Barrows In The Peak District:

Barrows in the Peak District John Barnatt, John Collis, 1996 The work of early antiquaries especially Thomas Bateman has made the Peak District one of the key areas along with Wessex and the Yorkshire Wolds for our understanding of the Neolithic and Early Bronze Age periods in Britain In this volume John Barnatt brings together much of this early evidence both to provide a modern overview and interpretation of the data and to make the evidence more accessible with a major corpus of the barrows and their contents In addition two recent excavations of Bronze Age sites are presented Liffs Low and Hognaston Between Peak and Plain: Excavations on a Multiperiod Site at Mellor, Stockport, 1998-2009 Peter Arrowsmith, 2025-03-20 This book details 12 seasons of excavations at Mellor Stockport revealing a multiperiod site from the Mesolithic to post medieval periods Key finds include Iron Age enclosures medieval hall remains Mesolithic lithics and Romano British artefacts all contextualized within the wider region Excavations at King's Low and Queen's Low Gary Lock, Dick Spicer, Wilson Hollins, 2014-03-15 Two barrows in the parish of Tixall north of Stafford were excavated between 1986 1994 The results are important because little excavation of round barrows has been carried out in this area of North Staffordshire and these add considerably to the local corpus of knowledge concerning Early Bronze Age burial practices

The Peak District John Barnatt, Ken Smith, 2004 The Peak District Britain's first national park has some of Britain's richest archaeological landscapes This new edition draws on the extensive archaeological research that has taken place in the Peak since 1997 and provides maps and interpretations It tells the story of a famous landscape's evolution Journal of the Derbyshire Archaeological and Natural History Society Derbyshire Archaeological Society, 1888 List of members in each volume English Heritage Book of the Peak District John Barnatt, 1997 Derbyshire Archaeological Journal, 1904 The Archaeology of a Great Estate Nicola Bannister, John Barnatt, 2009-08-25 The Peak District is a historic upland landscape with a rich palimpsest of features which invoke the many generations of people who have inhabited the area The great estate of Chatsworth reflects the Peak in microcosm Its landscapes are diverse and contain many exceptional features including archaeological earthworks of medieval open fields and later enclosures in the park and prehistoric stone circles barrows fields and settlements on the Estate moorlands This book tells the story of the historic landscape and its archaeology it is a companion volume to Chatsworth A Landscape History Barnatt Williamson but in contrast to that book includes the whole of the Estate landscape including the extensive farmland and moorlands beyond the park and concentrates on visible archaeology and what it can tell us about the past The result is a fascinating in depth portrait of one of the major estates in Britain Bronze Age Landscapes Joanna Bruck, 2002-02-01 This volume is a collection of essays which exemplify the range and diversity of work currently being undertaken on the regional landscapes of the British Bronze Age and the progress which has been made in both theoretical and interpretive debate Together these papers reflect the vibrancy of current research and promote a closer marriage of landscape site and material culture studies CONTENTS

Ancient Remains, Near Buxton William Turner (F.S.S.),John Charles Cox,1899 This book looks at the area surrounding the English town of Buxton highlighting the historical and geographical significance of the nearby caves barrows and other ancient remains With expert commentary on the physical remnants of the past Ancient Remains Near Buxton provides a fascinating examination of the area s historical significance and its people The Derbyshire Archaeological Journal ,2004 Ghosts and Legends of the Peak District David Clarke,1991 Ghosts witches unexplained mysteries and the supernatural are the basis for this fascinating Ghost Series which relates ghost stories from Great Britain The Ancient Burial-mounds of England L.V. Grinsell,2014-10-24 First published in 1936 and rewritten in 1953 this book embodies the results of the author s extensive researches and fieldwork Part one considers types of barrows and dating their building and the cult of the dead from Palaeolithic to Saxon times A chapter is dedicated to maps and another to fieldwork in particular while the final bit of the introductory material discussed barrow digging from the time of the Romans to the twentieth century Part two is the regional surveys from Cornwall to Kent and northwards to the Scottish border The Discovery of the Peak District Trevor Brighton,2004 THE PEAK DISTRICT was an area viewed with fear and foreboding for a thousand years Largely impenetrable to the traveller it was called a aehowling wilderness by Defoe Its few inhabitants were uncouth and the last troglodytes in England Their guttural dialect was barely intelligible and their fondness for drink was renowned and repellent Since Saxon times the Peak was associated with evil and the abode of the devil was located in the huge cave known as Peak s Arse By the Norman period this supernatural cavern was proclaimed one of the seven wonders of Europe Elizabethan topographers declared it the first of the Seven Wonders of the Peak all of which were natural phenomena except for Chatsworth built amid what Charles Cotton called the warts and pudenda of Nature A magical transformation occurred almost overnight when the romantic period viewed the Peak in quite a different light Its wonder was now its landscape portrayed by artists and writers as picturesque beautiful and sublime Rousseau the prophet of Nature came to live there Dovedale became Elysium and Monsal Dale Arcadia Turnpike roads slowly opened up the Peak Chatsworth was its showplace while Buxton strove to emulate Bath Scientists such as Erasmus Darwin came to study its geology and industrialists such as Wedgwood and Boulton its minerals Arkwright s cotton mills made it one of the cradles of the Industrial Revolution and antiquaries and archaeologists explored its ancient remains Ruskin foresaw the ruin of an idyllic world and raved against the coming of the railways and the curse of trippers Yet despite the inevitable scars the area retained much of its natural beauty and surrounded by burgeoning urban industrial growth it became a focal point for the outdoor movement of the 19th and 20th centuries Not surprisingly by 1953 much of the Peak District was designated Britain s first National Park What is surprising is that this important new book is the first full and fascinating account of the past of the Peak Prey Movements and Settlement Patterns During the Upper Paleolithic in Southwestern France Ariane M. Burke,1978 Chatsworth John Barnatt, Tom Williamson, 2005 Set within the stunning landscape of the Peak District National Park exquisite Chatsworth House is one of the most visited properties in England Its vast gardens and parks which stand in direct contrast to the upland moors that surround them are the result of a labour of love by successive dukes and duchesses of Devonshire over a period of three hundred years 1600 to 1900 This wonderful book explores the history of this landscape both BC Before Chatsworth and later beginning with the earliest landscaping of the Elizabethan Bess of Hardwick and the ambitious project of the first dukes to create gardens and landscapes that complemented their innovative state of the art mansion completed at the turn of the 18th century Intended to delight amuse and impress the landscape was the result of earthmoving on a massive scale culminating in the extraordinary Canal Pond Further afield a deer park enclosures lakes weirs cascades and driveways tamed the moors The landscape was repeatedly transformed and recreated by successive generations of dukes designers and architects notably Capability Brown who naturalised the grounds in the 18th century while 19th century tastes created much of what we see today with conservatories arboretums Paxton s Emperor Fountain and the model village of Edensor The authors also survey the earlier history of Chatsworth the archaeology of the surrounding peaks the remains of the medieval village of Edensor which as was often the case with country estates was swept away only to be later resurrected according to Victorian taste and a number of fine ancient oaks which have seen it all and still stand today The book is illustrated throughout with many excellent colour photographs of the estate and old plans and paintings which demonstrate the many changes the centuries have brought Another excellent landscape study by Windgather Press
