1950s Scrapbook:

The 1950s Scrapbook, 2004 Covers every facet of the 1950s from rationing to rock and Extreme Collecting Graeme Were, J. C. H. King, 2012-03-01 By exploring the processes of collecting which challenge the bounds of normally acceptable practice this book debates the practice of collecting difficult objects from a historical and contemporary perspective and discusses the acquisition of objects related to war and genocide and those purchased from the internet as well as considering human remains mass produced objects and illicitly traded antiquities The aim is to apply a critical approach to the rigidity of museums in maintaining essentially nineteenth century ideas of collecting and to move towards identifying priorities for collection policies in museums which are inclusive of acquiring difficult objects Much of the book engages with the question of the limits to the practice of collecting as a means to think through the implementation of new strategies

Family and Community Life of Older People Miriam Bernard, Jim Ogg, Judith and Phillips, Chris Phillipson, 2002-09-11 Family life has changed rapidly over the past fifty years and the number of people living longer increases year on year Family and Community Life of Older People revisits three areas Bethnal Green in London Wolverhampton in the Midlands and Woodford in Essex which were the subject of classic studies in the late 1940s and 1950s and explores changes to the family and community lives of older people The book examines issues such as changes in household composition changes in the geographical proximity of kin and relatives the extent and type of help provided by the family contact and relationships with neighbours relationships with friends involvement in social and leisure activities experiences of minority ethnic groups These questions are explored through a unique set of data including census material and survey data from interviews with over 600 older people A key finding is that over the past 50 years we have moved from an old age experienced within the context of the family group to one shaped by personal communities in which friends may feature as significantly as immediate kin and relatives Family and Community Life of Older People is a major contribution to the sociology of the family of ageing and of urban life and points up the social policy issues for an ageing society

Illustration: A Theoretical and Contextual Perspective Alan Male, 2007-07-25 Successful forward thinking illustrators no longer operate the way many did and still do as merely colouring in technicians receiving briefs that are heavily directed and prescribed regarding content and overall visual concept Nowadays illustrators need to be educated socially and culturally aware communicators having knowledge understanding and insight regarding the context within which they are working the subject matter that they are engaged with and to be able professionals working within the parameters and needs of the market place and target audiences They need to utilise a breadth of intellectual and practical skills some that might once be regarded as transferable from other disciplines but are now considered essential if the illustrator has ambitions to transcend the basic role of commissioned hack This book introduces the concept of the illustrator as a specialist or authority on a particular subject or as an originator of either fiction and or non fiction material Examples include effective and creative written communication and authorship academic research art direction and design management The book focuses on illustration education and theory in particular the latter stages of undergraduate development and post graduate study and research such as theoretical and intellectual processes research and visual language Definitions and philosophies of what illustration is are also featured together with a relevant historical overview
