Arguing With Derrida:

Arguing with Derrida Simon Glendinning, 2001 Special Issue: Arguing with Derrida John Cottingham, 2000

Debating Derrida Niall Lucy, 1995 Niall Lucy examines three key terms text writing and difference as they are used in three famous debates Derrida's disputes over speech acts with John R Searle over discourse with Michel Foucault and over apartheid Lucy also takes up the issue of Derrida's relationship to postmodernism and questions the political imperative of the need to justify philosophy and the humanities in general according to a notion of their usefulness Perfecting Justice in Rawls, Habermas and Honneth Miriam Bankovsky, 2012-02-23 Brings a deconstructive perspective to theories of justice in the early and later work of Rawls Habermas and Honneth Derrida Simon Glendinning, 2011-08-25 Jacques Derrida the French philosopher developed his critical technique known as deconstruction His work is associated with ideas surrounding both post structuralism and post modern philosophy and he was known to have challenged some of the unquestioned assumptions of our philosophical tradition In this Very Short Introduction Simon Glendinning explores both the difficulty and significance of the work of Derrida He presents Derrida's challenging ideas as making a significant contribution to and providing a powerful reading of our philosophical heritage Defending Derrida against many of the charges that were placed against him he attempts to show why Derrida's work causes such extreme reactions Glendinning explains Derrida's distinctive mode of engagement with our philosophical tradition and shows that this is not a merely negative thing By exploring his most famous and influential texts Glendinning shows how and why Derrida's work of deconstruction is inspired not by a critical frenzy but by a loving respect for philosophy ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Deliberative Theory and Deconstruction Gormley Steven Gormley, 2020-06-18 Our political climate is increasingly characterised by hostility towards constructed others Steven Gormley answers the question what does it mean to do justice to others He pursues this question by developing a critical but productive dialogue between deliberative theory and deconstruction Two key claims emerge from this First doing justice to the other demands that we maintain an ethos of interruption And secondly Such an ethos requires a democratic form of politics In developing this account Gormley places deliberative theory and deconstruction into critical conversation with the work of Mouffe Aristotle Rorty Laclau and different traditions of critical theory Method in Metaphysics Andrew Beards, 2008-01-01 Andrew Beards shows how Lonergan's philosophy can help to clarify not only particular issues in current debates but also the larger question of a basic method Jacques Derrida and the Challenge of History Sean Gaston, 2018-11-23 This important new book argues that Jacques Derrida's work can be treated as the basis for a distinctive historiography The possibility of seeing Derrida not as a philosopher of language but as a philosopher of history has become more apparent with the recent publication of Derrida's 1964-1965 seminar Heidegger: The Question of Being and History. We now know that the problem of history was at the heart of Derrida's writing in the mid-1960s prior to the publication of his best known work Of Grammatology (1967). Arguing that Derrida's scholarship in the 1960s and early 1970s on historicism, historicity, and the problem of history can be treated as the basis for a philosophy of history, Sean Gaston focuses on Derrida's work from the mid-1970s to the mid-1990s and his relentless questioning of context, memory, and narrative as the delineation of a deconstructive historiography. The book raises a challenge for historians to think about both deconstruction and historiography, arguing that contemporary philosophy can provide a basis for thinking about history in the name of a deconstructive historiography that is not incompatible with rigorous historical scholarship. From Bakunin to Lacan Saul Newman, 2007-01-01. In its comparison of anarchist and poststructuralist thought, From Bakunin to Lacan contends that the most pressing political problem we face today is the proliferation and intensification of power. Saul Newman targets the tendency of radical political theories and movements to reaffirm power and authority in different guises in their very attempt to overcome it. In his examination of thinkers such as Bakunin, Lacan, Stirner, and Foucault, Newman explores important epistemological, ontological, and political questions: Is the essential human subject the point of departure from which power and authority can be opposed? Or is the humanist subject itself a site of domination that must be unmasked? As it deftly charts this debate's paths of emergence in political thought, the book illustrates how the question of essential identities defines and redefines the limits and possibilities of radical politics today.

The End of Knowledge in Higher Education Ronald Barnett, Anne Griffin, 1997. This study questions whether it is possible to identify a justified, secure, and coherent base for our knowledge of the world and of ourselves. Science no longer enjoys an unquestioned pre-eminence in providing objective knowledge, and the social improvement brought about through rational thought has been recently attacked by postmodernism. Higher education is therefore placed in a precarious position based as it is on the acquisition of knowledge and understanding. This book explores the various dimensions of this crisis of confidence in science and higher education, showing how thinkers in the various disciplines are reacting to this challenge and how they are re-evaluating the basis of their forms of enquiry.

Derrida Christina Howells, 2013-04-24. This book is an unusually readable and lucid account of the development of Derrida's work from his early writings on phenomenology and structuralism to his most recent interventions in debates on psychoanalysis, ethics, and politics. Christina Howells gives a clear explanation of many of the key terms of deconstruction, including différance, trace, supplement, and logocentrism, and shows how they function in Derrida's writing. She explores his critique of the notion of self-presence through his engagement with Husserl and his critique of humanist conceptions of the subject through an account of his ambivalent and evolving relationship to the philosophy of Sartre. The question of the relationship between philosophy and literature is examined through an analysis of the texts of the 1970s and, in particular, Glas, where Derrida confronts Hegel's totalizing dialectics with the fragmentary and iconoclastic writings of Jean

Genet The author addresses directly the vexed questions of the extreme difficulty of Derrida's own writing and of the passionate hostility it arouses in philosophers as diverse as Searle and Habermas She argues that deconstruction is a vital stimulus to vigilance in both the ethical and political spheres contributing significantly to debate on issues such as democracy the legacy of Marxism responsibility and the relationship between law and justice Comprehensive cogently argued and up to date this book will be an invaluable text for students and scholars alike Derrida's Of Grammatology Arthur Bradley, 2008 Jacques Derrida's Of Grammatology is essential reading for anyone interested in contemporary philosophy literary theory and intellectual history Arthur Bradley's guide proves clear careful and sober commentary to explicate this pathbreaking work Suitable for readers at all levels and in all disciplines this guide is a welcome resource for understanding this key text Current Continental Theory and Modern Philosophy Stephen Daniel, 2005 Publisher Description Derrida Christopher Norris, 1987 Jacques Derrida is undoubtedly the single most influential figure in current Anglo American literary theory Yet many scholars and students not to mention general readers would be hard put to give an account of Derrida's own writings A.U.M.L.A., 1990 Approaches to Marx Mark Cowling, Lawrence Wilde, 1989

Symposium - Société Canadienne Pour L'herméneutique Et la Pensée Postmoderne, 2003 The Poetics of Resistance Michael Roth, 1996 The Poetics of Resistance Heidegger's Line is a well informed carefully written and detailed treatment of the political implications of Heidegger's philosophy in its Derridean acceptance It argues that what Heidegger calls poetic dwelling an element of Heidegger's later thinking often ignored by his more vehement critics is at once disruptive of the smooth functioning of technology and community founding To engage in such thoughtful poetic dwelling is to cross the line Roth argues with Derrida against Heidegger that crossing this line is not a move into irrationalism to say nothing of National Socialism and he argues with Heidegger against Derrida that crossing the line successful resistance is possible Grounded in the classics of German scholarship but reaching out to its creative appropriation in postmodernism The Poetics of Resistance makes an important and timely contribution to the recuperation of a political philosophy from postmodernity Narrative Explanation Jon-K. Adams, 1996 Proceedings of a 1991 conference held in Hong Kong Essays by health care practitioners and scholars from five continents offers insight and analysis of current problems and programs delivering health care to the elderly Topics discussed include legal concerns cultural differences social contexts and an international comparison of medical practices Lacks an index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR
