always designated churches as places of refuge and sanctuary The binary of whiteness and Christianity emerged and came to dominate much of the world In the United States and other parts of the world whiteness and Christianity have served to subjugate people of color even as such people themselves also came to embrace Christ s teachings often at the cost of the loss of their traditional forms of religion and culture Armed with the Bible and deep seated belief in racial superiority European colonizers came to shape most of the world as we know it today The result has been an unequal control of the world s resources and vastly disparate living standards for people of color and whites both internationally and within specific nations People of color have been treated as highly valued commodities while simultaneously being stripped of their
