A. Geeson, C. J. Brandt, J. B. Thornes, 2003-04-11 Desertification includes land degradation due to both climatic and anthropogenic causes where land includes water soil and the biosphere This book presents the most recent findings from the European Community s MEDALUS project which was formed to understand and manage semi arid environments that are undergoing great change Covers climate and land use processes and responses in the Mediterranean First book to provide guidelines for the management of land degradation in Mediterranean environments Based on first hand experience of the problems by those responsible for solving them Strategies to Combat Desertification in Mediterranean Europe J. L. Rubio, R. J. Rickson, 1990 Desertification ,1998* Mediterranean Desertification and Land Use C. Jane Brandt, John B. Thornes, 1996-12-09 Desertification of land degradation has become a major environmental issue in scientific and political circles This product of the MEDALUS project forms an important part of the EU s initiative to manage changing semi arid environments Atlas of Mediterranean Environments in Europe Paola Mairota, J. B. Thornes, N. A. Geeson, 1997-12-11

The Mediterranean countries of Europe have been undergoing rapid change and development over the last thirty years and especially during the last ten. These changes have occurred in all aspects of life and livelihood and for many countries such change has had far reaching social and economic impacts. In addition the results of centuries of distinctive man environment relationships in a climatically marginal region have been swept aside and the landscape itself is undergoing a rapid transformation. Large areas are being abandoned temporarily or permanently by rural populations urban growth is rampant agriculture has been intensified and water scarcity fed by the severe droughts of the 1980s and 1990s has become a major environmental and resource concern. At the same time the threat of global climate change and the indication of deeper and more sustained future droughts has brought these issues into sharp focus. Based on the findings of the European Community's Medalus Project this Atlas brings to a wide audience the background to and a contemporary understanding of the environmental crisis which is now facing the Mediterranean region of Europe as well as the future prospects for a solution.

Mediterranean Climate Hans-Jürgen Bolle, 2012-12-06 Mohamed Larbi Selassi Deputy Director of the National Meteorology Morocco Welcome address translated from French WMO WCRP Medias France and scientific institutions representatives ladies and gentlemen to thank WMO and MEDIAS France who have honoured us by I want first organizing the two workshops climate indices in Africa and data assessment for global change research in the Mediterranean region in Casablanca and I welcome all of you here in Morocco. It is with great pleasure that I open these two workshops on behalf of myself and on behalf of the Direction of the Meteorologie Nationale of Morocco. Climate change is becoming the focus of the international community because of its global scale and unpredictable effects the numerous impacts it causes its global feature and the complexity of the solutions that can mitigate its impacts. Global warming and the greenhouse effect became a subject of study at the international level since the United Nations Conference on the human environment that was held in Stockholm in 1972. The research and coordination efforts that have been made in this area have led to an International Scientific consensus. High level meetings like those held in Toronto in 1988 in Lahaye in 1989 and in Geneva in 1990 did confirm the greenhouse threat and the emergency to treat it. Environmental Challenges in the Mediterranean 2000-2050 Antonio Marquina, 2012-12-06 This book collects most of the contributions prepared for the NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW on Environmental Challenges in the Mediterranean 2000-2050. The ARW took place in Madrid from 2 to 5 of October 2002. Scholars and researchers from North and South of the Mediterranean and other countries from NATO gathered in Madrid for discussing several important factors that could affect Mediterranean security in the next 50 years. In this regard the first chapter presents the different debates regarding environmental security that took place in the last decade. This chapter is an introductory chapter and takes into account the possible audience in the Southern Mediterranean and the wishes of some contributors. For this reason the chapter deals in extenso with the question of human security and the different approaches. The ARW dealt with issues that may affect the supply of fundamental goods for human living To this end the complex question of climate change its impact in the Mediterranean the predicted increase in temperatures and predictions about rainfall are analysed As part of this approach a chapter about solar variability and climate change is also added
