Architect Meets Architects:

When Architecture Meets Activism Roger Guy, 2016-11-22 This social history and community study documents the events surrounding the attempt by community members activists and VISTA architects to resist the planned construction of a community college in the neighborhood of Uptown The planner and architect are seldom envisioned as advocates for the urban poor However during the 1960s New Left planners and architects began working with marginalized groups in cities to design alternatives to urban renewal projects This was part of a national advocacy planning movement that was taking shape in urban areas like Chicago Inspired by critics of the Rational comprehensive model of planning advocacy planners opposed the imposition of projects on neighborhoods often with no collaboration from residents One example of this resistance was Hank Williams Village a multi purpose housing and commercial redevelopment project modeled after a southern town The Village was an attempt to prevent the displacement of thousands of southern whites by the planned construction of a community college in Chicago s Uptown neighborhood While the plan for the Village failed to win support of the local urban renewal board the work performed by the young VISTA architects became instrumental in their subsequent career trajectories and thus served as formative personal and professional experience

Applied Psychology of Architecture Karel Smejkal, 2022-01-01 The first book on the psychology of architecture During ten years the author met architects from more than 140 countries but there was not one among them who could answer the question of what is the psychology of architecture So he decided to return to university assemble a research team in Applied Psychology of Architecture and define and establish the entire discipline for the architectural community This book is the first answer to the the above question It is also the first book to summarize three years of research on the psychology of architecture Architects create our artificial environment They should therefore know those for whom they create it And they should also know themselves Karel Smejkal is a writer architect university teacher doctor of science and head of research in the psychology of buildings at the Department of Architecture of the Czech Technical University in Prague He is also a member of the American Institute of Architects AIA founder of Applied Psychology of Architecture founder and chairman of Czech Deco Team and co founder with V clav Havel and Bo ek pek and president of INSPIRELI AWARDS the world s largest student architectural competition
