

Testimony of witnesses in court

Memory gaps are filled and the questions are biased, leading, which means that we close with false elements and that is why the witnesses are not the so-called hard evidence in the case.

This cannot be the only evidence in the case.

Our memory is influenced by emotions

We want to meet the court or social requirements and we colorize it, but it is not a deliberate or negative procedure

Just being in court is stressful

As time passes, our memories fade but we feel confident with what we say and what we think we remember

Memory trace

We remember better events important for our life or full of clarity, e.g. the first times, but with time our memory is incomplete, unreliable

We also remember well the events that made us have certain consequences resulting from the decisions we made, we may not remember them at the beginning, but as we give emotional significance, we begin to strengthen the memory of this situation and its details

An extremely important aspect of emotions is shaping the relationship

Contempt, anger and shame have a negative effect on the relationship

Love and happiness have a correspondingly better influence

A positive mood or emotion supports remembering and we also judge others better

Giving judgments is making judgments what will I do now to make such a decision, we analyze the emotions we experience and what we know about the world

We focus on what a given person says, what a person looks like, what kind of environment we are in

We are more likely to trust a specialist when he is dressed and speaks the way we believe a specialist should

We believe more the person we trust, whom we like, for example, Mrs. Krysia, our neighbor

When we read arguments or messages in a cheerful or neutral voice, it is easier
