Segregation and Mistrust Eric M. Uslaner, 2012-09-17 Generalized trust faith in people you do not know who are likely to be different from you is a value that leads to many positive outcomes for a society Yet some scholars now argue that trust is lower when we are surrounded by people who are different from us Eric M Uslaner challenges this view and argues that residential segregation rather than diversity leads to lower levels of trust Integrated and diverse neighborhoods will lead to higher levels of trust but only if people also have diverse social networks Professor Uslaner examines the theoretical and measurement differences between segregation and diversity and summarizes results on how integrated neighborhoods with diverse social networks increase trust in the United States Canada the United Kingdom Sweden and Australia He also shows how different immigration and integration policies toward minorities shape both social ties and trust
