Climate Change Issues:

Water and Food Security in the Face of Climate Change: Challenges and Opportunities for Resilience Salem

Al-Naemi, Rachid Benlamri, Walter Leal Filho, Jeffrey McDonnell, Rehan Sadiq, Haruna Musa Moda, 2025-11-15 This book addresses critical issues that align seamlessly with sustainability strategies. Extreme weather events including increasingly frequent and severe droughts and floods are now a global reality. Climate change poses a significant threat to both water and food security driven by the rising temperatures that intensify the demand for water in crop cultivation. This crisis is further exacerbated by declining river runoff, reduced aquifer recharge, diminished inflows, heightened salinity, and rising sea levels, all of which present formidable challenges to water management. Consequently, the livelihoods of rural communities and the food security of urban populations are in imminent danger due to water-related impacts stemming primarily from climate variability. The implementation of sustainable adaptation measures to address climate variability and promote enhanced land and water management practices has vast potential for fortifying resilience in both water and food security challenges. Therefore, the pivotal step in crafting policies to tackle these challenges lies in comprehensively assessing the impact of climate change on water resources and agricultural systems. Closely aligning these policies will not only enhance the resilience of agricultural systems against future impacts but also contribute significantly to the meeting of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). To empower water resource management services for the future demands, it is imperative that we re-evaluate existing approaches to managing, mobilizing, and safeguarding this finite resource in the arid and semi-arid regions. This calls for the introduction of innovative technologies that facilitate integrated resource management and prevention. It is a premier platform for academics, researchers, students, policymakers, and stakeholders from government, industry, and society to explore pioneering ideas, techniques, and tools aimed at addressing the global impacts of climate change while concurrently reinforcing resilience in water and food security. 107-1 Hearing: National Energy Issues, S. Hrg. 107-144 (Pt. 3), July 19, 2001, July 24, 2001, July 25, 2001, July 26, 2001, 2001 Climate Change Challenges and Adaptations at Farm-level Naveen P Singh, Cynthia Bantilan, Kattarkandi Byjesh, Swamikannu

Nedumaran, 2015-11-25 This book emphasizes the role of farm-level adaptation as a key in developmental pathways that are challenged by climate risks in the semi-arid tropics of Asia and Africa. It throws light on key issues that arise in farm-level impacts, adaptation, and vulnerability to climate change and discusses Q2 methodological approaches undertaken in study domains of Asia and Africa. The book systematically describes the perceptions, aspirations, as elicited, voiced by the farmers and identifies determinants of adaptation decisions. Chapters identify constraints and opportunities that are translated into indicative intervention recommendations towards climate-resilient farm households in the semi-arid tropics of Asia and Africa. Furthermore, it discusses with evidences that contribute to the development of livelihood strategy for poor farmers in Asia, Bangladesh, India, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Vietnam, and China, and Africa, Burkina Faso, Niger, Kenya, and Ghana. India III:

Nishioka, Shūzō Nishioka, Hiroyuki Tamura, 2002 Environmental issues is one of the significantly important subjects to be solved on a global scale for attaining sustainable developments in the new century. A major feature of environmental issues is that studies on environments are interdisciplinary and should deal with complex and heterogeneous systems which include chemical, physical, and biological phenomena and further socio-economical activities and technology developments for energy saving and CO₂ emission reduction. The workshop provided the forum for presentation of new developments in the important interdisciplinary field of environmental systems involving the application of concepts, methods, and techniques of modeling and control. The aim was to review state-of-the-art systems and control approaches, exchange new results in interdisciplinary fields, and look at feasible developments to the future. The scope of this workshop covered various aspects of systems and control approaches to environmental issues: Environmental assessment; Systems approaches to environmental management and strategies; Modeling of global warming and impact analysis on socio-structure; Modeling of ecological systems; Control and optimization of environmental quantities; System reform and integration for environments; Advanced control technology for reduction of energy consumption and CO₂ emission; Cogeneration systems; Control systems approaches to clean energy; Fuel cells and their applications; Systems integration technologies in urban planning; Systems modeling and data analysis in life cycle assessment; Manufacturing in symbiosis with environments; Modeling and control of waste incineration plant; Water quality control and waste water management; Other related topics.
