Architecture Time And Eternity:

Architecture, Time and Eternity Adrian Snodgrass,1990 This is a study of the stellar and temporal symbolism of traditional buildings It is a comprehensive work that spans from the generalities of ymbolism of time in general to the temporal symbolism in Indian Greek Roman Near Eastern Christian Chinese Islamic North American Indian African South American Indian and Mesoamerican architectures Google Books Architecture, Time and Eternity ,1990 Charles Robert Cockerell, Architect in Time Anne Bordeleau,2016-04-15 Speed acceleration and rapid change characterize our world and as we design and construct buildings that are to last at least a few decades and sometimes even centuries how can architecture continue to act as an important cultural signifier Focusing on how an important nineteenth century architect addressed the already shifting relation between architecture time and history this book offers insights on issues still relevant today the struggle between imitation and innovation the definition or rejection of aesthetic experience the grounds of architectural judgment who decides and how or fundamentally how to act i e build when there is no longer a single grand narrative but a plurality of possible histories Six drawings provide the foundation of an itinerary through Charles Robert Cockerell s conception of architecture and into the depths of drawings and buildings Born in England in 1788 Cockerell sketched as a Grand Tourist he charted architectural history as Royal Academy Professor he drew to build to exhibit to understand the past and to learn from it publishing his last work in 1860 three years before his death Under our scrutiny his drawings become thresholds into the nineteenth century windows into the architect s conception of architecture and time complex documents of past and projected constructions great examples that reveal a kinetic approach to ornamentation and the depth of architectural representation The Tuning of Place Richard Coyne,2010-03-26 How pervasive digital devices smartphones iPods GPS navigation systems and their networks us formulate a sense of place and refine social relationships How do pervasive digital devices smartphones iPods GPS navigation systems and cameras among others influence the way we use spaces In The Tuning of Place Richard Coyne argues that these ubiquitous devices and the networks that support them become the means of making incremental adjustments within spaces of tuning place Pervasive media help us formulate a sense of place writes Coyne through their capacity to introduce small changes in the same way that tuning a musical instrument invokes the subtle process of recalibration Places are inhabited spaces populated by people their concerns memories stories conversations encounters and artifacts The tuning of place whereby people use their devices in their interactions with one another is also a tuning of social relations The range of ubiquity is vast from the familiar phones and hand held devices through RFID tags smart badges dynamic signage microprocessors in cars and kitchen appliances wearable computing and prosthetics to devices still in development Rather than catalog achievements and predictions Coyne offers a theoretical framework for discussing pervasive media that can inform developers designers and users as they contemplate interventions into the environment Processes of tuning can lead to consideration of themes highly relevant to pervasive computing intervention calibration wedges habits rhythm tags taps tactics thresholds aggregation noise and interference Architecture's Appeal Marc Neveu, Negin Djavaherian, 2015-02-11 This collection of previously unpublished essays from a diverse range of well known scholars and architects builds on the architectural tradition of phenomenological hermeneutics as developed by Dalibor Vesely and Joseph Rykwert and carried on by David Leatherbarrow Peter Carl and Alberto Perez Gomez Taking an interdisciplinary approach and drawing on ideas from beyond the architectural canon contributors including Kenneth Frampton David Leatherbarrow Juhani Pallasmaa Karsten Harries Steven Holl Indra Kagis McEwen Paul Emmons and Louise Pelletier offer new insights and perspectives on questions such as the following Given the recent fascination with all things digital and novel what is the role of history and theory in contemporary architectural praxis Is authentic meaning possible in a technological environment that is so global and interconnected What is the nature and role of the architect in our shared modern world How can these questions inform a new model of architectural praxis Architecture's Appeal is a thought provoking book which will inspire further scholarly inquiry and act as a basis for discussion in the wider field as well as graduate seminars in architectural theory and history Time for Architecture Robert Adam, 2020-02-24

Using time as a unifying theme this book critically analyses many of the key concepts in modern architecture and urban design such as modernity innovation timelessness and sustainability Drawing on the statements of contemporary architects and with reference to a wide range of sources from history philosophy sociology and anthropology as well as studies in diverse subjects such as science fiction colonialism and archaeology the text provides a new perspective on much of the thinking behind contemporary design In addition it develops original and practical theories on the meanings of modernity the variable ageing of the environment the central role of longevity in sustainability the significance of authenticity in conservation and the relationship between collective memory and tradition Indian Architectural Theory Vibhuti Chakrabarti, 1999 In this ground breaking study the traditional Indian science of architecture and house building Vatsa Vidya is explored in terms of its secular uses at the levels of both theory and contemporary practice The Theosophist, 1928
