Changing Capitalisms:

Changing Capitalisms? Glenn Morgan, Richard Whitley, Eli Moen, 2005-02-03 An increasing number of studies in the last decade or so have emphasized the viability and persistence of distinctive systems of economic coordination and control in developed market economies Over more or less the same period the revival of institutional economics and evolutionary approaches to understanding the firm has focused attention on how firms create distinctive capabilities through establishing routines that coordinate complementary activities and skills for particular strategic purposes For much of the 1990s these two strands of research remained distinct Those focusing on the institutional frameworks of market economies were primarily concerned with identifying complementarities between institutional arrangements that explained coherence and continuity On the other hand those focusing on the dynamics of firm behaviour studied how firms develop new capacities and are able to learn new ways of doing things This book aims to bring together these approaches It consists of a set of theoretically motivated and empirically informed chapters from a range of internationally known contributors to these debates In their chapters the authors show how institutions and firms evolve Ideas of path dependency and complementarity of institutions are subjected to critical scrutiny both by reference to their own internal logic and to empirical examples Varieties of institutional integration the surprising maintenance of deviant or alternative traditions and processes and the existence of unpredictable yet consequential policy options that can lead to breaks in path dependency are scrutinized with particular reference to how national and international firms may relate to institutions at various levels as a diverse arena of potential resources rather than as a singular and determinant constraining force The book provides a set of theoretical and empirical challenges for researchers concerned with the relationship between national institutional contexts and firm dynamics For those involved in teaching or studying at doctoral Masters and higher level undergraduate courses the book provides a structured entry into the debates about how institutions and firms are changing in the contemporary era

American Capitalism and the Changing Role of Government Harry G. Shaffer, 1999-07-30 The conventional wisdom has it that a balanced budget is the height of economic rationality that social security should be privatized and that most adult welfare recipients could and should get jobs All our social and economic problems we are told are due to too much government if we only left the American free enterprise system alone the free market would heal all that ails our society and lead to lasting prosperity Challenging these widespread stereotypes and myths this book starts with the fundamental theory underlying capitalist ideology showing that even in theory an unfettered free market cannot deal effectively with the many needs of a modern economy Our society has many social goals to which the great majority subscribe goals such as sustained full employment universal health care and quality education for all The free market will not the author argues bring us quality education for every American child affordable universal health care Social Security for the elderly assistance for the poor or protection of the environment Only an active participant government can affect positive change in such areas of social concern The Changing Worlds and Workplaces of Capitalism Felix Behling, Eoin Flaherty, Seán Ó Riain, Rossella Ciccia, 2015-08-05 The contributors investigate how the large scale structures of capitalism and the local social relations of workplaces and organizations shape each other They argue for a new integration of political economy and the sociology of work and organizations Capitalisms and Capitalism in the Twenty-First Century Glenn Morgan, Richard Whitley, 2012-04-26 This interdisciplinary book examines comparative business systems institutions and practices by looking at current developments between firms nations and markets in an increasingly globalized world and in the context of the recent financial crises Changing Models of Capitalism in Europe and the U.S. Richard Deeg, Gregory Jackson, 2016-04-14 The volume analyzes the long term trajectories of change in the capitalist models of the UK Germany Sweden France Italy Hungary Slovakia and the United States The case studies identify critical junctures and key periods of change in order to show how institutions are shaped by different sets of socio political compromises and public policy The case studies follow a common methodology comparing change and linkages across six core institutional domains thus facilitating a comparative understanding of the patterns and drivers of institutional change as well as how liberalisation impacts countries in similar and dissimilar ways The historical perspective of the cases highlights the transformative effects of relatively slow and incremental changes These case studies also make an innovative contribution to examining the linkages between four levels of institutions that regulate the economy the international macro national meso and micro The volume reveals both a common trend toward more liberal forms of capitalism but also variations on this overarching trajectory Markets themselves create their own dynamics which have varied effects on firms and other economic actors in historically diverse institutional contexts This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of European Public Policy

Changing Capitalisms? Glenn Morgan, Richard Whitley, Eli Moen, 2023 Focusing on how institutional settings provide a variety of resources and opportunities for firms to develop and evolve new competencies this work shows how national institutional contexts are often heterogeneous and loosely connected offering a variety of resources that firms can use

The Changing Worlds and Workplaces of Capitalism Felix Behling, Eoin Flaherty, Seán Ó Riain, Rossella Ciccia, 2015-08-05 The contributors investigate how the large scale structures of capitalism and the local social relations of workplaces and organizations shape each other They argue for a new integration of political economy and the sociology of work and organizations Variegated Neoliberalism Huw Macartney, 2010-12-15 Variegated Neoliberalism provides comparative analyses of global and European banking communities and economic research centres in the UK France and Germany It explains the current neoliberal order in global finance and the realms of possibility for challenges to it The EU and the Global Financial Crisis Christian Schweiger, 2014-05-30 This authoritative book offers a complete breakdown of the EU's political economy in the wake of the global financial crisis and will therefore appeal to students of European politics international political economy and European studies as well as po The Routledge Companion to Employment Relations

This Changes Everything Naomi Klein, 2014-09-16 The most important book yet from the author of the international bestseller The Shock Doctrine a brilliant explanation of why the climate crisis challenges us to abandon the core free market ideology of our time restructure the global economy and remake our political systems In short either we embrace radical change ourselves or radical changes will be visited upon our physical world The status quo is no longer an option In This Changes Everything Naomi Klein argues that climate change isn't just another issue to be neatly filed between taxes and health care It's an alarm that calls us to fix an economic system that is already failing us in many ways Klein meticulously builds the case for how massively reducing our greenhouse emissions is our best chance to simultaneously reduce gaping inequalities re-imagine our broken democracies and rebuild our gutted local economies She exposes the ideological desperation of the climate change deniers the messianic delusions of the would-be geoengineers and the tragic defeatism of too many mainstream green initiatives And she demonstrates precisely why the market has not and cannot fix the climate crisis but will instead make things worse with ever more extreme and ecologically damaging extraction methods accompanied by rampant disaster capitalism Klein argues that the changes to our relationship with nature and one another that are required to respond to the climate crisis humanely should not be viewed as grim penance but rather as a kind of gift a catalyst to transform broken economic and cultural priorities and to heal long festering historical wounds And she documents the inspiring movements that have already begun this process communities that are not just refusing to be sites of further fossil fuel extraction but are building the next regeneration based economies right now Can we pull off these changes in time Nothing is certain Nothing except that climate change changes everything And for a very brief time the nature of that change is still up to us

Changing Japanese Capitalism Michael A. Witt, 2006-12-07 Economic crisis tends to spur change in the rules of the game the institutions that govern the economic activity of firms and employees But after more than a decade of economic pain following the burst of the Japanese Bubble Economy of the 1980s the core institutions of Japanese capitalism have changed little In this systematic and holistic assessment of continuity and change in the central components of Japanese capitalism Michael A Witt links this slow institutional change to a confluence of two factors high levels of societal coordination in the Japanese political economy and low levels of deviant behaviour at the level of individuals firms and organizations He identifies social networks permeating Japanese business as a key enabler of societal coordination and an obstacle to deviancy and sheds light on a pervasive but previously under explored type of business networks intra industry loops Includes a foreword by Gordon Redding Ersatz Capitalism and Industrial Policy in Southeast Asia Fabian Bocek,2022-05-17 This book applies and develops the concept of ersatz capitalism in the analysis of industrial policy blockades to economic development in Malaysia and Indonesia Drawing on insights from international political economy development studies industrial and innovation policy and new institutionalism to refer to a specific type of capitalism the book analyzes different paths and institutions of economic development within the entire East Asian region Comprehensive theoretical insights are complemented by empirical case studies that relate to country and sectoral studies the automotive and ICT industries in Malaysia and Indonesia Applying contemporary research on international political economy to refer to a specific type of capitalism the author examines how conflicts of interest between factions of state apparatus associations and companies contribute to the failure of developmental policies The unique combination of theory formation and empirical analysis provides a novel approach to international comparative research on capitalism The book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of international political economy development studies new institutionalism East Asian and Southeast Asian studies and industrial and innovation policy The Sociology of Economic Life Mark Granovetter,2018-04-17 This book incorporates classic and contemporary readings in economic sociology and related disciplines to provide students with a broad understanding of the many dimensions of economic life It discusses Max Weber's key concepts in economics and sociology The Evolution of Modern Capitalism John Atkinson Hobson,1894 The intelligent woman's guide to socialism and capitalism Bernard Shaw,1930 Divergent Capitalisms Richard Whitley,1999-04-01 The late twentieth century has witnessed the establishment of new forms of capitalism in East Asia as well as new market economies in Eastern Europe Despite the growth of international investment and capital flows these distinctive business systems remain different from each other and from those already developed in Europe and the Americas This continued diversity of capitalism results from and is reproduced by significant differences in societal institutions and agencies such as the state capital and labour markets and dominant beliefs about trust loyalty and authority This book presents the comparative business systems framework for describing and explaining the major differences in economic organization between market economies in the late twentieth century This framework identifies the critical variations in coordination and control systems across forms of industrial capitalism and shows how these are connected to major differences in their institutional contexts Six major types of business system are identified and linked to different institutional arrangements Significant differences in post war East Asian business systems and the ways in which these are changing in the 1990s are analysed within this framework which is also extended to compare the path dependent nature of the new capitalisms emerging in Eastern Europe Capitalism in a Changing World Rex Dye,1974 The Future of Capitalism
