Picturebooks Sylvia S. Marantz, Kenneth A. Marantz, 2005 Picturebook spelled as a single word to identify its unique qualities and to differentiate the genre from other books with illustrations is one that tells a story either in pictures alone or in almost equal partnership with text. The picturebook has great potential for bridging the differences among us; the concept of a story is one common to all a shared experience that sets the stage for communication. And the goal of multiculturalism is to emphasize the positive attributes of human society the outstanding rather than the stereotype. Because children born today will interact with people from different cultures much more than previous generations it is important that they are taught about other cultures starting at a young age. Multicultural picturebooks are therefore an excellent teaching tool for meeting this educational challenge. The picturebooks profiled are appropriate for children in grades K-4 but can be used with older children depending on the curriculum and the students' comprehension level. Books covering Asia and the Pacific, The Middle East, Africa, South America, North America, Native Americas, Inuit, etc. and books specific to the immigrant experience are profiled. Each book is described in one paragraph that includes an engaging review of the story line, special features of the content, the look and style of the artwork, interior design, and layout of the book. The authors emphasize that the visual qualities of picturebooks affect their ability to tell stories about people whose values and behaviors are different from those of the reader. The analyses therefore used in selecting the books include not only the informational content but also the emotional content, the feelings generated by the text and art. In choosing books for this volume the authors have used the following criteria: Does the book tell an engaging story? Do the illustrations convincingly portray and represent humans, animals, and objects? Is the use of the media consistent? Do the text and the picture... Multicultural Literature and Response Lynn Atkinson Smolen, Ruth A. Oswald Ph.D., 2010-12-22. This compelling book emphasizes the critical role of quality multicultural literature and reader response in today's schools and libraries. All students need access to books in which they can see themselves not just their physical appearance but their culture and language as well. Multicultural Literature and Response: Affirming Diverse Voices was written to help teachers and librarians find and use the best multicultural books in the service of reading comprehension and more. Underscoring the necessity of selecting quality literature that authentically sensitively and accurately portrays different groups, the book defines multicultural literature and provides a strong argument for its importance in schools and libraries. Expert contributors guide users to multicultural authors and illustrators who portray U.S. ethnic and cultural groups and they suggest ways to integrate this literature with writing fluency development, storytelling, and audiovisuals. Extensive lists of books and websites that feature multicultural literature as well as of authors, illustrators, and publishers of multicultural literature make it easy to include such works in programs across the curriculum.

Multicultural Teaching Pamela L. Tiedt, Iris M. Tiedt, 2002 Multicultural Teaching Sixth Edition provides activities and information designed to enable the teacher to explore the many kinds of diversity in the classroom The authors guide readers to examine their own diversity first in order to better understand how diversity affects everyone This text presents model lesson plans fully developed thematic units and a variety of instructional strategies as well as a wealth of resources that support multicultural teaching It examines difficult issues and problems within multicultural education to encourage reflections and discussion It explains the basic content of multicultural education and also describes methods for carrying out the best education for all students It deals with such important topics as language diversity appropriate terminology prejudice and stereotyped thinking and emphasizes the development of esteem empathy and equity in the classroom
