In the Words of E. B. White E. B. White, 2011-11-15 The time not to become a father is eighteen years before a world war E B White on fatherhood I was lucky to be born abnormal It ran in the family on luck I would really rather feel bad in Maine than feel good anywhere else on Maine The English language is always sticking a foot out to trip a man on language The author of Charlotte's Web and One Man's Meat coauthor of The Elements of Style and columnist for The New Yorker for almost half a century E B White 1899-1985 is an American literary icon Over the course of his career White inspired generations of writers and readers with his essays both serious and humorous children's literature and stylistic guidance In the Words of E B White offers readers a delightful selection of quotations selected and annotated by his granddaughter and literary executor Martha White The quotations cover a wide range of subjects and situations from Automobiles Babies Bees City Life and College to Spiders Taxes Weather Work and Worry E B White comments on writing for children how to tell a major poet from a minor one and what to do when one becomes hopelessly mired in a sentence White was apt to address the subject of security by speaking first about a Ferris wheel at the local county fair or the subject of democracy from the perspective of roofing his barn and looking out across the bay he had a gift for bringing the abstract firmly into the realm of the everyday Included here are gems from White's books and essay collections as well as bits from both published and unpublished letters and journals This is a book for readers and writers for those who know E B White from his Notes and Comment column in The New Yorker have turned to The Elements of Style for help in crafting a polished sentence or have loved a spider's assessment of Wilbur as Some Pig This distillation of the wit, style and humanity of one of America's most distinguished essayists of the twentieth century will be a welcome addition to any reader's bookshelf

E. B. White Rennay Craats, 2013-07 E B White wrote only three children's books in his lifetime Yet those three books have made him a legend in children's literature Children love to read about Stuart Little's adventures Charlotte's plans to save Wilbur the pig and Louis the swan's trumpet playing Remarkable Writers is a biography series that profiles and celebrates significant children's authors Each book explores the life of a well-known children's writer and provides an overview of his or her most popular books Additional facts are provided through awards listings fan information and a timeline This is an AV2 media-enhanced book A unique book code printed on page 2 unlocks multimedia content This book comes alive with video audio web links slide shows activities quizzes and much more Book jacket

E.B. White Rebecca Thatcher Murcia, 2005 As a child E B White loved animals and writing He did well in school and received a prize for his poetry when he was 14 But his successes did little to stop his anxieties and fears He was afraid of the future He was terrified of speaking in public When White first worked as a newspaper reporter his worries seemed justified He got lost on his way to an important assignment and struggled to understand people on the telephone He quit newspapers and it was unclear what he would do to support himself But White persevered He kept writing and discovered a magazine that published the type of writing he enjoyed He focused on humor poetry and commentary He became more confident in himself and wrote Stuart Little Charlotte's Web and The Trumpet of the Swan The boy who loved animals and writing became a beloved national literary treasure Book jacket
