Chalcolithic Cyprus J. Paul Getty Museum, 1997-02-27 This collection of papers presents the results of a symposium held at the Getty Museum in February 1990 Recent archaeological excavations provide evidence that Cyprus had a great cultural and economic importance during the Bronze Age The contributors discuss aspects of the Bronze Age as they relate to Cyprus and the eastern Mediterranean Topics include the economy of the period its basis in the exploitation of metals and stone Cyprus's international influence on trade and religion and evidence of that influence through interpretation of archaeological sites and artifacts Cyprus Before the Bronze Age Vassos Karageorghis, Edgar J. Peltenburg, Pavlos Flourentzos, 1990-05-17

The latest finds architectural remains burial objects stone artifacts pottery and copper objects from recent excavations indicate that Cyprus played a more pivotal role in pre Bronze Age socioeconomic development than was previously thought This book describes findings from excavations at Lemba the site where the most important new information about this period has been uncovered Included are illustrations of many previously unpublished or unexhibited materials from both the Cyprus Museum and the J Paul Getty Museum This book serves as a catalog to the February 1990 exhibition held at the J Paul Getty Museum

The Prehistoric Buildings of Chalcolithic Cyprus Gordon Thomas, 2005 This book documents the work and findings of the Lemba Experimental Village project in Cyprus The aims of this project are fourfold 1 To identify and characterize Chalcolithic period building materials as uncovered through excavation and to determine the type of technology used to manipulate those materials for building purposes 2 To classify and characterize all Chalcolithic building elements from Cyprus and from them to identify an architectural form and establish a set of building types within that form 3 To establish the Chalcolithic building form within the overall framework of Near Eastern building traditions and to demonstrate links or themes that can indicate a shared cultural tradition 4 To identify and characterize building deposits and building materials and to investigate the impact of buildings on archaeological site formation These ideas and hypotheses developed from them were tested and validated through the process of excavation experimental archaeology and ethnoarchaeology

Chalcolithic Cyprus, 1991 Gender in Ancient Cyprus Diane Bolger, 2003 Gender in Ancient Cyprus examines some of the fundamental facets of gender as they intersect with the dynamics of social political and economic change in Cyprus beginning with the earliest traces of human habitation on the island to the final phases of the Bronze Age The book closely analyzes gender as it relates to the domestic space technology and labor ritual and social identity and the roles of children as well as the practices of modern day Near Eastern archaeology and the roles of women in it Visit our website for sample chapters The Archaeology of Cyprus A. Bernard Knapp, 2013-03-18 This book examines the archaeology of Cyprus from the first known human presence during the Late Epipalaeolithic through the end of the Bronze Age Chalcolithic Cyprus and Western Asia Julian Reade, 1981 Ancient Building in Cyprus G.R.H. building of all functional categories Whereas the earlier excavation concerned mainly funerary and religious contexts more recent work has endeavoured to clarify the whole range of building in Cyprus This picture extends over a vast range of time ca 10 000 years since Cyprus is probably the place where the earliest substantial building known the Neolithic round house style is better presented than anywhere else in the world Certainly it was immeasurably longer lived in Cyprus than in any other region of the ancient world This longevity of tradition became a proverbial aspect of the Cypriote character It is the aim of this book to set forth and document this building tradition which hitherto has received no detailed exposition After preliminary geographical and historical introductions the ancient building of Cyprus has been surveyed and analysed from the following view points its historical development its design its construction and its foreign connections Because of the extensive and detailed coverage every effort has been made to facilitate the use of the book equally as a treatise and as a work of instant reference e g by way of introductory pre cis list of general references running titles to pages and marginal rubrics The book is also virtually a double treatment of the subject since a separate volume contains specially drawn illustrations arranged with captions on the facing pages which themselves constitute an incisive coverage of the subject matter The book will fill several gaps in the library shelves at one and the same time architectural history that presents all the archaeological evidence The print edition is available as a set of two volumes 9789004095472 Ancient Building in Cyprus George R. Tmēma Archaiotētōn,2010 Figurine Makers of Prehistoric Cyprus Edgar Peltenburg,Diane Bolger,Lindy Crewe,2019-07-31 The Chalcolithic period in Cyprus has been known since Porphyrios Dikaïos excavations at Erimi in the 1930s and through the appearance in the antiquities market of illicitly acquired anthropomorphic cruciform figures often manufactured from picrolite a soft blue green stone The excavations of the settlement and cemetery at Souskiou Laona reported on in this volume paint a very different picture of life on the island during the late 4th and early 3rd millennia BC Burial practices at other known sites are generally single inhumations in intramural pit graves only rarely equipped with artifacts At Souskiou multiple inhumations were interred in deep rock cut tombs clustered in extra mural cemeteries Although the sites were also subjected to extensive looting excavations have revealed complex multi stage burial practices with arrangements of disarticulated and articulated burials accompanied by a rich variety of grave goods Chief among these are a multitude of cruciform figurines and pendants This unusual treatment of the dead which has not been recorded elsewhere in Cyprus shifts the focus from the individual to the communal and provides evidence for significant changes involving kinship group links to common ancestors Excavations at the Laona settlement have furnished evidence suggesting that it functioned as a specialised center for the procurement and manufacture of picrolite during its early phase The subsequent decline of picrolite production and the earliest known occurrence of new types of ornaments such as faience beads and copper spiral pendants attest to important changes involving the transformation of personal and social identities during the first centuries of the 3rd millennium BC a topic that forms a central theme of this final report on the site
