Architecture Animals:

Animal Architecture Paul Dobraszczyk, 2023-05-17 A provocative call for architects to remember and embrace the nonhuman lives that share our spaces A spider spinning its web in a dark corner Wasps building a nest under a roof There is hardly any part of the built environment that can't be inhabited by nonhumans and yet we are extremely selective about which animals we keep in or out This book imagines new ways of thinking about architecture and the more than human and asks how we might design with animals and the other lives that share our spaces in mind Animal Architecture is a provocative exploration of how to think about building in a world where humans and other animals are already entangled whether we acknowledge it or not

Animal Architecture Michael Henry Hansell, 2005-01-27 Construction behaviour occurs across the entire spectrum of the animal kingdom and affects the survival of both builders and other organisms associated with them Animal Architecture provides a comprehensive overview of the biology of animal building The book recognizes three broad categories of built structure homes traps and courtship displays Even though some of these structures are complex and very large the behaviour required to build them is generally simple and the anatomy for building unspecialized Standardization of building materials helps to keep building repertoires simple while self organizing effects help create complexity In a case study approach to function insects demonstrate how homes can remain operational while they grow spiderwebs illustrate mechanical design and the displays of bowerbirds raise the possibility of persuasion through design rather than just decoration Studies of the costs to builders provide evidence of optimal designs and of trade offs with other life history traits As ecosystem engineers the influence of builders is extensive and their effect is generally to enhance biodiversity through niche construction Animal builders can therefore represent model species for the study of the emerging subject of environmental inheritance Building and in particular building with silk has been demonstrated to have important evolutionary consequences This book is intended for students and researchers in comparative animal biology but will also be of relevance and use to the increasing numbers of architects and civil engineers interested in developing ideas from the animal kingdom

Built by Animals Mike Hansell, 2007-10-18 From termite mounds that in relative terms are three times as tall as a skyscraper to the elaborate nests of social birds and the deadly traps of spiders the constructions of the animal world can amaze and at times humble our own engineering and technology But how do creatures with such small brains build these complex structures What drives them to do it Which skills are innate and which learned Here Mike Hansell looks at the extraordinary structures that animals build whether homes traps or courtship displays and reveals the biology behind their behaviour He shows how small brained animals achieve complex feats in a small brained way by repeating many simple actions and using highly evolved self secreted materials On the other hand the building feats or tool use of large brained animals such as humans or chimps require significantly more complex and costly behaviour We look at wasp's nests leaf cutting ants caddisflies and amoebae and even the extraordinary bower bird who seduces his mate with a decorated pile of twigs baubles feathers and berries Hansell explores how animal structures evolved over time how insect societies emerge how animals can alter their wider habitat and even whether some animals have an aesthetic sense

Animal Symbolism in Ecclesiastical Architecture Edward Payson Evans,1896 Popular Dictionary of Architecture and the Allied Arts William Audsley,George Ashdown Audsley,1881 Sacred Animals Vivian Brooks,AI,2025-03-06 Sacred Animals explores the intriguing connection between religion biology and culture through the lens of animal symbolism It examines how various faiths perceive animals assigning spiritual meanings that shape human interactions with the natural world For instance certain animals recur in religious texts bearing profound symbolic weight and their roles in creation myths vary widely across cultures Understanding these relationships reveals fundamental beliefs about humanity s place in the ecosystem The book begins by establishing a historical and cross cultural context tracing the origins of animal symbolism in early religions and their evolution across societies Subsequent chapters delve into specific animals such as cattle in Hinduism or serpents in Judeo Christian traditions analyzing their biological characteristics alongside their cultural representations This approach provides a holistic understanding of how animals function as symbols totems and even deities It highlights how the religious significance of animals provides a unique lens through which to understand human cultures ethical frameworks and the ongoing dialogue between humanity and the natural world Ultimately Sacred Animals addresses the ethical implications of these beliefs including animal welfare environmental ethics and biodiversity conservation within religiously significant landscapes By drawing on textual analysis archaeological findings and scientific research the book offers a balanced accessible exploration suitable for anyone interested in the intersection of Science Life Sciences Biology and Religion 4th Edition of International Students Conference—Research in Architecture Nilesh Pore,2023-08-14 This edition has offered a unique platform for a constructive dialogue with the students and experts in the field of Architecture Also providing an opportunity to participate in an offline as well as online mode The conference has prioritized on broadening the students knowledge and contribution towards the profession Research fosters critical thinking and analytical skills and helps in defining academic career and personal interests Through the 4th National Students Conference on Research in Architecture our purpose to promote innovative diverse and scholarly exchange of ideas has been met The conference has aimed to deliver the most recent relevant research best practices and critical information to support higher education professionals and experts It has provided a professional platform to refresh and enrich the knowledge base and explore the latest innovations It also provides a platform to the students of architecture to present their research to academicians and professionals as well as receive valuable feedback from them Animal Bodies, Renaissance Culture Karen Raber,2013-09-24 Animal Bodies Renaissance Culture examines how the shared embodied existence of early modern human and nonhuman animals challenged the establishment of species distinctions The material conditions of the early modern world brought humans and animals into complex interspecies relationships that have not been fully accounted for in critical readings of the period s philosophical scientific or literary representations of animals Where such prior readings have focused on the role of reason in debates about human exceptionalism this book turns instead to a series of cultural sites in which we find animal and human bodies sharing environments mutually transforming and defining one another s lives To uncover the animal body s role in anatomy eroticism architecture labor and consumption Karen Raber analyzes canonical works including More s Utopia Shakespeare s Hamlet and Romeo and Juliet and Sidney s poetry situating them among readings of human and equine anatomical texts medical recipes theories of architecture and urban design husbandry manuals and horsemanship treatises Raber reconsiders interactions between environment body and consciousness that we find in early modern human animal relations Scholars of the Renaissance period recognized animals fundamental role in fashioning what we call culture she demonstrates providing historical narratives about embodiment and the cultural constructions of species difference that are often overlooked in ecocritical and posthumanist theory that attempts to address the question of the animal

Animal Architects James L. Gould, Carol Grant Gould, 2007-03-13 Looks at why animals build explores the building processes of a variety of species and discusses how a study of animal building behavior can provides an understanding of the human mind

Mind in Architecture Sarah Robinson, Juhani Pallasmaa, 2017-03-03 Leading neuroscientists and architects explore how the built environment affects our behavior thoughts emotions and well being Although we spend more than ninety percent of our lives inside buildings we understand very little about how the built environment affects our behavior thoughts emotions and well being We are biological beings whose senses and neural systems have developed over millions of years it stands to reason that research in the life sciences particularly neuroscience can offer compelling insights into the ways our buildings shape our interactions with the world This expanded understanding can help architects design buildings that support both mind and body In Mind in Architecture leading thinkers from architecture and other disciplines including neuroscience cognitive science psychiatry and philosophy explore what architecture and neuroscience can learn from each other They offer historical context examine the implications for current architectural practice and education and imagine a neuroscientifically informed architecture of the future Architecture is late in discovering the richness of neuroscientific research As scientists were finding evidence for the bodily basis of mind and meaning architecture was caught up in convoluted cerebral games that denied emotional and bodily reality altogether This volume maps the extraordinary opportunity that engagement with cutting edge neuroscience offers present day architects Contributors Thomas D Albright Michael Arbib John Paul Eberhard Melissa Farling Vittorio Gallese Alessandro Gattara Mark L Johnson Harry Francis Mallgrave Iain McGilchrist Juhani Pallasmaa Alberto P rez G mez Sarah Robinson
