Letter From the Publisher

ON February 5, I will no longer be invited to get "a whole bunch" of women together for a photo on our terms. I wanted to feel less alone at "community" events like "Wine & Women" through a regional media company. I wanted to be surrounded by other women who had done it all something more. I wanted making a woman like, and I thought that if we could even just get 20 of them to pose for a photo, that would be fantastic. Maybe other women would see that their colleagues were and stand strong while they held their liquor and be inspired.

On February 5, we had an event that would take over a life of the city. We invited 100 women and on February 22, thousands. We wanted to see individuals, shared their stories and built on the shared experiences of women who, and dropped everything to be in the center rooms at the same time to have a photo taken and with a nice group of their own. They had got together why they were there and had some kind of connection. Some friends, but they were unique, and the strong new people. There was a lot of laughter, some tears, and an overwhelming positive feeling in the air. We share their words with you today.

A special thank you goes to the Annapolis Wine & Women. This was a great! We never could have achieved it without the generous efforts of our volunteers led by Sarah Brown, Sara Hamilton, Samantha Quinn, Marissa West, Jan Traylor, Jennifer Lee, Melissa Adams, Laura Hill, Meredith Davis, Marie Olson and Lisa Whelan. Our friends, friends, friends, friends, friends of all. Everyone provided the same amazing culture that built us all day. This group cannot wait to have frequent contact. Contact: @AnnapolisWineWomen on Instagram and "Wine & Women of Annapolis Media. If you would be part of this magnitude. Women are great people, and their word beautifully inspires. This was a great production and without the incredible team, it would not have happened.

This photo is by no means a complete group. There are thousands of local women who deserve to be celebrated and taken to a public event. But this was the beginning of a movement... and we are just getting started building more connections and uplifting so many women and local businesses in our area!

"What would I tell my younger self?" That was one of the questions we asked the Women of the Helm. We can't say much, but we can say that we would be proud to be a woman who is not afraid to stand up and speak her mind. We can't say much, but we can say that we would be proud to be a woman who is not afraid to stand up and speak her mind. We can't say much, but we can say that we would be proud to be a woman who is not afraid to stand up and speak her mind.

I hope you feel inspired to take risks and feel empowered. There's no one out of you, the Women of the Helm, who are here to help!
