Computers In Educational Administration:

Computers in Educational Administration John R. Ray, Lloyd D. Davis, 1991 The Use of Computers in Educational Administration Gary H. Pagliughi, 1980 Information Technology in Educational Management Ben-Zion Barta, Y. Gev, Gili Telem, 2013-06-29 Educational institutions in which administrators managers and teachers will be working in the late 1990 s will be far different from those of today Schools which until recently were lagging behind in the implementation of information technology IT in their administration and management are now attempting to close the gap A massive and rapid computerization process in schools school districts and throughout the other levels of the educational system including universities has made computers an integral part of the educational management scene A computer on the desk of every educational management staff might become a reality in the near future The term IT includes three main components hardware software mainly management information systems MIS decision support systems DSS and human factors Presently successful implementation depends on adequate software and on human factors MIS DSSs are being implemented with the aim of providing meaningful support for school employees in their daily activities and to improve their performance effectiveness and efficiency Much like at universities usable and accessible school databases are being established encompassing data on students teachers employees classrooms grade levels courses student achievements and behavior school space curriculum finance inventory transportation etc Computers in Educational Administration Today and Tomorrow R Wallace Ewart, 1977 Computers for Educational Administrators Greg Kearsley, 1990 Computers now play an important role in the teacher s perspective this work focuses on the needs of the school administrator It addresses the competencies needed by a school administrator principal superintendent supervisor to manage and implement computing activities Topics covered include a perspective on the use of computers in education administrative applications including budgeting scheduling and guidance among others use of applications software cost benefits evaluating hardware and software alternatives preparing implementation plans networking and telecommunications and trends and future developments in administrative computing Administrative Uses of Computers in the Schools Harry P. Bluhm, 1987 Computers in School Administration Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory, Tecnica Education Corporation, 1971 Information Technology in Educational Management for the Schools of the Future A. Fung, A.J. Visscher, Ben-Zion Barta, David Teather, 2013-03-09 This book is for both specialist and generalist For Information Technology IT and Educational Management EM researchers it brings together the latest information and analysis of ITEM projects in eleven countries But the issues raised by this collection of papers are so important for schools school systems and the future of education that it is essential reading not only for researchers but also for teachers administrators and all concerned with the planning and governance of our education systems New technologies may improve our lives in two ways by enabling us to do things better accomplishing what we do already more efficiently and by enabling us to do better things accomplishing new things that we were not able to do before Sometimes doing things better merges into doing better things Thus in the 19th century the coming of the railway enabled our forbears to accomplish their existing journies in less time and in greater comfort But it also opened up the prospect of new journies to more distant places and led ultimately to far reaching changes in lifestyles in new commuter settlements far from the old city centres So it is in the present day with Information Technology in Educational Management Some of the papers in this volume focus on specialist tasks for example how to develop a computer based decision support system to help those drawing up school timetables Others address situations in which the power of the technology offers us the potential to change radically what we do

Computer Applications to Educational Administration in Developed Countries John Lintott,1987

Information Technology in Educational Management A.J. Visscher,P. Wild,A. Fung,2001-07-31 Although a few books are available on the use of computers in the school office this book is the first one addressing the topic of computer assisted school information systems SISs for an international audience based on both practical and scientific international collaborative research This book analyzes the nature of SISs their intended benefits and history presents the development strategies and the characteristics of three SISs that are widely used in various parts of the world reviews what has been learned from the research over the last decade to inform successful design and implementation of SISs presents exciting perspectives on the future of SISs from experts vendors and users and reflects on what needs to be done to promote the full utilization of SISs by clerical and managerial school staff through better system design user support and continuing research The book has been written for an international audience of students researchers system designers and implementers practitioners and policy makers in developing as well as in developed countries It will also be of benefit to professionals in the field of school administration and school management to help them promote better use of SIS in their own context by learning from the experience of others

Educational Leadership and Planning for Technology Anthony G. Picciano,2002 Technology in schools has evolved from the predominance of stand alone computers to a blend of computer media communications and other forms of technology dominated by the ubiquitous Internet and World Wide Web In addition K 12 education has evolved into a much more outcomes driven enterprise that depends upon technology and data to perform many of its basic functions This book provides educators with both the theoretical and the practical considerations for planning and implementing technology in today s schools with an emphasis on the total application of technology including both administrative and instructional uses Designed for pre service and in service educators such as administrators teachers technology coordinators and media specialists this fifth edition text builds a strong foundation from which educators may provide informed leadership and become agents for realizing the powerful potential of technology in their schools
