Cuno Brullmann:

Cuno Brullmann Cuno Brullmann, Ulrich Pfammatter, 1995 Utopia real Cuno Brullmann, Lars Oberwinter, 2008 The Making of Beaubourg Nathan Silver, 1997-02-24 This is the story of how France's famed cultural icon one of the most controversial and supremely public buildings of the century was designed and built Nathan Silver's detailed account of the Centre Pompidou still called Beaubourg by its designers and by Parisians takes the form of a fascinating and insightful building biography Not just a book about a building but about the making of a building this fresh heterodox means of inquiry is a holistic reading of the intricate process of creating architecture in contemporary society that brings to light its human story encompassing its stylistic historical technical and social aspects Beaubourg Silver reveals was unlike anything that had ever been built A realization of ideals and aspirations of its architectural generation a rethinking of fundamental precepts of design and construction it took nothing for granted and it has since become one of the most popular tourist attractions in Europe flaunting new principles that other architects have to come to terms with Paul Virilio John Armitage, 2000-05-24 Paul Virilio is one of the most significant and stimulating French cultural theorists writing today Increasingly hailed as the archaeologist of the future Virilio is noted for his proclamation that the logic of ever increasing acceleration lies at the heart of the organization and transformation of the contemporary world The first book to afford a properly critical evaluation of Virilio's cultural theory it includes an interview with Virilio a recently translated example of his work and a select bibliography of his writings The commissioned contributions by leading cultural and social theorists examine Virilio's work from his early speculations on military and urban space to his current writings on dromology politics new communications technologies disappearance and the fallout from the information bomb An Engineer Imagines Peter Rice, 2024-03-14 The long awaited reissue of the autobiography of Peter Rice one of the main structural engineers behind the Sydney Opera House the Pompidou Centre the Menil Collection and Lloyd's of London I am an engineer Often people will call me an architect engineer as a compliment It is meant to signify a quality of engineer who is more imaginative and design orientated than a normal engineer To call an engineer an architect engineer because he comes up with unusual or original solutions is essentially to misunderstand the role of the engineer in society An Engineer Imagines is a rare look into the professional creativity and philosophy of Peter Rice who was widely acclaimed as the greatest structural engineer of his generation He was a man who in Renzo Piano's words could design structures like a pianist who can play with his eyes shut Working with many of the world's greatest architects on buildings that became icons of contemporary architecture he brought a uniquely poetic feeling to his work Joining Ove Arup Partners in 1956 Rice had heard that it was a place where an oddball could fit in Taking on Arup's theory of Total Design to heart Rice writes about the role of the engineer in society and how he himself applied his creativity to various projects He admits he became an engineer by accident tentatively feeling his way through a career without a natural instinct But as he takes you through each of his projects one by one you can trace his development from graduate to veteran Written in clear and poetic language Rice s autobiography is perfect for those who want to better understand postwar buildings our concrete environment or are budding students of engineering and architecture
