Culture Difference Power:

Cultural Differences and Improving Performance Bryan Hopkins,2016-04-22 One of the most significant and yet largely overlooked factors influencing performance and workplace problem solving in many large organizations is that of national culture Managers and the organizations for which they work need to be able to understand the influence of cultural values and beliefs on performance in order to identify appropriate solutions strategies appropriate in one part of the world may be ineffective or even counter productive in another Bryan Hopkins ground breaking book relates the concept of cultural dimensions as developed by writers such as Hofstede and Trompenaars to the performance engineering approaches of Gilbert and Mager and Pipe to show how strategies for solving workplace performance problems need to consider the cultural composition of the workforce It then provides a practical structure for problem solving within the context of an international multi cultural environment This is a book for both managers working in an international setting or for those in national organizations who are dealing with the challenge of culturally diverse workforces It s also a book for governments seeking to understand the potential implications of national culture on civilian or even military interventions The Geopolitics of Cultural Difference Rebecca Walsh,2004 Bridging Differences William B. Gudykunst,2003-08-11 Bridging Differences Effective Intergroup Communication is based on the assumption that the processes operating when we communicate with people from other groups are the same processes operating when we communicate with people from our own groups Author William B Gudykunst has written this book from the perspective of communicating with strangers and addresses how factors related to our group memberships e g inaccurate and unfavorable stereotypes of members of other cultures and ethnic groups can cause us to misinterpret the messages we receive from members of those groups Designed for students taking courses in Intercultural Communication or Intergroup Communication Bridging Differences is also useful for many courses in Cultural Studies Anthropology Sociology and Management Analysis of Cultural Differences and their Effects on Marketing Products in the United States of America and Germany: A Cultural Approach to Marketing using Edward T. Hall and Geert Hofstede Matthias Boeing,2013-06-01 Companies that do not adapt to the new global realities will become victims of those that do In this quote Theodor Levitt a former professor at the Harvard Business School points out that companies all over the world need to deal with a process which has changed the way they carry on a business in many ways The process namely globalisation takes advantages as well as disadvantages not only for the business world but also for the individual The importance to face globalisation has always been there but it has increased with the evolving stages of globalisation Ever since this process started companies have tried to derive advantage from globalisation while at the same time they had to deal with the disadvantages For marketers in particular this process seems to offer a lot of potential for the exploration of new markets and customers However the questions determining the success or failure of a marketing campaign are more complex than in domestic marketing Accordingly the terms international and global marketing are strongly connected to globalisation and have become a key factor for the success of companies. Corporations that want to belong to these successful multi-national companies (MNC) or global players certainly have to deal with the different issues that come along with marketing products in other countries. These can have a significant impact on international operations but also on the overall performance of a company. Since a company's approach to these issues determines the success or failure in marketing a product abroad, these situations have to be addressed at an early stage. Among others, cultural differences are one of the major obstacles that have to be considered in international marketing. Every culture has its own individual values, behaviours, ways of thinking, lifestyle, and language, which make it unique. Accordingly, companies have two different possibilities to deal with that process: At first, standardisation, an identical marketing plan is used across different cultures, and secondly, adaptation, appropriate adjustments are made to the special cultural environment of the target market. It is therefore important for a marketer to be aware of these differences and to use the right tools to advertise products successfully in multiple, varied cultural environments. This study provides a comprehensive framework of cultural differences in the USA and Germany and analyses how companies should conceive their Cross-Cultural Differences - Japanese and German Management Styles from the German Perspective Markus Richwien, 2002-08-07

Inhaltsangabe Abstract As the idea of Japan as a leader in management styles and the mythos of collectivism as a key to high quality performance and productivity is still in mind of German managers, this work tries to compare actual leadership styles of Japanese and German managers on the level of cultural dimensions. In the study, the sample consisted of 119 persons in middle management positions: 82 male and 37 female, 60 persons with work experience in Japan and 59 without experience. Participants were asked to complete a questionnaire regarding 52 leadership characteristics, e.g., the ability to assert oneself, to cooperate, or to delegate, within five cultural dimensions. Participants then rated the importance of this characteristic for the specific category. Findings of the study showed significant differences in experienced and estimated management styles between the countries, as well as significances regarding management traits of the German culture after working in Japan.

Mediation as a Tool for Overcoming Cultural Barriers in Negotiations. A Comparison between Germany, Brazil, France and Sweden Helena Alves,2018-03-26 Diploma Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Communications Intercultural Communication grade 1 7 course Diplomarbeit language English abstract The aim of this work is to investigate the role of culture in a cross cultural business encounter and to investigate the potential of mediation for these specific situations The results should help to reach an understanding and improvement of communication in these situations knowing that communication is one of the most vital manager's tasks that takes up between 50 and 90 % of a manager's time Therefore communication that is not disturbed by cultural misunderstandings is essential for the success of any cross cultural enterprise The first main part examines if there are any differences in the way that these nations approach business especially negotiations and if so the disclosed differences will be laid down and explained with an outlook on the cultural roots of these specific issues of behaviour The main focus rests on Germany as a starting point with which the other cultures will be compared Different approaches regarding research findings in the cultural field will be presented and applied to the particularities found in the named nations In the second main part mediation will be scrutinized as a possible tool to facilitate cross cultural negotiations It will be questioned whether mediation may be helpful in a cross cultural context which aspects of mediation can help to overcome the special barrier culture in negotiations working methods and which factors may have to be considered with special care in such a situation This will be done with a focus on the cultural dimensions presented in the first part In a next step cultural training will be briefly presented as a human resources tool that may help to prepare for a temporary stay abroad and for cooperation with members of other cultures For this different training methods will be explained In a conclusion the findings of this paper will be summarised specific advice for negotiations with the cultures under scrutiny will be given and a general checklist for cross cultural negotiations will be presented It must be stressed that this paper will not be an empirical work but concentrate on the analysis of the existing literature and partly resort to interviews carried out by the author In total this work should be an inducement for further research on the influence of culture on negotiations within Europe and the advantages that mediation can offer for cross cultural encounters

Globalization of marketing strategies in the light of segmentation and cultural diversity Tomislav Dalic, 2003-07-01 Seminar paper from the year 2001 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 8 Maastricht University course Comparative Management language English abstract lobalization is one of words used nowadays to describe the convergence of cultures Cultures are believed to move closer together as a result of increased travel better communication methods and enhanced transportation opportunities Hassan 1991 Companies try to anticipate this change by offering standardized products to a global audience Examples of global products are credit cards mobile phones automobiles food and beverages The Big Mac for example is a standardized products market globally that it is used by economists to measure the purchase power of different currencies the famous Big Mac Index Marketers face many challenges in this global village but one of the most interesting challenge is how far can standardization of marketing efforts be pursued Cultural differences are a logical barrier to standardization of the marketing strategies on a global scale As there are countless cultures on this planet there are also many different needs that must be satisfied by adapted marketing mixes Therefore standardization ignores the cultural differences for the sake of simplicity and cost savings The knowledge of cultures and the understanding of cultures is important to develop effective marketing strategies across cultures Simplifying cultures is done via segmentation Segmentation helps clustering groups of people that might respond in the same manner to specially adapted marketing strategies Segmentation plays a vital role in the process of standardizing marketing efforts It helps standardizing customer groups How far can companies go in standardizing their marketing efforts This topic is discussed by many authors as mentioned later in this article and represent a dilemma global companies face Either they simplify their marketing strategies to save costs but ignore cultural differences or they adapt their marketing strategies to local needs and incur rather high costs and high efforts The main problem this article investigates is how can the concept of culture be used to resolve the dilemma faced by global companies in standardizing or adapting their marketing efforts

Women in Leadership Positions in the People's Republic of China Maria Adnane,2020-06-02 Master s Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 7 Heilbronn University language English abstract Women are still significantly underrepresented in Top Management positions and leadership is still associated with the male gender as leadership theories traditionally focus on men This is especially evident in China which has one of the world s highest female labor participation but a female share of only eight percent on the corporate boards Although Chinese women s tertiary educational attainment is now equal to the tertiary education of Chinese men they still face many barriers on their way to the top The strong influence of Confucian values perceiving women as inferior to men remains noticeable until today and women find themselves exposed to a strongly patriarchal business environment As being traditionally the main care givers of their families they are deemed to be expensive potential mothers and thus gender preference can be observed second Classical leadership theories of the Western culture as well as of the Chinese culture are introduced to provide a common understanding of their approaches Further the situation of women in the past and of today is being compared as well as their leadership styles access to managerial leadership positions and the barriers they face Since educational attainment of both genders does not explain why women are rarely found on the upper managerial ranks other reasons that could be a barrier for women s career advancement are examined in this research
