Challenge Of Missions:

The Challenge of Missions Smith Oswald J, Oswald J. Smith, 1995-02 Between Horror and Hope is a study of Paul's metaphorical language of death in Romans 6:1-11. The scholarly debate focuses on two main issues: the origin of the commentatio mortis tradition and its development. Dr Sabou argues that the origin of this terminology is original to Paul; that it was the apostle's own insight into the meaning of Christ's death—a death to sin—and his understanding of the identity of Christ in his death as the anointed Davidic king which guided him to create this metaphor of dying to sin as a way of describing the relationship of the believer with sin. On the development of this language of death, the author argues that this language conveys two aspects: horror and hope. The first is discussed in the context of crucifixion, in which Paul explains the believer's death to sin by presenting Christ's death as the death of the anointed Davidic king who won the victory over sin and death by rising from the dead. Paul affirms that believers are coalesced with what was proclaimed about Christ's death and resurrection, thereby allowing him to assert that the releasing of the body from the power of sin is a result of crucifixion. This crucifixion is the condemnation inflicted on our past lives in the age inaugurated by Adam's sin, and this is such a horrible event that believers have to stay away from sin since sin leads to such punishment. In contrast, hope is presented in the context of burial. The believer's burial with Christ points to the fact that they are part of Christ's family, and this is accomplished by the overwhelming action of God, by which he pushes us toward the event of Christ's death, an act pictured in baptism. It is this burial with Christ that allows believers to share with Christ in newness of life.

The heart of mission is the drive to cross geographical, cultural, and social barriers in order to share the good news of Jesus Christ with all peoples. Drawing on his involvement in missionary work over many years, Samuel Escobar explores how the church spreads the Christian faith. God's Word forms the foundation for his reflections, while he uses insights from theological and historical studies as well as from the social sciences to gain a clearer understanding of the church's missionary calling. His stimulating and challenging analysis contributes significantly to a global evangelical dialogue on mission today and in the future. The Challenge to Christian Missions Robert Ethol Welsh, 1909 Our Missions, 1913 The Challenge to Christian Missions R. The Challenge of Missions Oswald J. Smith, 1959 The Apologetic of Modern Missions John Lovell Murray, 1909 The Church and The Challenge of Missions Ernest Musekiwa, 2014-11-01 The Church's Great Commission is enshrined in three great tasks Going Preaching and Teaching In most local churches there have been a paradigm shifting on priorities leading to a lost zeal in missions work However it is still the biblical mandate for the Church to carry on the Great Commission of Christ in a race against time in winning the lost before Jesus returns In this book the author discusses how important the biblical goal of missions is vital for the growth of a healthy dynamic Christian and Church life The first part looks at the Orders of the Church the second part discusses the Obligation of the Church and the final part of the book looks at the Obstacles of the Church in doing missions work True biblical Christianity should drive the Church out into the world of the lost and bring them to the salvation that is in Christ When we neglect this urgent agenda on God's time table we lose the purpose of our existence as Christians The passion that drove Christ to the Cross should be the same passion that drives us into world evangelism The Challenge to Christian Missions; Missionary Questions and the Modern Mind... Robert Ethol Welsh, 2013-12 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy
