Marc Coenen explores the conscious and unconscious ways our brain processes information on a fireground. Following a fatal fire in Beringen, Coenen had to face the fire's lasting impact. He began devouring works of philosophers, scientists, historians, geneticists, molecular neurobiologists, behavioral biologists and psychologists that deal with the various aspects of decision making under time pressure. One way or the other, this fire officer had to make sense of that tragic fire and uncover its anatomy. Understanding how our predictive brain operates in normal circumstances is important, but knowing how it works under challenging conditions is critical for everyone, as actions, thoughts and feelings are directed by the unconscious more than you might think. This book is a must-read for anyone interested in the science and psychology behind fires. Airman's Information Manual, 1973 Special Investigation Report United States.
