SOUTHEASTERN TRIBES SUPPORT ALASKA NATIVES

Intertribal Council Supports AFN

CHOCTAW RESERVATION, Aug. 12—The United Southeastern Tribes today offered their support and endorsement to the Alaska Federation of Natives in their attempt to receive a fair settlement for their inherent land rights.

William Byler, executive director of the Association on American Indian Affairs, New York City, made the following statement in an exclusive Chahta Anumpa interview regarding the background of the issue: "There are 55 thousand native people of Alaska—Aleuts, Eskimos, and Nooks. For nearly 100 years they have been trying to gain a fair settlement of their land claims. The act of 1898 recognized their rights to the land but left to a future Congress the question of devising a means of providing title to these lands to the native people. Congress has not acted all this time.

"Today, there is a great oil boom in Alaska. There are great quantities of natural resources and the State has, under the National Act of 1954 the power to select 100 million acres from the public domain in Alaska. It has plans to reserve this 100 million acres—and most of these acres come in areas where the Indian and Eskimo people live. It presents a threat to them. They have already organized for settlement now—now again—and it looks as though this year or next the House and Senate will act and there will be a settlement."

"The Administration has proposed the settlement for 500 million dollars cash to be paid out over a 20-year period—and 12 million acres of land—the surface of the land, not the subsurface minerals under the land such as oil and gas.

"The native people of Alaska as represented by the Alaska Federation of Natives (AFN)—a statewide native organization—have proposed instead that in addition to the 500 million dollars, the land surface, the subsurface minerals and include all the surface and subsurface rights to that land. And, a 2% mineral override on royalties from lands that they have surrendered.

"When the United States purchased Alaska from Russia it did not purchase the land—it only purchased the rights to use and to govern—just as in the Louisiana Purchase the United States purchased from foreign nations.

"The Indian and Eskimo people of Alaska today depend very largely upon hunting and fishing—unlike the Tribes in the lower States where this is supplemental income. To us it looks as if every acre of income that is lost for all of the people and a man works very hard to get $200 a year by trapping and what does he see that money lost? Every boy comes to school and comes out without food so that he can feed his family from hunting and fishing. So it is extremely important that they gain title to subsurface minerals and land.

"The House and Senate Indian Committee are considering the legislation."

Byler further pointed out that the Alaska natives are being represented by a coalition of several different agencies—due Arthur Goldberg and by Henry Clark.

CALVIN J. BAKER

"... I see the dawn of a new day for our people."

DAWN OF A NEW DAY

Calvin J. Baker, J.A. talks delivered by Mr. Baker to the assembled delegates to the Council of the UNITED SOUTHEASTERN TRIBES, August 12, 1969, at the University of the Sacred Heart Central High School, Philadelphia, Mississippi.

Mr. Chairman, members and delegates of the Southeastern Tribes, I am glad, representatives of the Choctaw, Cherokee, Muscogee, and Seminole Indian tribes, visitors and guests: I have certainly been honored to have this privilege to speak to you about the history of the Mississippi Choctaw Indians, both past and present, and perhaps take a good look at the future conditions for Choctaw Indians in the Decade of the Seventies. What I say here this morning are only my views and I speak as a member of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians and not as a spokesman for any individual or organization.

I saw that I have been assigned the topic: "History of Choctaw Tribes in History." I should like to retitle my talk "The Dawn of a New Day" so that I could give it a forward positive outlook on life for Mississippi's first true natives. As I go into my talk, you will note my emphasis on education, health, and housing as the avenues through which the entire history of Choctaw Indians seems to center. No doubt, the Choctaw Indians, like other American Indian tribes, were and are necessarily unique among the Choctaws.

THE PAST

First, let us take a brief look at the past history of the first Mississippians. As early as 1540, history records that when the Spanish explorers traveled through this part of the New World, they encountered fierce battles with the Choctaw and other Indian tribes. About a century later, when the French tried to establish colonies along the Gulf Coast area, they encountered the Indian population of that area to be close to 20,000.

Mississippi History, though limited and somewhat slanted toward the positive side of Indian activities, on certain levels to the remaining white settlers, does have a short chapter on the first Mississippians. The location which unfolded away the past is often included in the text and is accompanied with a summary of the like to inform the reader what the treaties contained. I feel that the true historical facts of Mississippi should be not only included in history textbooks. Because of this lack of factual material, very little is known by Mississippi children that Indians were lived here. To many, Indians live only in television, movies, and in Mississippi there are 1000 full blood Mississippi Choctaw Indians who very much live like their ancestors have lived about a century ago! Mississippi Indians have about a serious love for the first Mississippians.

American history also give passing mention to the first Americans. American historians have us believing that the first Men came to America from Asia thousands of years ago by way of the Bering Strait. Yet it was known previously when the first Men first came to what is now Mississippi. Very little is known as to how the first Men survived the many thousands of years since the first man's first appearance.

SOUTHEASTERN INDIANS SEEK INDUSTRIAL PARKS ON RESERVATIONS

PHILADELPHIA, MISS.—Aug. 12—The Intertribal Council of the USET has asked for help in the planning and coordinating level in order to construct Industrial Parks on or near reservation lands. They have set a goal of park completion within two years. Unemployment and low income were cited as urgent problems besetting all members of the four tribes. Opportunities for employment were few in nearly all of the reservation communities, a spokesman said.

They have asked for assistance in planning locations, road studies, and means of construction. They cited recent industrial developments on the Gila River Reservation, Arizona, as an example of what can be accomplished by concerted effort. Chahta Anumpa, Vol. 2, No. 1. The reservation needs are as follows:

USET #18-89

Whereas, high unemployment and low income are grave problems that beset all of the members of the United Southeastern Tribes and

Whereas, the development of industrial parks has long been recognized as an important means for small communities to attract needed industry, and

Whereas, coordination of as many projects or agencies may be involved in the establishment of such industrial parks, and

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the United Southeastern Tribes, Inc., consisting of the Seminole and Miccosukee of Florida, the Choctaw of Mississippi, and the Chickasaw of North Carolina, request special assistance from the National Council on Indian Opportunity, in cooperation with the Tribes involved, in studying, locating, and establishing, on one or more industrial parks on each of the member tribe's reservations, with a goal of completion within two years.

CHOCTAW FILMS IN FINAL PHASE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 12—Several short films which cover various activities of the Mississippi Choctaw are in final completion. The films movies have been shot over the past two years by IAS Board President, Bob Ferguson, who was for two years Mississippi's Secretary of Tourism, Game and Fish Commission. While in that capacity, he wrote, filmed and produced a series on wildlife called, "The World Outside," which was used as the marketing medium for the IAS TV of 1966 by the American Association for Cooperative Information.

One of his concentrations films, "The Big Eye" is story about man and his behavior's meeting and becoming acquainted with the Choctaw Indians of Mississippi. He was taking a picture of the restored "People" Island in Frenchman's Bay, Choctawhatchee—in Memphis, which portrayed the "New Fire Ceremony" of the Southeastern Indians. Choctaws were used in the Indian roles and the Choctaw language was spoken in the film by Tinsley John, playing the part of Hopson, or Shaman.
