The dying god. 1911 James George Frazer,1911 For Moral Ambiguity Michael J. Shapiro,2001 Under the banner of family values a war of more than words is being waged At stake is the control of contemporary national culture and the consciousness of succeeding generations Michael J Shapiro enters the fray with this galvanizing book which exposes the assumptions misconceptions and historical inaccuracies that mark the neoconservative campaign to redeem an imagined past and colonize the present and future with a moral and political commitment to the traditional family Challenging the neoconservative assumption of a natural relation between a historically constant traditional family structure and civic life Shapiro shows how the situation of the family in relation to public life has emerged differently in different historical periods For Moral Ambiguity juxtaposes moralizing versus historically sensitive critical treatments of familial and public attachments revealing how the family as represented in historical and contemporary fiction cinema television and other genres and media emerges as a contingent cultural and historical structure Shapiro treats the ways in which family space however changeable serves as a critical locus of enunciation as a space from which diverse family personae challenge the relationships and historical narratives that support dominant structures of power and authority and offer ways to renegotiate the problem of the political By extending recognition to less heeded voices and genres of expression he seeks to frame the political within a democratic ethos Ultimately the book compels us to understand the political as the continuous negotiation of different modes of civic presence The Golden Bough James George Frazer,1923 Luther League Review ,1928 The Golden Bough: Adonis, Attis, Osiris. The Myth of Adonis James George Frazer,1911 Frazer s series which attempted to define the shared elements of religious belief and scientific thought discussing fertility rites human sacrifice the dying god the scapegoat and many other symbols and practices whose influences had extended into 20th century culture His thesis is that old religions were fertility cults that revolved around the worship and periodic sacrifice of a sacred king Frazer proposed that mankind progresses from magic through religious belief to scientific thought Agent Eve(s) in Moroccan Postcolonial Literature Fatimaezzahra Abid,2026-02-26 This monograph explores female agency in Moroccan postcolonial literature through the works of Fatima Mernissi Leila Abouzeid Laila Lalami Najat El Hachmi and Aicha Ech Channa These influential writers give voice to Moroccan women s experiences across generations tracing their roles as literary social and political agents of change from the decolonization period to the Arab Spring and beyond Writing in both French and English these authors defy the ideological and patriarchal structures that have historically marginalized women offering powerful narratives that reimagine identity belonging and resistance From domestic spaces to diasporic journeys their stories model feminist activism deeply rooted in Moroccan cultural and Islamic traditions In examining the works by these five authors Fatimaezzahra Abid demonstrates how literature becomes a medium of empowerment and policy relevant activism in contemporary Moroccan society This monograph will be of interest to scholars of postcolonialism feminism and Moroccan literature The Golden Bough: pt.
