Defending Childhood Beverly Falk,2015-04-17 These pages make clear that the way to foster effective teaching is not with curriculum mandates and pacing guides but with professional learning opportunities that prepare expert educators to take advantage of and create teachable moments From the Foreword by Linda Darling Hammond Stanford University This book brings together a group of extraordinary educators and scholars who offer important insights about what we can do to defend childhood from societal challenges The authors explain new findings from neuroscience and psychology as well as emerging knowledge about the impact on child development of cultural and linguistic diversity poverty families and communities and the media Each chapter presents experiences and suggestions from the perspectives of different disciplines about what can be done to ensure that all children gain access to the supports they need for optimal physical social intellectual and emotional development Defending Childhood features New knowledge about how children learn from the neurobiological behavioral and social sciences Effective teaching strategies that support learning and provide for the needs of the whole child Examination of a broad range of issues that affect childhood including violence media and technology saturation and a school culture of endless testing Suggestions for policies and practices for an equitable educational system Contributors include Barbara Bowman Nancy Carlsson Paige Delis Cu llar Tiziana Filippini Matia Finn Stevenson Eugene Garc a Howard Gardner Roberta Michnick Golinkoff James J Heckman Kathryn Hirsh Pasek Mara Krechevsky George Madaus Ben Mardell Sonia Nieto Valerie Polakow Aisha Ray Robert L Selman Jack P Shonkoff M D Edward Zigler Beverly Falk is professor and director of the Graduate Programs in Early Childhood Education at The School of Education The City College of New York and author of Teaching the Way Children Learn

Leadership in Early Childhood Education Joce Nuttall,Linda Henderson,Elizabeth Wood,Jenny Martin,2024-06-12 The book presents a conceptual framework for understanding leadership for effective educator learning in early childhood settings The book describes how leaders can move centre practices from crisis to stabilization It argues that a core component of leaders work in early childhood settings is to construct and enact epistemological accounts of practice change The book includes case examples that bring to life the contexts early childhood services and services leaders who participated in the research The book also describes the application of cultural historical activity theory to the development of practice in early childhood education It describes how background theory literature and data can be synthesized to create new focal theory in education Readers will benefit from the theory that is presented establishing a sound basis for testing in future research in schools as well as in early childhood education Joce Nuttall and team are congratulated for their ground breaking scholarly endeavour in designing implementing validating findings and then writing a book that unambiguously connects theory policy practice in enacting leadership in early childhood settings This book is ambitious eloquent and inspirational The research was driven by a bold vision to build a new theorisation of early childhood leadership The writing style of the book makes the complex clear and easy to digest and thereby strengthening its readability and understanding The comparative lens adopted in the study underscores the neoliberal control of the working lives of early childhood leaders in both Australia and England The use of case study narratives to explain various aspects including the study design and methodology was refreshingly engaging Notes of encouragement addressed to novice researchers such as those embarking on higher degree studies also provide apt guidance about the messiness of conducting qualitative research The book is infused with lots of examples demonstrating the transformative power of learning especially when expertly scaffolded by the research team and thereby increasing practitioner agency and quality improvement across the early childhood setting If professional autonomy is the driver of reform and change then we must find ways to nurture strong educational leaders who can think outside the box Overall Nuttall and team succeed in arousing learning rich possibilities for reimagining early childhood leadership in theory and in practice and thereby making a magnificent contribution to the scholarship of educational leadership Professor Manjula Waniganayake PhD Macquarie University Sydney Australia
