Dessa Rose:

Dessa Rose Sherley Anne Williams, 1987 The heart warming saga of a slave's flight to freedom Dessa Rosa provides a rich compelling story of a pregnant slave condemned to die for a murderous act of rebellion History and Memory in African-American Culture Genevieve Fabre Professor of American Literature University of Paris, Robert O'Meally Professor of English and African-American Studies Columbia University, 1994-10-29 As Nathan Huggins once stated altering American history to account fully for the nation's black voices would change the tone and meaning the frame and the substance of the entire story Rather than a sort of Pilgrim's Progress tale of bold ascent and triumph American history with the black parts told in full would be transmuted into an existential tragedy closer Huggins said to Sartre's No Exit than to the vision of life in Bunyan The relation between memory and history has received increasing attention both from historians and from literary critics In this volume a group of leading scholars has come together to examine the role of historical consciousness and imagination in African American culture The result is a complex picture of the dynamic ways in which African American historical identity constantly invents and transmits itself in literature art oral documents and performances Each of the scholars represented has chosen a different site of memory from a variety of historical and geographical points and from different ideological theoretical and artistic perspectives Yet the book is unified by a common concern with the construction of an emerging African American cultural memory The renowned group of contributors including Hazel Carby Werner Sollors Veve Clark Catherine Clinton and Nellie McKay among others consists of participants of the five year series of conferences at the DuBois Institute at Harvard University from which this collection originated Conducted under the leadership of Genevieve Fabre Melvin Dixon and the late Nathan Huggins the conferences and as a result this book represent something of a cultural moment themselves and scholars and students of American and African American literature and history will be richer as a result

The Concise Oxford Companion to African American Literature William L. Andrews, Frances Smith Foster, Trudier Harris, 2001-02-15 A breathtaking achievement this

Concise Companion is a suitable crown to the astonishing production in African American literature and criticism that has swept over American literary studies in the last two decades. It offers an enormous range of writers from Sojourner Truth to Frederick Douglass from Zora Neale Hurston to Ralph Ellison and from Toni Morrison to August Wilson. It contains entries on major works including synopses of novels such as Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl, Richard Wright's Native Son and Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun. It also incorporates information on literary characters such as Bigger Thomas, Coffin Ed Johnson, Kunta Kinte, Sula, Peace, as well as on character types such as Aunt Jemima, Brer Rabbit, John Henry, Stackolee, and the trickster. Icons of black culture are addressed including vivid details about the lives of Muhammad Ali, John Coltrane, Marcus Garvey, Jackie Robinson, John Brown, and Harriet Tubman. Here too are general articles on poetry, fiction, and drama on autobiography, slave narratives, Sunday School literature, and oratory, as well as on a wide spectrum of related topics. Compact yet thorough, this handy volume gathers works from a vast array of sources from the black periodical press to women's clubs, making it one of the most substantial guides available on the growing, exciting world of African American literature.

The Freedom to Remember Angelyn Mitchell, 2002. The Freedom to Remember examines contemporary literary revisions of slavery in the United States by black women writers. The narratives at the center of this book include Octavia E. Butler's Kindred, Sherley Anne Williams's Dessa, Rose, Toni Morrison's Beloved, J. California Cooper's Family, and Lorene Cary's The Price of a Child. Recent studies have investigated these works only from the standpoint of victimization. Angelyn Mitchell changes the conceptualization of these narratives, focusing on the theme of freedom, not slavery, defining these works as liberatory narratives. These works create a space to problematize the slavery/freedom dichotomy from which contemporary black women writers have the safe vantage point to reveal aspects of enslavement that their ancestors could not examine. The nineteenth-century female emancipatory narrative, by contrast, was written to aid the cause of abolition by revealing the unspeakable realities of slavery. Mitchell shows how the liberatory narrative functions to emancipate its readers from the legacies of slavery in American society by facilitating a deeper discussion of the issues and by making them new through illumination and interrogation.

History and Memory in African-American Culture Genevieve Fabre, Robert O'Meally, 1994-12-08. As Nathan Huggins once stated, altering American history to account fully for the nation's black voices would change the tone and meaning, the frame and the substance of the entire story. Rather than a sort of Pilgrim's Progress tale of bold ascent and triumph, American history with the black parts told in full would be transmuted into an existential tragedy closer to Sartre's No Exit than to the vision of life in Bunyan. The relation between memory and history has received increasing attention both from historians and from literary critics. In this volume, a group of leading scholars has come together to examine the role of historical consciousness and imagination in African American culture. The result is a complex picture of the dynamic ways in which African American historical identity constantly invents and transmits itself in literature, art, oral documents, and performances. Each of the scholars represented has chosen a different site of memory from a variety of historical and geographical points and from different ideological theoretical and artistic perspectives Yet the book is unified by a common concern with the construction of an emerging African American cultural memory The renowned group of contributors including Hazel Carby Werner Sollors V v Clark Catherine Clinton and Nellie McKay among others consists of participants of the five year series of conferences at the DuBois Institute at Harvard University from which this collection originated Conducted under the leadership of Genevi ve Fabre Melvin Dixon and the late Nathan Huggins the conferences and as a result this book represent something of a cultural moment themselves and scholars and students of American and African American literature and history will be richer as a result

Engendering Rationalities Nancy Tuana, Sandra Morgen, 2001-09-27 Cutting edge feminist investigations of rationality Contours, 2005

Black Women Writers and the American Neo-Slave Narrative Elizabeth A. Beaulieu, 1999-03-30 The neo slave narrative is an important development in American literary history and has serious revisionist intentions at its foundation This book examines how contemporary African American women writers have shaped the genre These authors have written neo slave narratives to reinscribe history from the perspective of the African American woman most specifically the nineteenth century enslaved mother The writers considered in this study Sherley Anne Williams Toni Morrison J California Cooper Gayl Jones and Octavia Butler explore American slavery through the lens of gender both to interrogate the myth that enslaved women denied the privilege of having a gender identity by the institution of slavery were in fact genderless and to celebrate the acts of resistance which enabled enslaved women to mother in the fullest sense of the term The volume begins with an overview of historical representations of slavery in America from the slave narrative itself to the revisionist scholarship of the 1960s The book then examines several individual neo slave narratives such as Margaret Walker s Jubilee 1966 Williams Dessa Rose 1986 Morrison s Beloved 1987 Cooper s Family 1991 Jones Corregidora 1975 and Butler s Kindred 1979 What the women in these novels have in common is the fact that they mother what the writers have in common is a tendency to utilize subversive strategies such as reversal blurring and the creation of myth to dramatize gender identity and to highlight the varied nature of motherhood as enslaved women experienced it The final chapter evaluates the influence of the neo slave narrative on American literature in general and on popular perceptions and misperceptions of African American women

The Utopian Aesthetics of Three African American Women (Toni Morrison, Gloria Naylor, Julie Dash) Heike Raphael-Hernandez, 2008 This work offers a connection between the concrete utopian theory of hope by the Gennan Jewish philosopher Ernst Bloch and the literary productions of contemporary

African American women writers The study argues that these literary texts should be read as concrete utopias outlined in Bloch s major work The Principle of Hope Bloch argues that when people become consciously aware of the dialectical tendencies in concrete utopias will they recognize the possibilities first for their own personal empowerment and then for their communities As a result of their conscious awareness readers will be able to perceive the visions of the texts and will begin to actively dream of becoming agents for change themselves The study claims that most texts by contemporary African American women writers such as Alice Walker Toni Cade Bambara Gloria Naylor Ntozake Shange Toni Morrison Gayl Jones Paule Marshall Sherley Anne Williams Bebe Moore Campbell and Terry McMillan provide concrete utopian visions An application of Bloch s theory to these writers enriches a reading of their texts and demonstrates that art is the medium that will remind people of their constant never ending responsibility for personal agency MAWA Review ,1989 Into Darkness Peering Elisabeth Leonard, Anne Leonard, 1997-07-30 Unlike many classic works of fiction literature of the fantastic enjoys mass popularity Because the fantastic is so much a part of popular culture fantasy literature can represent or address the racial attitudes of its audience Representations of race in the fantastic provide a measure of the concern the culture has for racial matters If a work is racist whether consciously or not it may perpetuate racist attitudes unless it is carefully examined At the same time literature of the fantastic is able to present possible worlds rather than real ones It is thus a literature of possibility in which racial matters may be addressed and exposed so that readers may become more conscious of the evils of racist attitudes This volume explores the significance of race and color in the works of a wide range of authors including Octavia Butler Robert Heinlein Stephen King and Robert Silverberg This volume explores the significance of race and color in the works of a wide range of authors including Octavia Butler Joseph Conrad Ursula Le Guin Robert Heinlein Stephen King and Robert Silverberg The chapters are written by expert contributors who approach their topics as both products of a particular cultural moment and as imagined alternatives While most of the works examined are science fiction the book also looks at horror and fantasy writing Topics discussed include colonialism and empire Creole identity politics race in cyberspace and witchcraft in Salem Victims and Heroes Jerry H.
