Divide And Fall Bosnia In The Annals Of Partition:

Divide and Fall? Radha Kumar, 1999-06-17 Divide and Fall the first full length analysis of the post Cold War revival of ethnic partition is a major intervention in the study of international relations Radha Kumar examines the carve up of Bosnia comparing it to earlier divisions of Ireland India Palestine and Cyprus

A History of the War in the Balkans R. Craig Nation, 2018-04-04 The Balkans is often described as a grim backwater a no man s land of world politics in the words of a post World War II study foredoomed to conflict springing from heterogeneity The stereotype is false but it has been distressingly influential in shaping perceptions of the Balkan conflict and its origin By encouraging pessimism about prospects for recovery it may also make it more difficult to sustain commitments to post conflict peace building This book seeks to refute simplistic ancient hatreds explanations by looking carefully at the sources and dynamics of the Balkan conflict in all of its dimensions

Partition and Peace in Civil Wars Carter R. Johnson, 2021-08-09 This book examines whether partition is an effective means to resolve ethnic and sectarian civil wars It argues that partition is unlikely to end ongoing ethnosectarian civil wars but it can increase the likelihood of preventing civil war recurrence as long as the partition separates civilians and militaries The book presents in depth case studies of Georgia Abkhazia and Moldova Transnistria in addition to cross national comparisons of all ethnosectarian civil wars between 1945 and 2004 This analysis demonstrates when partitioning a country can help transform an identity based civil war into a lasting peace Highlighting practical and moral challenges of separating ethnosectarian groups the book contends that complete partitions cannot be easily implemented by the international community and this limits their applicability It also demonstrates that ethnosectarian civil wars are driven less by inter group antagonisms and more by state breakdown meaning displaced minorities can reintegrate peacefully after partition as long as a minimal level of state building has been completed The book ends by examining whether partition would be useful for five contemporary conflicts Iraq Ukraine Donbass Afghanistan Sudan South Sudan and Serbia Kosovo This book will be of much interest to students of civil wars ethnic conflict peace and conflict studies and international relations

Compromising Palestine Aharon Klieman, 2000-02-05 Choice

The Prevention and Intervention of Genocide Samuel Totten, 2008-03-31 This volume is comprised of over 2 300 annotations on a wide array of issues and topics germane to the subject of preventing the atrocities of genocide and managing these conflicts when they do arise Samuel Totten brings together in one comprehensive collection the research and findings in various fields such as political science sociology history and psychology to enable specialists in genocide studies peace studies and conflict resolution to benefit from the insights of a diverse range of scholars and foster an understanding of how the various components of genocide studies connect Among the topics included are key conventions international treaties and covenants genocide early warning signals and forecasting risk data bases sanctions peacekeeping missions conflict resolution the International Criminal Court realpolitik vis vis the issue of genocide prevention and intervention key non governmental agencies key governmental and UN bodies working on these important issues In addition to the annotations Totten frames the bibliography with a major essay that introduces the reader to the subject of prevention and intervention of genocide raising a host of critical issues regarding the strengths weaknesses and limitations of various approaches germane to issues of managing these conflicts

Fool's Errands Gary Dempsey, Roger W. Fontaine, 2001 This book cuts through the excuses and uncovers the causes of Washington's pattern of failure

Turning-points in post-war Bosnia Christophe Solioz, 2005 The tenth anniversary of the Dayton Peace Agreement in December 2005 provides a unique occasion to review its achievements and shortcomings as well as future challenges to be faced both by the international community and Bosnia and Herzegovina itself The country has received huge amounts of attention and inquiry this book outlines some basic trends focusing on three essential issues democratisation and transitions processes country ownership and potential turning points These issues are addressed in a non dogmatic way in the spirit of constructive criticism The conclusion is that both the EU and Bosnia must take their opportunities and responsibilities now

Divided Countries, Separated Cities Ghislaine Glasson Deschaumes, Rada Iveković, 2003 This interesting collection of writings presents a sensitive complex and wide ranging analysis of the mechanism of nation building in partition both post colonial and in the context of post 1989 transitions in Eastern Europe and the Balkans The partition of the Indian subcontinent acts as a paradigm case and stands out as something of a reference point in the present volume The texts critique the ways in which narratives of nationhood naturalize and essentialize difference and hierarchy and how received histories erase memories of possible alternative histories in situations of shared experiences and a shared past The particular histories of nationalism and partition are different in the countries involved but commonalities in the narrative structures state and nation building strategies patriarchal patterns of control and mechanisms of inclusion and exclusion are striking This particularly so with respect to the ways in which exclusive national identities are constituted through gendered representations of the nation and its members A particularly critical and far reaching analysis of the relationships of power involved in the state and nation building projects the critique is at the same time a dismantling of these power relations The processes of transformation in different countries and at different times however are not identical and move at different rates of speed and in different historical contexts This is one reason why they are not transparent to each other and why their interpretations may clash with one another The events following 1989 and those at the end of the colonial era exemplify these conflicts The authors of this volume confront these clashes compare these situations and see the entanglement of these processes not as deadlock but rather as a challenge for theory and practice

From the Adriatic to the Caucasus Stefano Bianchini, Susan L.

Woodward, 2003 Boundaries of Cooperation: Cyprus, de Facto Partition, and the Delimitation of Transboundary Resource Management Peter Hocknell, 2001-02-14 As a developing international norm the process of managing transboundary resources represents a significant opportunity for the development of peaceful cooperation through equitable and sustainable means and yet paradoxically this management process has the power also to create new tensions and reinforce pre existing divisions amongst interested parties This book explores the manifestations of this contradiction in the de facto partitioned state of Cyprus How has transboundary resource management operated across Cyprus's de facto boundary Why have problem solving mechanisms formed to deal with some transboundary resources failed to achieve success in connection with others Has it been possible to de link resource conflict issues from the protracted political conflict so that the former could be resolved without reference to the latter This book provides the most comprehensive demonstration yet that post partition Cyprus has exhibited a number of islands of cooperation over transboundary resource management and that under certain politico geographical conditions the Cyprus conflict has not been unchanging and intractable Of equal importance however it identifies an increasingly diverse and complex form of transboundary relations that have coexisted with and have been directly related to a central cleavage over the political economy of recognition Cooperation has become both for the Greek Cypriot and the Turkish Cypriot communities a matter of judging its importance in terms of potential gains losses It is demonstrated that as with a majority of partitioned states transboundary resource management in Cyprus is patently concerned with configurations of power transboundary resource needs the role of interests and ideas and the functions of the partition boundary itself Set within this framework transboundary resources in Cyprus appear increasingly prevalent in the island s affairs and represent a potentially critical focus both for future cooperation and conflict While this book does not blindly offer a prescription for the resolution of this dilemma it seeks to enhance what has been a surprisingly circumscribed understanding not only of cooperation within and across the boundaries of Cyprus but also of the limits to that cooperation
