Imagining the Other Regis Tove Stella, 2007-04-30 Much has been written about Papua New Guinea over the last century and too often in ways that legitimated or served colonial interests through highly pejorative and racist descriptions of Papua New Guineans Paying special attention to early travel literature works of fiction and colonial reports laws and legislation Regis Tove Stella reveals the complex and persistent network of discursive strategies deployed to subjugate the land and its people Alien Landscapes Jonathan Burke, 1955 Modern American Landscapes Mick Gidley, Robert Lawson-Peebles, 1995

Landscapes and Learning Margaret Somerville, Kerith Power, Phoenix de Carteret, 2009 Places are made after their stories Just as place names describe complex and conflicted place making aspirations so with all marks associated with the marking of places tracks the symbolic representation of these in song dance and poetic speech indeed all the technologies that join up distances into narratives they all inscribe the earth's surface with the forms of stories Of course these are not the same as the foundational myths of imperial cultures whose aim is to displace any prior discourse of place making They are stories of and as journeys passages in a double sense constitutionally incomplete because they always await their completion in the act of crossing over or meeting which of course is endless Paul Carter Landscapes and Learning maps some of these stories and passageways to open up new place making possibilities The book uses the lens of place to explore how we can respond differently to some of the major questions of our time Postcolonial global concerns such as increased displacement and migration the loss of indigenous knowledges and the imperatives of environmental degradation and climate change require critical educational responses Place studies provides new languages and fresh metaphors to open up interdisciplinary conversations in the space between local and global and indigenous and non indigenous knowledges Through its focus on the mutual constitution of bodies identities histories spaces and places place studies offers a conceptual tool for important cultural and environmental transformations

Many Wests David M. Wrobel,Michael C. Steiner,1997 What does it mean to live in the West today Do people tend to identify with states with regions or with the larger West This book examines the development of regional identity in the American West demonstrating that it is a regionally diverse entity made up of many different wests Great Plains Southwest Rocky Mountains and more in which American regionalism finds its fullest expression These fourteen original essays tell how a sense of place emerged among residents of various regions and how a sense of those places was developed by people outside of them Wrobel and Steiner first offer a compelling overview of the West s regional nature then thirteen other rising or renowned scholars from history American Studies geography and literature tell how regional consciousness formed among inhabitants of particular regions All of the essays address the larger issue of the centrality of place in determining social and cultural forms and individual and collective identities Some focus on race and culture as the primary influences on regional consciousness while others emphasize environmental and economic factors or the influence of literature Some even examine western regionalism in areas that lie beyond the West as it has traditionally been conceived Each of the contributors believes that where a people live helps determine what they are and they write not only about the many wests within the larger West but also about the constant state of flux in which regionalism exists Many books speak of the West as a place but few others deal with the West s different places Many Wests presents a vision of the West that reflects both the common heritage and unique character of each major subregion building on the revisionist impulse of the last decade to help redirect New Western History toward an appreciation of regional diversity and integrate scholarship in the regional subfields It is a book for everyone who lives in studies or loves the West for it confirms that it is home to very different peoples economies histories and regions      Landscape with Figures Ronald Fraser,1925      Cinema and Landscape Graeme Harper,Jonathan R. Rayner,2010 The notion of landscape is a complex one but it has been central to the art and artistry of the cinema After all what is the French New Wave without Paris What are the films of Sidney Lumet Woody Allen Martin Scorsese and Spike Lee without New York Cinema and Landscape frames contemporary film landscapes across the world in an exploration of screen aesthetics and national ideology film form and cultural geography cinematic representation and the human environment Written by well known cinema scholars this volume both extends the existing field of film studies and stakes claims to overlapping contested territories in the humanities and social sciences      THE ENCYCLOPEDIA AMERICANA ,1919      The Americana ,1923      France ,1919      Journal ,1922
