Christopher Smart And The Enlightenment:

Christopher Smart and the Enlightenment Clement Hawes, 1999 Christopher Smart is poised to become a major focus for those interested in Britain's eighteenth century poets In this new collection an impressive group of critics and literary scholars reappraises Smart's legacy and his remarkable impact on twentieth century poetry This volume offers a finely historicized approach to Smart's work highlighting the markedly transitional quality of the eighteenth century moment as regards the Enlightenment project and thus pointing through the work of Smart to a more subtle eighteenth century than is often found in debates about modernity and postmodernity or rationality and madness Christopher Smart and the Enlightenment also analyzes the generative impact of Smart on modern poetry and music demonstrating the reach of Smart's contemporary resonance Such a tracing of Smart's twentieth century presence enables a significant chapter of literary history to be rewritten

Meanderings of the English enlightenment Magdalena Ozarska, 2008

Christopher Smart's English Lyrics Rosalind Powell, 2016-05-23 In the first full length study of Christopher Smart's translations and the place and function of translation in Smart's poetry Rosalind Powell proposes a new approach to understanding the relationship between Smart's poetics and his practice Drawing on translation theory from the early modern period to the present day this book addresses Smart's translations of Horace Phaedrus and the Psalms alongside the better known religious works such as Jubilate Agno and A Song to David Five recurrent threads run throughout Powell's study the effect of translation on the identity of a narrative voice in a rewritten text the techniques that are used to present translated texts to a new literary cultural and linguistic readership performance and reading contexts the translation of great works as an attempt to achieve literary permanence and finally the authorial influence of Smart himself in terms of the overt religiosity and nationalism that he champions in his writing In exploring Smart's major translation projects and revisiting his original poems Powell offers insights into classical reception and translation theory attitudes towards censorship expressions of nationalism in the period developments in liturgy and hymnody and the composition of children's books and school texts in the early modern era Her detailed analysis of Smart's translating poetics places them within a new contemporary context and locality to uncover the poet's works as a coherent project of Englishing

«Remov'd from human eyes»: Madness and Poetry 1676-1774 Natali, Ilaria, 2016-08-30 The years 1676 and 1774 marked two turning points in the social and legal treatment of madness in England In 1676 London's Bethlehem Hospital expanded in grand new premises and in 1774 the Madhouses Act attempted to limit confinement of the insane This study explores almost a century of the English history of madness through the texts of five poets who were considered mentally troubled according to contemporary standards James Carkesse Anne Finch William Collins Christopher Smart and William Cowper were hospitalized sequestered or exiled from society Their works cope with representations of insanity medical definitions or practices imputed illness and the judging eye of the sane other shedding new light on the discontinuities in the notion of madness of this period

Performance, Madness and Psychiatry A.

Harpin, J. Foster, 2014-08-26 This exciting collection of essays explores the complex area of madness and performance. The book spans from the 18th century to the present and unearths the overlooked history of theatre and performance in and about psychiatric asylums and hospitals. The book will appeal to historians, social scientists, theatre scholars, and artists alike.

1650-1850 Kevin L. Cope, 2019-04-01 With issue twenty four of 1650 1850 this annual enters its second quarter century with a new publisher, a new look, a new editorial board, and a new commitment to intellectual and artistic exploration. As the diversely inventive essays in this first issue from the Bucknell University Press demonstrate, the energy and open-mindedness that made 1650 1850 a success continue to intensify. This first Bucknell issue includes a special feature that explores the use of sacred space in what was once incautiously called the age of reason. A suite of book reviews renews the 1650 1850 legacy of full length and unbridled evaluation of the best in contemporary Enlightenment scholarship. These lively and informative reviews celebrate the many years that book review editor Baerbel Czennia has served 1650 1850 and also make for an able handoff to Samara Anne Cahill of Nanyang Technological University who will edit the book review section beginning with our next volume. Most important of all, this issue serves as an invitation to scholars to offer their most creative and thoughtful work for consideration for publication in 1650 1850. About the annual journal 1650 1850 1650 1850 publishes essays and reviews from and about a wide range of academic disciplines: literature, both in English and other languages, philosophy, art, history, religion, and science. Interdisciplinary in scope and approach, 1650 1850 emphasizes aesthetic manifestations and applications of ideas and encourages studies that move between the arts and the sciences, between the hard and the humane disciplines. The editors encourage proposals for special features that bring together five to seven essays on focused themes within its historical range from the Interregnum to the end of the first generation of Romantic writers. While also being open to more specialized or particular studies that match up with the general themes and goals of the journal, 1650 1850 is in the first instance a journal about the artful presentation of ideas that welcomes good writing from its contributors. First published in 1994, 1650 1850 is currently in its 24th volume. ISSN 1065 3112. Published by Bucknell University Press. Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press. Literature Criticism from 1400 to 1800, 2007 Christopher Smart and Satire Min Wild, 2008 Min Wild explores the idiosyncratic world of satire in the eighteenth century periodical, focusing on Christopher Smart's underexplored Midwife or Old Woman's Magazine. In analysing Smart's adoption of a peculiarly female persona, Mary Midnight Wild reveals a learned and ribald wit, satirically engaging with questions of gender, politics, and culture. Wild also offers insight into the difficult position in which eighteenth century writers found themselves as ideas on the nature of authorship were being transformed. Transgressing Boundaries Floriana Puglisi, 2006 Soul Machine George Makari, 2015-10-22 A brilliant and comprehensive history of the creation of the modern Western mind, Soul Machine takes us back to the origins of modernity, a time when a crisis in religious authority and the scientific revolution led to searching questions about the nature of human inner life. This is the story of how a new concept, the mind, emerged as a potential solution one that was part soul and part machine but fully neither In this groundbreaking work award winning historian George Makari shows how writers philosophers physicians and anatomists worked to construct notions of the mind as not an ethereal thing but a natural one From the ascent of Oliver Cromwell to the fall of Napoleon seminal thinkers like Hobbes Locke Diderot and Kant worked alongside often forgotten brain specialists physiologists and alienists in the hopes of mapping the inner world Conducted in a cauldron of political turmoil these frequently shocking always embattled efforts would give rise to psychiatry mind sciences such as phrenology and radically new visions of the self Further they would be crucial to the establishment of secular ethics and political liberalism Boldly original wide ranging and brilliantly synthetic Soul Machine gives us a masterful new account of the making of the modern Western mind Christopher Smart
