Alien Intruder:

Science Fiction, Ethics and the Human Condition Christian Baron, Peter Nicolai Halvorsen, Christine Cornea, 2017-07-10 This book explores what science fiction can tell us about the human condition in a technological world with the ethical dilemmas and consequences that this entails This book is the result of the joint efforts of scholars and scientists from various disciplines This interdisciplinary approach sets an example for those who like us have been busy assessing the ways in which fictional attempts to fathom the possibilities of science and technology speak to central concerns about what it means to be human in a contemporary world of technology and which ethical dilemmas it brings along One of the aims of this book is to demonstrate what can be achieved in approaching science fiction as a kind of imaginary laboratory for experimentation where visions of human or even post human life under various scientific technological or natural conditions that differ from our own situation can be thought through and commented upon Although a scholarly work this book is also designed to be accessible to a general audience that has an interest in science fiction as well as to a broader academic audience interested in ethical questions

Gendering Disability Bonnie G. Smith, Beth Hutchison, 2004 Disability and gender are becoming increasingly complex in light of recent politics and scholarship This volume provides findings not only about the discrimination practised against women and people with disabilities but also about the productive parallelism between the two categories

Speak Your Healing from the Homosexual Deception Bonnie M. Egglehand, 2014-10-08 The lies of homosexuality dissipate because a life of purity in Christ Jesus decidedly removes the homosexual deception Each step toward Jesus brings us closer to His image and we are changed We emerge free to be exactly whom Father God created us to be Leaving all secrets with honesty and transparency before God and man forgiving ourselves and all abusers we emerge in our true identity with a heterosexual desire This desire for the opposite sex is as natural as apple pie Leaving the judgments the facades the sins and all idols the stark truth remains Our true identity is found in Jesus Christ alone

The Structure of International Conflict C. R. Mitchell, 1989-03-15 What constitutes a conflict between human groups organisations or countries

How do people perceive and behave in conflicts How do conflicts come to an end and what part can outsiders play in settling them or making them less damaging The present work seeks to answer such questions by examining common structures and processes found in human conflicts in many settings and by demonstrating how such common features reveal themselves in conflicts as ostensibly different as international war and interpersonal disagreements in organisations The Structure of International Conflict seeks to be a some permanent use to all students interested in penetrating beneath the surface details and ostensible dissimilarities of specific wars disputes and quarrels to the basic structure that underlies all human conflicts from the most peaceful to the most violent lethal and destructive
