Disability and Democracy Thomas M. Skrtic, 1995 The text examines current practice in special education from a variety of metatheoretical perspectives functionalism interpretivism radical structuralism and radical humanism Part 1 deconstructs the professions by showing how they are undermined by postmodern theories of knowledge and proposes pragmatism as a method for reconstructing the profession of education Part 2 describes special education disability and social justice from a variety of modern perspectives Part 3 presents alternative modern and postmodern ways of reframing the problem of school failure and proposes a new organizational form for schools that informed by pragmatism would enable a critical reconstruction of special education public education and contemporary society

Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world s disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches

Reading and Writing Disability Differently Tanya Titchkosky, 2007 Mixing rigorous social theory with concrete analysis Reading and Writing Disability Differently unpacks the marginality of disabled people by addressing how the meaning of our bodily existence is configured in everyday literate society Tanya Titchkosky begins by illustrating how news media and policy texts reveal dominant Western ways of constituting the meaning of people and the meaning of problems as they relate to our understandings of the embodied self Her goal is to configure disability as something more than a problem and beyond simply a positive or a negative and to treat texts on disability as potential sites to examine neo liberal culture Titchkosky holds that through an exploration of the potential behind limited representations of disability we can relate to disability as a meaningful form of resistance to the restricted normative order of contemporary embodiment Incorporating a textual analysis of ordinary depictions of disability this innovative study promises to represent embodied differences in new ways and alter our imaginative relations to the politics of the body Disability and Mobile Citizenship in Postsocialist Ukraine Sarah D. Phillips,2011 Sarah Phillips examines how disabled persons in the Ukraine struggled to secure their rights during the tumult of the past two decades She documents their creative strategies argues that public storytelling is a powerful means to expand notions of relatedness kinship social responsibility The Faces of Intellectual Disability Licia Carlson,2009-12-22 In a challenge to current thinking about cognitive impairment this book explores what it means to treat people with intellectual disabilities in an ethical manner Reassessing philosophical views of intellectual disability Licia Carlson shows how we can affirm the dignity and worth of intellectually disabled people first by ending comparisons to nonhuman animals and then by confronting our fears and discomforts Carlson presents the complex history of ideas about cognitive disability the treatment of intellectually disabled people and social and cultural reactions to them Sensitive and clearly argued this book offers new insights on recent trends in disability studies and philosophy Beyond Progress and Marginalization Corrine C. Bertram,Sean G. Massey,2010 Over time two competing narratives have emerged to represent the experiences of LGBTQ youth emphasizing either significant improvement or continued victimization and marginalization This volume examines those conflicting narratives as they play out in educational settings both formal and informal Particular emphasis is placed on LGBTQ youths own expressions and representations revealing the extent to which both oppression and opportunity interact to influence their still emergent identities Coming of age at the tail end of the culture wars these young people are situated within layers of influence across family peers schools communities and media The simultaneous fluid contexts of opportunity and oppression that LGBTQ youth negotiate are highlighted throughout this book in the youths own words which often reveal a level of epistemological complexity that their elders would be wise to consider
