The Winter Weather Rollercoaster

Have you noticed that winter just doesn't feel the same anymore? Global warming is causing serious, basic changes to the winter. Instead of being a long, reliable period of snow, we now face extreme, quick shifts: we get super-warm followed by blasts of extreme, bitter cold. This incredible (and unpredictable) change in winter weather is puzzling and hard for the things we build, and disrupting nature. We have to look way up high in the sky for the cause: cold air where it belongs.

The jet stream is the jet stream that circles the globe. Usually, the jet stream is strong and steady. But when it's intensely frustrated, it can get out of control. When it's frustrated, the jet stream can get wavier, like a roller coaster. These waves get stronger and null giant "fingers" of the polar ice sheet in place.

Name: _____

Predictable vs. Variable

Argue why a "reliable period of sustained snow" is more disruptive to society than a winter with "increasingly unpredictable weather." Provide evidence about infrastructure and agriculture.
