Issues and Applications of Case-Based Reasoning to Design Mary Lou Maher, Pearl Pu, 2014-02-25 Design is believed to be one of the most interesting and challenging problem solving activities ever facing artificial intelligence AI researchers Knowledge based systems using rule based and model based reasoning techniques have been applied to build design automation and or design decision support systems Although such systems have met with some success difficulties have been encountered in terms of formalizing such generalized design experiences as rules logic and domain models Recently researchers have been exploring the idea of using case based reasoning CBR techniques to complement or replace other approaches to design support CBR can be considered as an alternative to paradigms such as rule based and model based reasoning Rule based expert systems capture knowledge in the form of if then rules which are usually identified by a domain expert Model based reasoning aims at formulating knowledge in the form of principles to cover the various aspects of a problem domain These principles which are more general than if then rules comprise a model which an expert system may use to solve problems Model based reasoning MBR is sometimes called reasoning from first principles Instead of generalizing knowledge into rules or models CBR is an experience based method Thus specific cases corresponding to prior problem solving experiences comprise the main knowledge sources in a CBR system This volume includes a collection of chapters that describe specific projects in which case based reasoning is the focus for the representation and reasoning in a particular design domain The chapters provide a broad spectrum of applications and issues in applying and extending the concept of CBR to design Each chapter provides its own introduction to CBR concepts and principles
