Dying Community:

The Dying Community Art Gallaher, Harland Padfield, 1980-07-30 This book is a thorough exploration of the decline of the little community in the face of urbanization industrialization and bureaucratization Developing a conceptual and theoretical framework for examining community decline and dissolution the book looks at the relationships between the dying community and its natural resource base the role of outside political authority and the social and demographical processes associated with community decline

Well-Being at the End of Life Julian Abel, Allan Kellehear, 2026-05-12 The field of palliative care promises support for a dying person s physical psychological social and spiritual needs as well as the needs of family and community Has this powerful vision been achieved This state of the field book argues that palliative care has drifted away from its transformative goals and shows what to do about it Bringing together leading international scholars and practitioners Well Being at the End of Life demonstrates how contemporary palliative care has slowly but surely strayed from its original values and practices The provision of palliative care now reflects institutional medicalized and health service priorities Increasingly it has become solely clinical confined and constrained by clinical service considerations and limitations Those at the end of life are all too often viewed as patients to be treated instead of people with whom care providers must create collaboration participation and partnerships Contributors call for a paradigm shift in the values and priorities of palliative care to emphasize the importance of community to personal well being Drawing on the concept of health promotion they advance a shared vision that merges the principles of public health with those of palliative care Reimagining the field to foreground compassion and interdependence Well Being at the End of Life offers a new approach that puts community and professional partnerships at the heart of its practice

Community Action against Racism in West Las Vegas Robert J. McKee, 2014-02-27 This book chronicles Robert J McKee s active participation in a successful protest action led primarily by black females in the historically African American community of West Las Vegas Nevada from 2008 2013 The residents protested the closure of a main street F Street in their community for the expansion of Interstate 15 The community felt the street closure was racially motivated with the intent of further alienating and isolating this already marginalized community The street closure was one of many instances in a protracted history of events that further exacerbated race relations in Las Vegas With only minimal support from the black church courageous women mobilized their community from a neighborhood coalition into a successful community protest group despite resistance from city officials and a racist backlash from some Las Vegas residents The key players in this work were then Mayor Oscar Goodman State Senator and now U S Congressman Steven Horsford and a host of local and state leaders The closing of F Street creates an environ for McKee to discuss the current problems of race relations urban sociology city planning social action ethnography and institutionalized racism
