great Spanish language poets he merged radical politics and language consciousness resulting in the first examples of a truly new world poetry The Black Heralds is Vallejo's first book and contains a wide range of poems from love sonnets in which he struggles to free his erotic life from the bounds of Spanish Catholicism to the linguistically inventive sequence Imperial Nostalgias where he parodies with considerable savagery the pastoral romanticism of Indian and rural life In this bilingual volume translator Rebecca Seiferle attempts to undo the colonization of Vallejo in other translations As Seiferle writes in her introduction Reading and translating Vallejo has been a long process of trying to meet him on his own terms to discover what those terms were within the contexts of his particular time and finally taking his word for it from Our Bread And in this frigid hour when the earth smells of human dust and is so sad I want to knock on every door and beg forgiveness of I don't know whom and bake bits of fresh bread for him here in the oven of my heart

César Vallejo 1892-1938 was born in Peru to a family of mixed Spanish and native descent He wrote two books of poetry the second of which was partly composed during a short prison term Disappointed by the reception of his poetry in his own country Vallejo moved to Paris where he became active in Marxist politics and the antifascist campaign in Spain while publishing essays political articles a play and short stories Vallejo died in Paris in utter poverty on the day Franco's armies entered Madrid

The Zürau Aphorisms of Franz Kafka Franz Kafka, 2006 The essential philosophical writings of one of the twentieth century's most influential writers are now gathered into a single volume with an introduction and afterword by the celebrated writer and publisher Roberto Calasso Illness set him free to write a series of philosophical fragments some narratives some single images some parables These aphorisms appeared sometimes with a few words changed in other writings some of them as posthumous fragments published only after Kafka's death in 1924 While working on K his major book on Kafka in the Bodleian Library Roberto Calasso realized that the Zürau aphorisms each written on a separate slip of very thin paper numbered but unbound represented something unique in Kafka's opus a work whose form he had created simultaneously with its content The notebooks freshly translated and laid out as Kafka had intended are a distillation of Kafka at his most powerful and enigmatic This lost jewel provides the reader with a fresh perspective on the collective work of a genius

Cesare Pavese and America Lawrence G. Smith, 2008 A poet novelist literary critic and translator Cesare Pavese 1908-1950 has been profoundly influenced in his early years by American literature This book examines his life and the evolution of his views of America through a chronological reading of his works

Dreaming the End of War Benjamin Alire Sáenz, 2006 This gripping suite of twelve dreams infused with the conflict along the border of Mexico and the United States traces humanity's addiction to violence and killing from boys stepping on ants to men shooting animals men shooting women men shooting enemies The Dreams begin in a desert landscape where poverty and wealth grate against each other and the ever present war becomes as invisible as the desert sands we trample on The dreams however move toward a greater peace with Senz providing an unforgettable reading experience From The Fourth Dream Families and Flags and Revenge I don't believe a flag is important enough to kiss or even burn Some men would hate me enough to kill me if they read these words Rage Senz said in an interview must be a component of any writer's life But this rage must also be contained otherwise our very bodies will become chaos our minds will become chaos We need order Senz finds that order in poems transforming his rage into something more beautiful and gracious and forgiving Poet and novelist Benjamin Senz has written 10 books of poetry and prose most recently In Perfect Light HarperCollins He was a Catholic priest doing missionary and charity work in London Tanzania and the barrio parishes of El Paso Texas Upon leaving the priesthood he was awarded a Stegner Fellowship at Stanford University He teaches in the MFA program at University of Texas El Paso Migration William Stanley Merwin, 2005 This definitive volume by one of America's greatest poets is essential for all poetry collections

The Theater of Night Alberto Ríos, 2005 National Book Award nominee Ríos writes a life-long love story that unfolds along the Mexican American border Ambition and Survival Christian Wiman, 2007 That calling at once religious ethical and aesthetic is one that only a genuine poet can hear and very few poets can explain it as compellingly as Mr Wiman does That gift is what makes Ambition and Survival not just one of the best books of poetry criticism in a generation but a spiritual memoir of the first order New York Sun This weighty first prose collection should inspire wide attention partly because of Wiman's current job partly because of his astute insights and partly because he mixes poetry criticism with sometimes shocking memoir The collection's greatest strength comes in general ruminations on the writing reading and judging poetry Publishers Weekly Wiman is a terrific personal essayist as this new collection illustrates with the command and instincts of the popular memoirist This is a brave and bracing book Booklist Blazing high style is how The New York Times describes the prose of Christian Wiman the young editor transforming Poetry the country's oldest literary magazine Ambition and Survival is a collection of stirring personal essays and critical prose on a wide range of subjects reading Milton in Guatemala recalling violent episodes of his youth and traveling in Africa with his eccentric father as well as a series of penetrating essays on writers as diverse as Thomas Hardy and Janet Lewis The book concludes with a portrait of Wiman's diagnosis of a rare form of incurable and lethal cancer and how mortality reignited his religious passions When I was twenty years old I set out to be a poet That sounds like I was a sort of frigate raising anchor and in a way I guess I was though susceptible to the lightest of winds When I read Samuel Johnson's comment that any young man could compensate for his poor education by reading five hours a day for five years that's exactly what I tried to do practically setting a timer every afternoon to let me know when the little egg of my brain was boiled It's a small miracle that I didn't take to wearing a cape Christian Wiman is the editor of Poetry magazine His poems and essays appear regularly in The New Yorker The Atlantic Monthly Harper's and The New York Times Book Review Spectral Waves Madeline DeFrees, 2006 Whether writing sly sonnets about Elvis or naming her cataracts Madeline DeFrees demonstrates rigorous poetic clarity
