Contrastive Rhetoric

Alan Purves (ed)

Contrastive Rhetoric:

Contrastive Rhetoric Ulla Connor, 1996-01-26 Shows how a person's first language and culture influence writing in a second language

Writing Across Languages and Cultures Alan Purves (ed), Contrastive rhetoric is the term used to describe the observable differences in the linguistic and structural aspects of writing from culturally different settings

Writing Across Languages and Cultures the second volume in the Written Communication Annual series presents contrastive cross cultural studies in the rhetoric of writing The contributors introduce theoretical and methodological approaches to issues in contrastive rhetoric and its relationship to teaching and curricula They consider national differences in writing styles how these cultural patterns are transferred to second language writing and the criteria applied to the writing of non native speakers

Writing Across Languages and Cultures Alan Carroll Purves, 1988

Contrastive Rhetoric Revisited and Redefined Clayann Gilliam Panetta, 2000-11-01 The theory of contrastive rhetoric was first put forth by Robert Kaplan in the mid 1960s to explain the differences in writing and discourse between students who were native speakers of English and their international counterparts Over the past three decades contrastive rhetoric theory has been used primarily by linguists in language centers and involved in ESL teaching As the number of international students in American universities has continued to grow contrastive rhetoric has become increasingly relevant to all disciplines and to rhetoric and composition in particular This volume breaks important new ground in its examination of contrastive rhetoric in the exclusive context of composition The editor has assembled contributors with varying areas of specialty to demonstrate how the traditional definition of contrastive rhetoric theory can be applied to composition in new and innovative ways and how it can be redefined through the lens of addressing difference issues in writing Thus the volume as a whole clarifies how the basic principles of contrastive rhetoric theory can help composition instructors to understand writing and rhetorical decisions With the inclusion of current research on multicultural issues this collection is appropriate for all instructors in ESL writing including teachers in rhetoric composition and linguistics It can also be used as an advanced text for students in these areas Wherever it is employed it is certain to offer significant new insights into the application of contrastive rhetoric within the composition discipline

Contrastive Rhetoric Nagwa Kassabgy, Zaynab Ibrāhīm, Sabiha T. Aydelott, 2004 The essays in this volume explore the field of contrastive rhetoric the study of how a person's first language L1 and culture influence the acquisition of another language Contrastive rhetoric encourages inquiry into various levels of discourse and text examining the conventions and rhetorical structures of L1 and their influence on the use of another language It also studies the cognitive dimensions of transfer in relation to both writing and speech The four sections of this volume focusing on writing and translation diglossia second language acquisition and pragmatics cover a broad spectrum of studies in the field of contrastive rhetoric with essays by some of its leading scholars from Cyprus Egypt Hong Kong Jordan Tunisia Turkey the United Kingdom and the United States The collection will be invaluable to language teachers students of applied linguistics and anyone interested in second language acquisition and related issues Contributors Nahwat El Arousy Reem Bassiouney Ulla Connor Mohammed Farghal Ola Hafez Martin Harfmann Julide Inozu Georgette Ioup Mona Kamel Hassan Miranda Lee Zuhail Okan Mona Osman Andreas Papapavlou Paul Stevens Hulya Yumru Izzedin al Zou bi Exploring the Dynamics of Second Language Writing Barbara Kroll, 2003-04-14 The book addresses issues in the field of teaching academic writing to non native speakers This book provides a series of discussions about multiple aspects of second language writing presenting chapters that collectively address a range of issues that are important to new teachers at the post secondary level The 13 chapters provide scholarly visions insight and interpretation oriented toward explaining the field of teaching academic writing to non native speakers The book is designed to provide foundational content knowledge in this area with each chapter authored by recognized experts in the field In addition to helping train new teachers the book will serve as an updated reference book for practicing teachers and scholars to consult Contrastive Rhetoric Ulla Connor, Ed Nagelhout, William V. Rozycki, 2008 Shows how a person s first language and culture influence writing in a second language Contrastive Rhetoric ,1997 The Routledge Handbook of Language and Intercultural Communication Jane Jackson, 2012-03-15 Section 1 Foundations of language and intercultural communication section 2 Core themes and issues verbal and nonverbal communications and culture section 3 Theory into practice towards intercultural communicative competence and citizenship section 4 Language and intercultural communication in context section 5 New debates and future directions A comprehensive introduction to the multidisciplinary field of intercultural communication drawing on the expertise of leading scholars from diverse backgrounds Exploring the Cross-Language Transfer of L1 Rhetorical Knowledge in L2 Writing Xing Wei, 2023-12-02 This book addresses the transfer of rhetorical knowledge from a first language L1 to a second language L1 to L2 rhetorical transfer a common cognitive phenomenon in the L2 writing of students in foreign language learning environments It investigates L1 to L2 rhetorical transfer from a cognitive perspective and examines a specific component of L2 writers agency in this transfer namely metacognition The book s ultimate goal is to enhance our understanding of the cognitive mechanism of rhetorical transfer across languages This goal is in turn connected to the need to determine how L1 rhetorical knowledge can be steered and oriented toward successful L2 writing To this end this book proposes a theoretical framework for transfer studies encompassing the dimensions of text transfer agency and L2 essay raters It facilitates an in depth exploration of the intricacies involved in L1 to L2 rhetorical transfer It then presents empirical studies on this transfer Embracing a dynamic perspective this book furthers our understanding of interlingual rhetorical transfer as a conscious or intuitive process for making meaning one that can be monitored and steered Moreover it discusses the pedagogical implications for L2 writing instruction that guides students to use metacognition to transfer L1 rhetorical knowledge during L2 writing Directions in Applied Linguistics Paul Bruthiaux, 2005 The essays and research papers in this collection explore current issues in Language Education English for Academic Purposes Contrastive Discourse Analysis and Language Policy and Planning and outline promising directions for theory and practice in applied linguistics The collection also honours the life long contribution of Robert B Kaplan to the field Towards a Theory of Text for Contrastive Rhetoric James E. Martin,1992 This important book deals with the fascinating and often misunderstood field of Contrastive Rhetoric the study of culturally based differences in written discourse Despite two and a half decades of exploratory research theory building in this field is just beginning This book addresses the central almost universally neglected issue of textuality as it relates to Contrastive Rhetoric It offers an informed creative working theory of text with direct application for research in crosslanguage written discourse and suggests implications for the teaching of ESL writing Contrastive Linguistics Wenguo Pan,Tham Wai Mun,2007-07-10 Contrastive Linguistics is the first book written by a linguist from mainland China on the histories and principles of comparing and contrasting Chinese and Western languages specifically English From Wilhelm von Humboldt s initial study in comparative linguistics to the present day traditional scholarship in contrastive linguistics has taken a Western perspective and shown how foreign languages relate to the Indo European language family However such a view has a limited scope and there is an alternative history to contrastive linguistics This book is an attempt by Professor Wenguo Pan to redress the balance in contrastive linguistics comparing Western languages to Chinese rather than vice versa He provides a survey of contrastive linguistics in China throughout the past century and aims to open a window for the world to see what the new generations of Chinese linguists are doing in this exciting field and to start a dialogue between scholars of different backgrounds and linguistic traditions Contrastive Linguistics looks at the history of this discipline both in Europe and in China Professor Pan presents a survey of the historical philosophical and methodological foundations of the discipline but also examines its scope in relation to general comparative anthropological and applied linguistics This book will be of interest to academics interested in a new perspective on contrastive linguistics or Chinese linguistics Rhetorical Implications of Linguistic Relativity Kristopher H.

Kowal,1997 Popular readings of Benjamin Lee Whorf s principle of linguistic relativity focus almost exclusively on the controversial notion that language constrains or determines thought Recent scholarship has only begun to assess the creative epistemological and pragmatic dimensions of Whorf s theory of language and their compatibility with the ideas of his contemporaries in rhetoric philosophy and psychology This book provides a new reading of Whorf which situates his writings among those of Bakhtin Vygotsky and Wittgenstein Exploring the ramifications of linguistic relativity for rhetorical theory the philosophy of language and interlingual discourse analysis the author re accentuates Whorf s belief in the need to overcome linguacentrism and ethnocentrism through an enlightened multilingual awareness Second Language Rhetorics in Process Alexandra Rowe Henry,1993 This study explores second language composing processes and rhetorics through the data rich perspective of ethnography a unique approach to the study of second language rhetorics and one that leads to increased understanding of cross cultural written communication Moreover most second language composing studies are not longitudinal in scope Although this study draws the bulk of its data from five colleague researchers before they begin their studies in the United States the study concludes with additional data collected after the participants complete their degrees The results provide intriguing insights into second language pedagogy as well as manifold dimensions of cross cultural communication Contrastive Rhetoric and the Analysis of Written Discourse Across Cultures Roger J. Davies, 2017-01-09 In applied linguistic circles there has been a major reappraisal of the theory of linguistic relativity in the last few decades a renaissance in contrastive analysis research especially at the level of discourse and a gradual merging of the fields of text linguistics and discourse analysis In the light of these developments a new conceptual framework for defining contrastive rhetoric needs to be established Recent shifts in discourse linguistics from an early emphasis on grammatical and other forms used to mark cohesive relationships between sentences to the inclusion of larger units of social context related to the functional uses of language to the study of whole systems of communication within cultures and societies have been roughly paralleled by developments in contrastive rhetoric which has also moved beyond the level of text to include both the situational and cultural contexts of writing Contrastive rhetoric can thus be best defined today not as the alienated hybrid offspring of text linguistics but more accurately as the emerging field of contrastive written discourse analysis

Contrastive Rhetoric Considered Philip Vogt Spradling, 1987 Cultural Differences in Academic Rhetoric Anna Mauranen, 1993 Academic writing is rhetorical and culturally conditioned What in one culture appears as effective and proper can in a new cultural context look like chaotic writing and sloppy thinking To discover the ways in which such impressions are made we need careful textual analysis of academic writing in different cultural contexts This book takes a textlinguistic approach and contrasts academic journal articles in a large and dominant culture Anglo American a small and peripheral one Finnish and the intercultural products of the small culture members writing in the dominant language Finns in English The results indicate that academics do have culture specific writing styles and that textlinguistic tools are crucial if we want to expand our understanding of written communication State of the Art TESOL Essays James E.

Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25

The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory s critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works
