Architecture For An Embryologic Housing:

Architecture for an Embryologic Housing Greg Lynn, Analogical Thinking in Architecture Jean-Pierre Chupin, 2023-07-27 This book provides an in depth exploration of the rich and persistent use of analogical thinking in the built environment Since the turn of the 21st century design thinking has permeated many fields outside of the design disciplines It is expected to succeed whenever disciplinary boundaries need to be transcended in order to think outside the box This book argues that these qualities have long been supported by analogical thinking an agile way of reasoning in which think the unknown through the familiar The book is organized into four case studies the first reviews analogical models that have been at the heart of design thinking representations from the 1960s to the present day the second investigates the staying power of biological analogies the third explores the paradoxical imaginary of analogous cities as a means of integrating contemporary architecture with heritage contexts while the fourth unpacks the critical and theoretical potential of linguistic metaphors and visual comparisons in architectural discourse Comparing views on the role of analogies and metaphors by prominent voices in architecture and related disciplines from the 17th century to the present the book shows how the analogical world of the project is revealed as a wide open field of creative and cognitive interactions These visual and textual operations are explained through 36 analogical plates which can be read as an inter text demonstrating how analogy has the power to reconcile design and theories

Architecture After Deleuze and Guattari Chris L. Smith, 2023-05-04 This study illuminates the complex interplay between Deleuze and Guattari s philosophy and architecture Presenting their wide ranging impact on late 20th and 21st century architecture each chapter focuses on a core Deleuzian Guattarian philosophical concept and one key work of architecture which evokes contorts or extends it Challenging the idea that a concept or theory defines and then produces the physical work and not vice versa Chris L Smith positions the relationship between Deleuze and Guattari s philosophy and the field of architecture as one that is mutually substantiating and constitutive In this framework modes of architectural production and experimentation become inextricable from the conceptual territories defined by these two key thinkers producing a rigorous discussion of theoretical practical and experimental engagements with their ideas

Soft Living Architecture Rachel Armstrong, 2018-09-06 Soft Living Architecture explores the invention of new architectures based on living processes It crafts a unique intersection between two fast developing disciplines biomimicry and biodesign in architecture and bioinformatics and natural computing in the natural sciences This is the first book to examine both the theory and methodology of architecture and design working directly with the natural world It explores a range of approaches from the use of life like systems in building design to the employment of actual growing and living cell and tissue cultures as architectural materials creating architecture that can change learn and grow with us The use of living architecture is cutting edge and speculative yet it is also inspiring a growing number of designers worldwide to adopt alternative perspectives on sustainability and environmental design The book examines the ethical and theoretical issues arising alongside case studies of experimental practice to explore what we mean by natural in the Anthropocene and raise deep questions about the nature of design and the design of nature This provocative and at times controversial book shows why it will become ever more necessary to embrace living processes in architecture if we are to thrive in a sustainable future Architecture, 2003

Contemporary Processes in Architecture Ali Rahim, 2000-11 Yesterday s working methods are no longer adequate for architectural practice The neo avant garde architects are now arguing for contemporary processes that are as dynamic and fluid as the way we live and think with the same intensity as such intangible forces as the global market and the Internet For any process to be truly creative in the generative sense we must condition an environment where new rules engage and inspire us Models of design need to be created that are capable of consistently transforming and evolving keeping pace with today s rate of change This issue of Architectural Design explores how contemporary processes in the pursuit of creativity and fluidity have become more abstract and experimental attempting to overcome the pragmatic determinism attributed to more conventional working methods It explores the work of architects who design with generative potentials force fields and conceptual diagrams developed with the aid of high end computer software packages Through elucidating texts and the potent imagery of process many of the projects are illustrated stage by stage it effectively promises that a revolution is about to happen in the
